The background is a mottled, light brown/tan color, heavily speckled with small, dark, irregular particles and fibers. Faint, vertical, reddish-brown lines or markings are visible, running parallel to the wavy band. The overall appearance is aged and worn.

Tradition

THE REBEL STATUE, WAS BORN FROM AN IDEA AND CREATED BY THE HANDS OF AN ARTIST. EVEN FROM THE BEGINNING, WHEN THE STATUE FIRST STARTED TO TAKE THE SHAPE OF A STICK FIGURE, AN EAGERNESS TO BUILD A TRADITION AROUND IT GREW.

Imagine this: You're standing in the Savanna quad, and you happen to glance towards the center. You look up . . . and there's Johnny Surfer? Yes, that's what might have happened had we been the Savanna Surfers, which was the second choice in a survey taken by students in 1963.

But standing proud in our quad is our own Johnny Rebel, mascot of our Savanna Rebels. Just how did Johnny Rebel come to be?

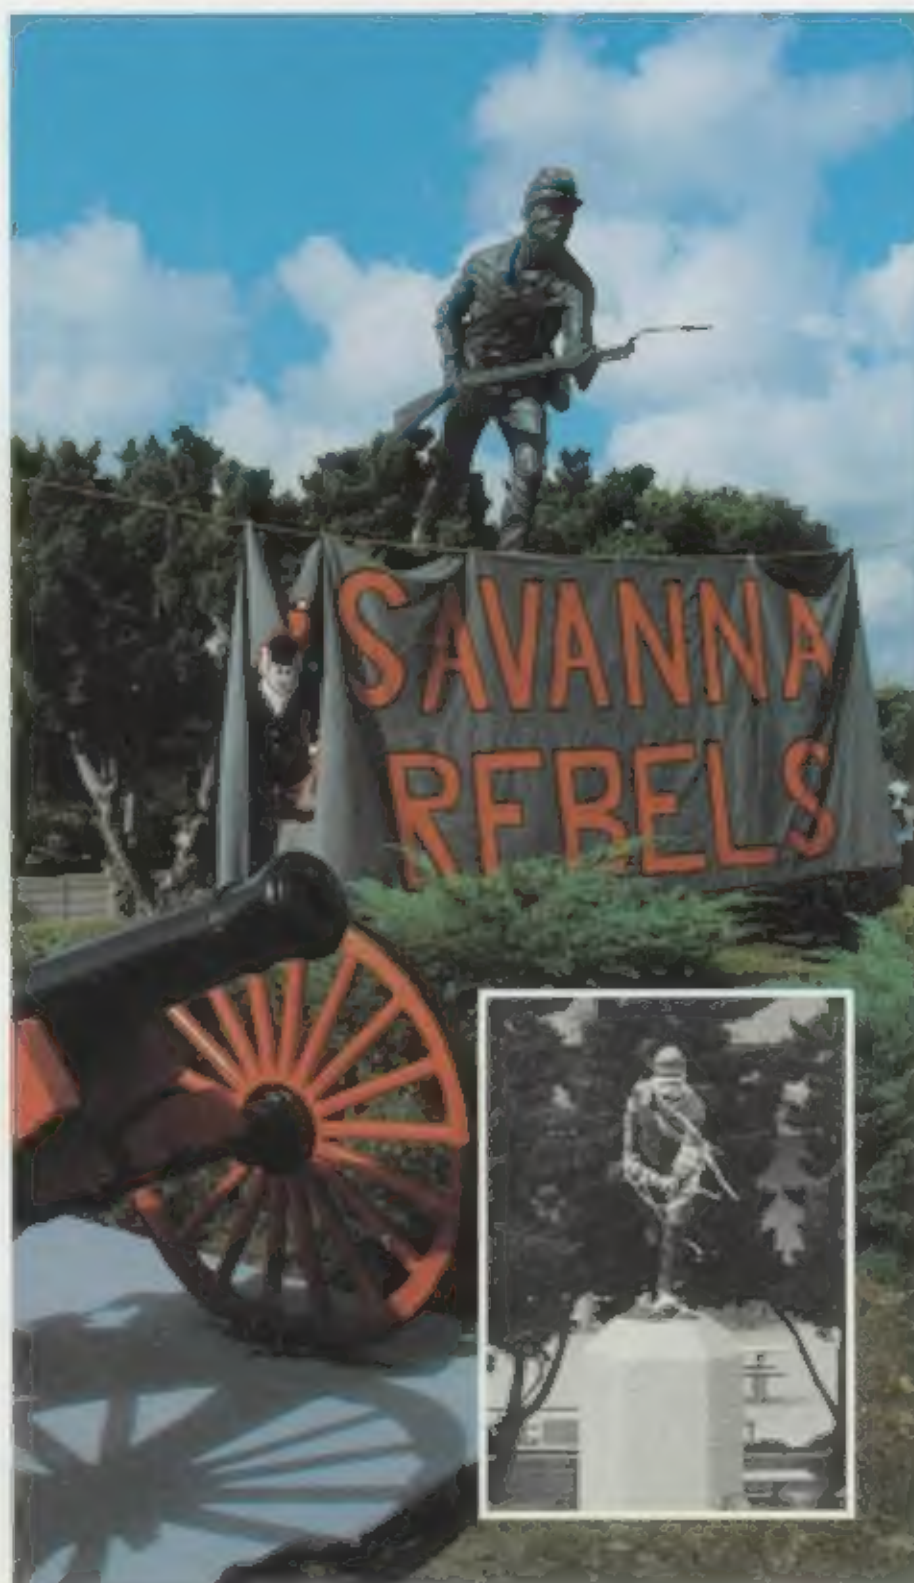

In 1964 Johnny Rebel started out as a simple stick figure.

In 1963, Savanna students and staff raised enough money to have a statue erected on the campus. A freelance artist from Disneyland, Howard Ball, was hired to build the statue. He followed designs from Josten's Jewelers' drawings.

When the statue was finally put into place, it was finished in bronze by a man who did bronzing at Knott's Berry Farm. This process was stopped due to cost in 1974. Since then, good ol' Johnny Reb has been a numerous array of colors including red and blue. The poor guy has also been toilet-papered and wound up with streamers by enthusiastic Rebels during special events.

So the next time you're walking through the quad, give Johnny a glance. And remember . . . he could have been a surfer!

On October 8, 1986 at 9:55 a.m. the time capsule was finally unearthed after two days of digging. Student Tony Divito found it buried next to the records office.

When the time capsule was found, they discovered a message written on it. It read: "They'll dig me up fifteen years from now (1986). Try and be here." Inside the capsule were essays written by students that attended Savanna in 1971. The essays were based on what students thought Savanna would be like fifteen years into the future.

On November 21, 1986, the new time capsule was buried in front of the records office during lunch. Then, it was moved to a secret place later on to prevent any theft of its valuables. Inside the silver trash can, there is a ceramic pot which was filled with essays on what Savanna will be like fifteen years from now in the year 2001. In addition, a Savanna yearbook, newspapers, and history are included.

There were many different ways to recognize Rebel Pride. These balloons were a popular sight at the end of Homecoming Week.

WE'LL NEVER FORGET THOSE GOOD TIMES THAT WE HAD WITH OUR FRIENDS AND TEACHERS, AND THE REBEL PRIDE THAT EXISTED IN EACH OF US. BUT AS WE LEAVE SAVANNA, WE'LL ALWAYS REMEMBER THE HAPPINESS BECAUSE THE CELEBRATION CONTINUES.

Celebration

1987 was the year for cheering and excitement with everyone taking part. One of those people getting involved was Char-maine Edwards.

What do you think of when you hear the word "Celebration?"
Of course, happiness and happiness is what Song and Cheer's Monique Beatty, Lorna Gamboa, Lisa Marchant, Michelle Foglesong, Kim Gallagher, Christie Hirota, Stacey Grennie, Pam Whittaker, and Lan Le expressed throughout the year.

Close friendships were found everywhere at Savannah. One of those friendships was shared by Stacy Bates and Sherri Thomas.

For many returning students, it's nice to see a smiling and familiar face welcoming us back to Savanna. Bob Parish greets both new comers and old timers alike.

THE MERE IDEA OF GOING BACK TO SCHOOL DIDN'T APPEAL TO MANY STUDENTS AFTER A FABULOUS SUMMER. BUT WITH A POSITIVE ATTITUDE IT WAS THE BEST YEAR EVER!

Back to School

At a game against Troy High School, Lisa Moreno and Tina Fernandez's bright smile tells the world that happiness comes from friendship. The glory comes after the hard work. Above right, Coach Coleman discusses the details of the next upcoming game with Matt Smith.

Every year students get reacquainted with old friends and find time to make new ones. One of these new friendships is shared by Diane Gunnerson and Ron Waterhouse.

Coming Home

Homecoming has always been a celebrated time. The tradition of Savanna alumni returning to see the crowning of the new king and queen during the biggest game of the season, is an anticipated event. With dedication and faith, the students plan the homecoming week activities, mark their ballots for the court, and raise their spirit and pride for the homecoming game. Since Savanna's opening these traditions have been upheld. But through the years what changes have occurred?

Compare the differences between the first Homecoming Queen Karen Galka (1962) and the 1974 court Alise Hill and Mike Trump. Styles have altered greatly. Hair, clothes, and even the way teenagers view things have changed. The free spirit of the seventies is in direct contrast with the glamor of the sixties.

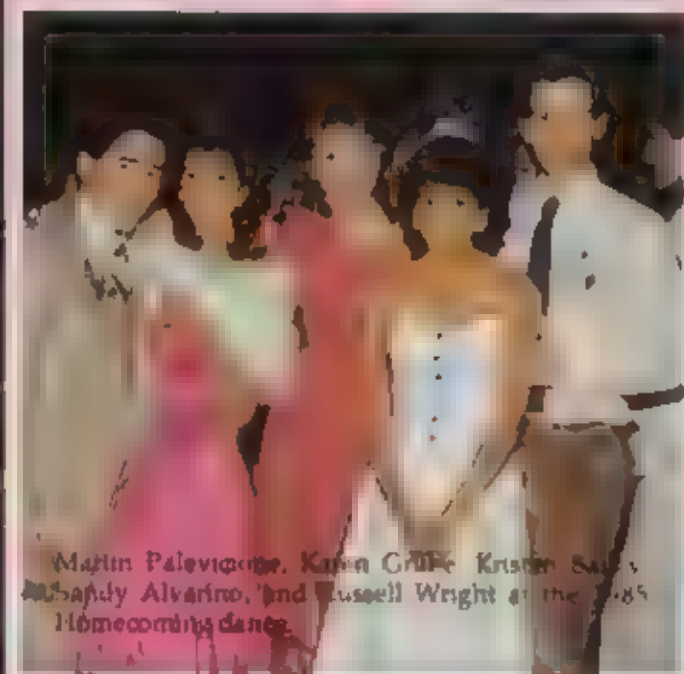

By Kim McAdam

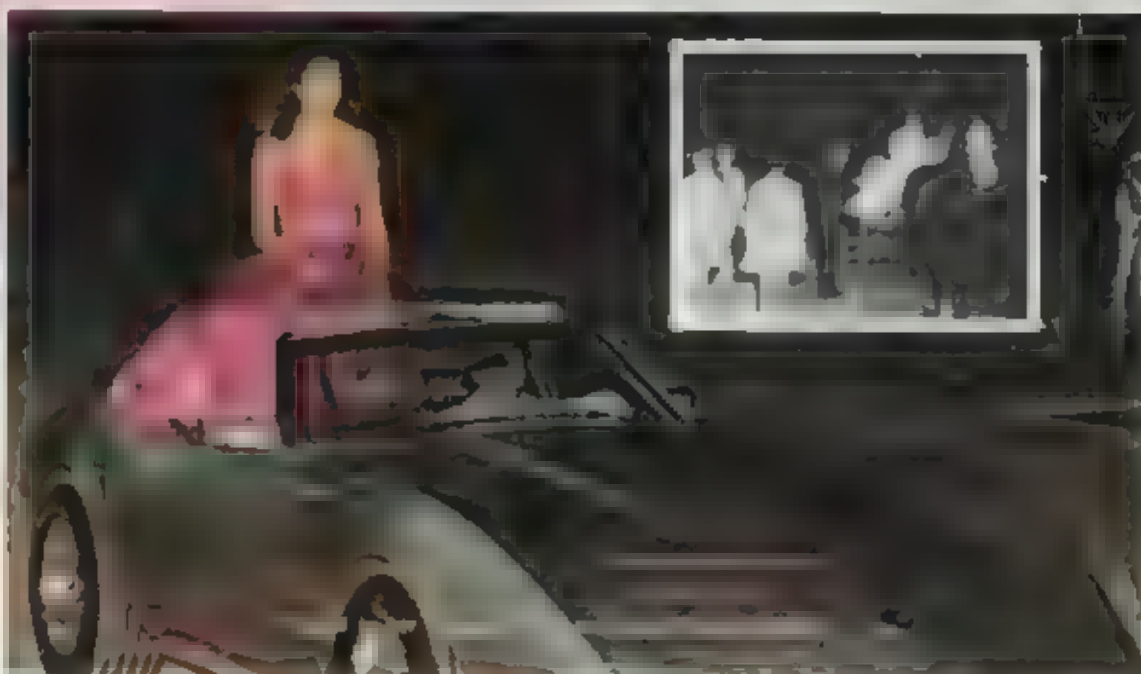

Over the years styles of dress have changed drastically. As the years progress students become much more unique. Styles vary more and more from person to person. It's now acceptable, to be different.

In 1962 the gym walls were filled with the boxed sounds of a small record player, but in 1985 the Rebel quad over-flowed with stereo music from the video DJ.

In 1985 attendant Karen Grube was chauffeured around the stadium in a T-top Corvette ... but back in 1962, Queen Karen Galka was paraded about in a horse drawn carriage!

Martin Palevich, Karen Grube, Kristen Salas, Sandy Alvarino, and Russell Wright at the 1985 Homecoming dance.

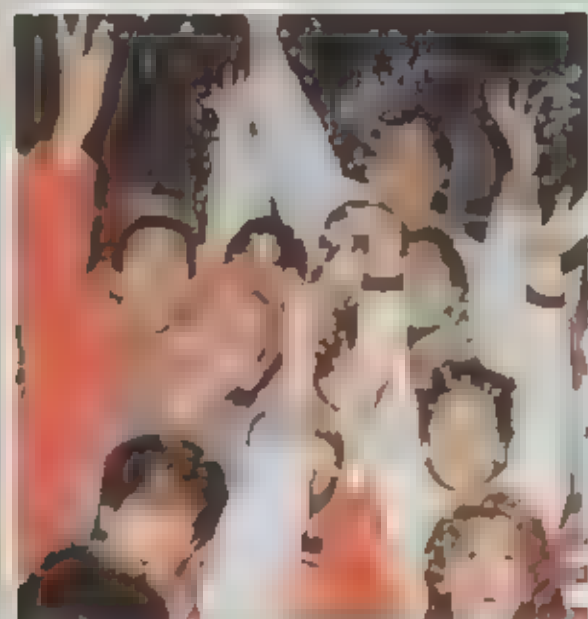

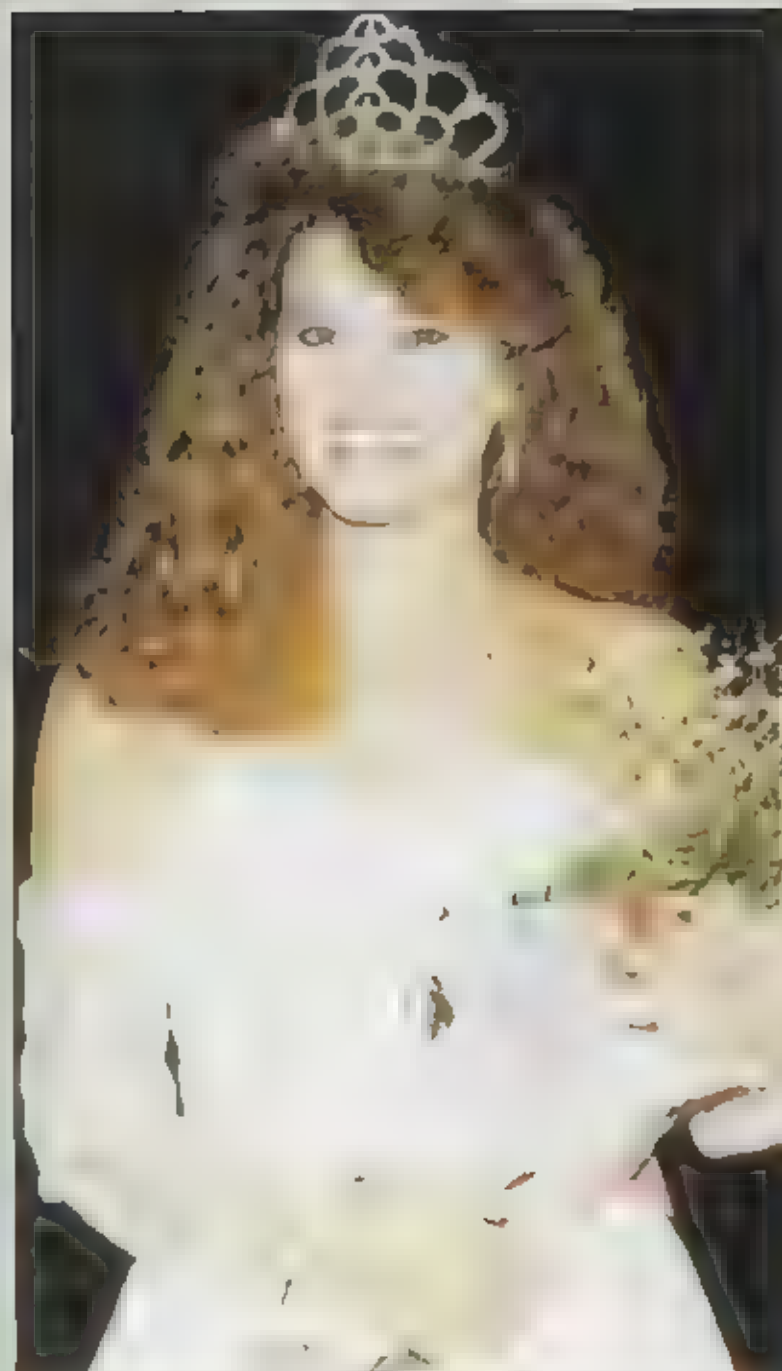

The crowning of 1969 Homecoming Queen Cathy Engstrom

Although Savanna's homecoming has endured numerous changes, one thing remains the same, the symbolism of the "crown." The glory and sovereignty which accompanies such a position as "Homecoming King and Queen" is an unforgettable experience, a chance of a lifetime. From 1962-1987, 25 years of royalty the honor is forever great.

COMING HOME AFTER 25 YEARS

By Donna Barth

The grey and red-clad gridiron herds of Savanna, soundly defeated the Magnolia Sentinels at our 25th anniversary Homecoming game by a score of 17-7. Our Rebel spirit was at an energetic high, as Savanna students cheered on their football team to a very satisfying victory. Attending the game were Savanna High alumni from the past 25 years.

At half time Leila Ragos and Mike

Campbell were coronated as the Homecoming Queen and King and were driven around Glover Stadium in a yellow corvette, courtesy of The Orange County Corvette Club.

Performing at the Homecoming game were over forty former alumni band members, under the direction of Mitch Feller, music professor at California State Fullerton and former Rebel.

TONIGHT IS FOREVER

HOMECOMING 1986

By Richard W. Barnes

November 8, 1986; What does this night mean to you? Well, your night probably started by going to pick up your date. The second thing you did was get flash-blindness from mom and dad taking pictures. After waiting awhile for your eyes to clear, the two of you headed off to dinner. After your fine dining experience, you put on your dancing shoes and sped on down to the Homecoming Dance!

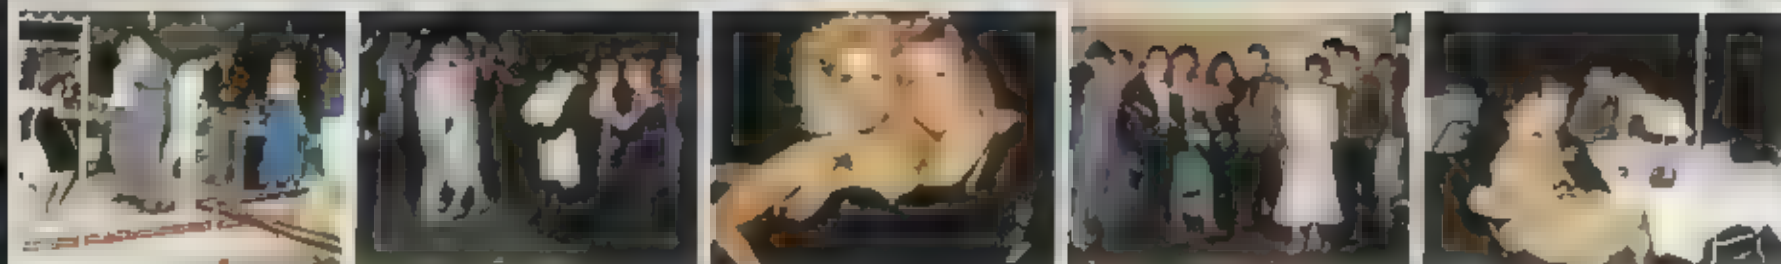

Naturally you take your place in line to get another dose of flash blindness for your semi-formal picture courtesy of Portrait Gallery.

After spending a wonderful time at one of the best dances of the year, you took your date home. Even though the night is over, it will stay with you forever as one of your special high school memories.

Freshman prince and princess, Manuel Flores and Monica Kelly. (C) 1986

After dancing your shoes off, you might have taken a look at the seniors' homecoming dance. The seniors' homecoming dance was held at the Senior House.

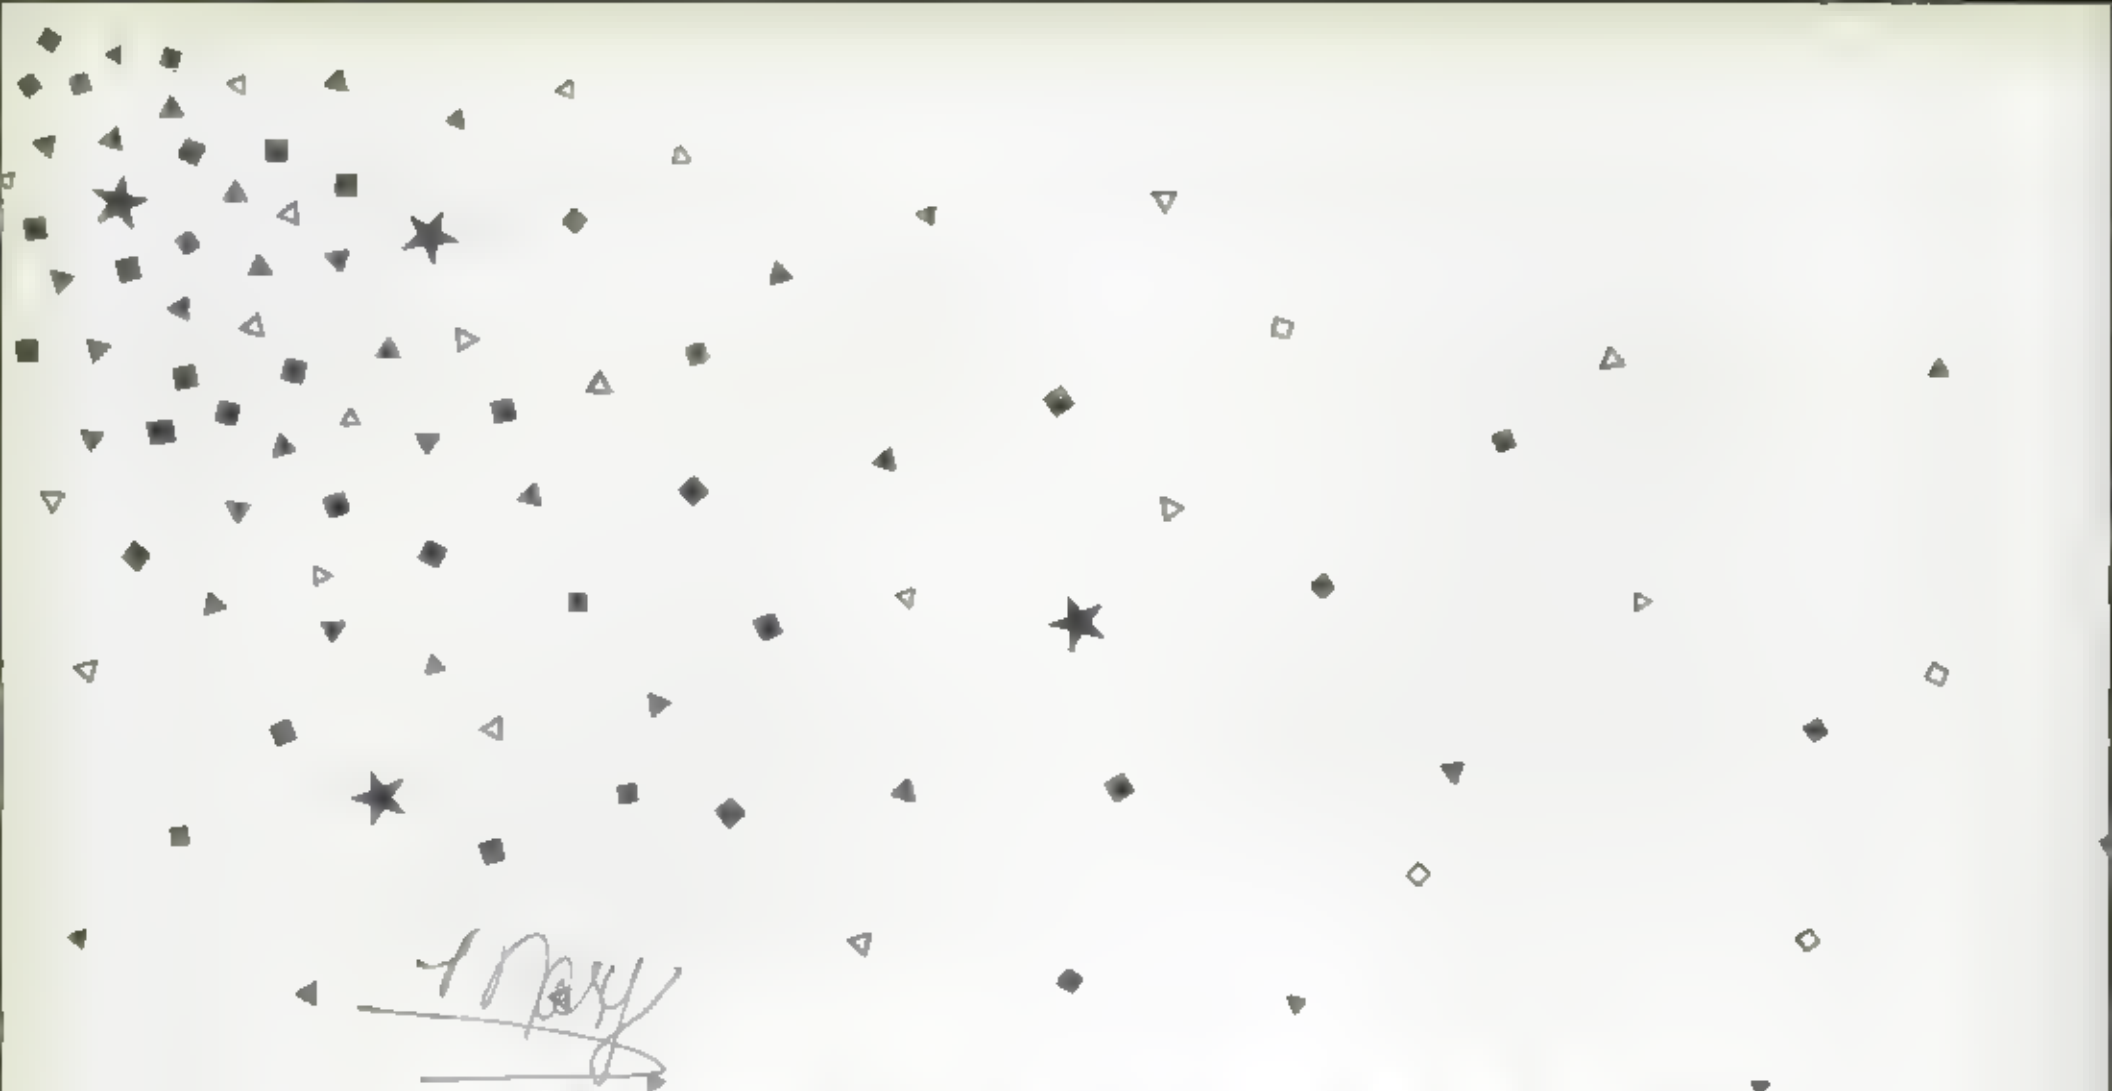

The Poor Man - 1991. Game awards to Tony Spada and Tommy Martin with cheerleaders and homecomingers for winning the dance contest.

Tonight is forever. Kellie Chaney and Eric Miller share a special moment together.

To some it may just have been another night, but for many it was a night to remember. They were dressed to impress, such as Tammy Martin, Regina Gonzalez, and Jennifer Greenwood. It was a night to remember.

UNDER THE BIG TOP

By Kim McAdam

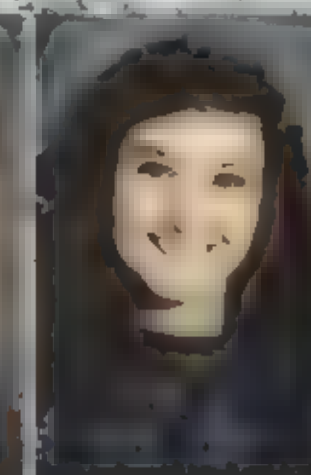

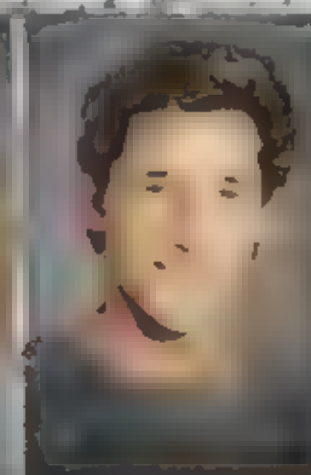

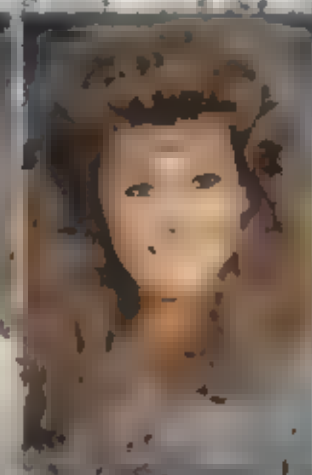

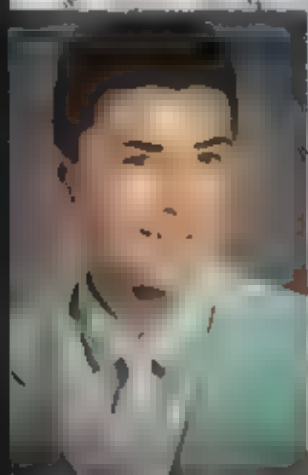

When you were young, did you ever dream of running away to the circus? Did you fantasize about the excitement, adventure, the fun of being in the spotlight under the big top performing for thousands of people all over the world? To most of us this was just a childhood fantasy, but for Richard Burnes, it was his life.

Richard grew up in the circus and had traveled around the world by the time he was three. His brother and father were clowns. Towards the end of their career (Richard was 7) his father was promoted to ringmaster.

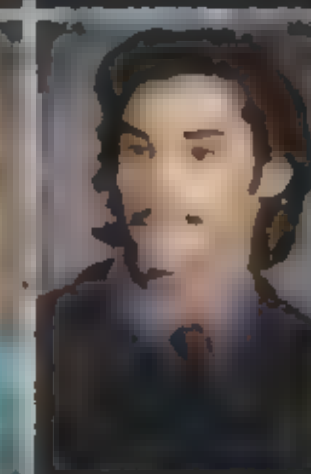

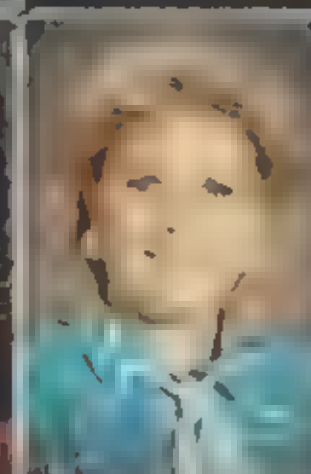

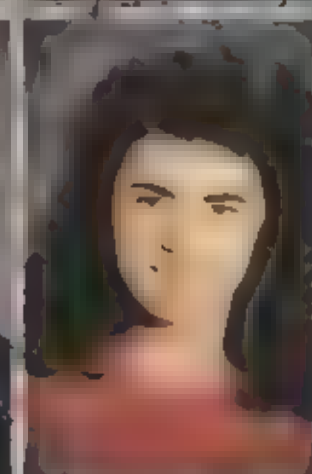

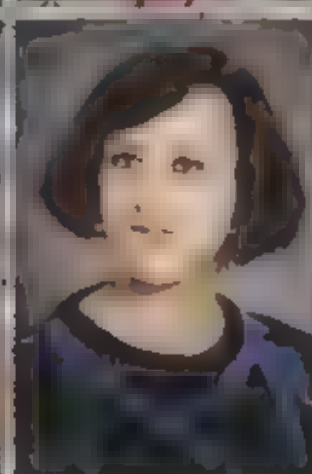

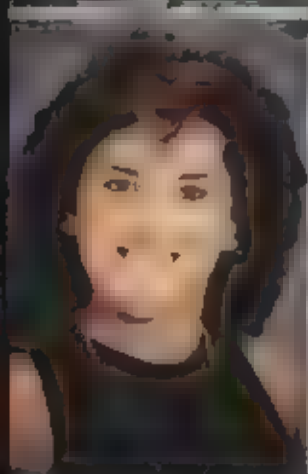

Richard's many adventures and unusual personality make it an experience for all those who meet him.

He collects skeletons (his favorite is life size one his mother made), has a multi-colored room, and can wiggle his ears (one at a time or both). But probably the most interesting aspect of Richard Burnes is his philosophy. "Everyone in this world is way over the edge, totally gone, insane and crazy. I am the only sane person."

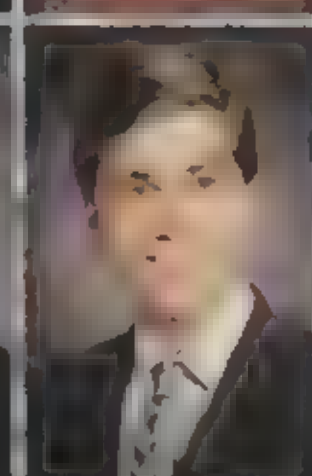

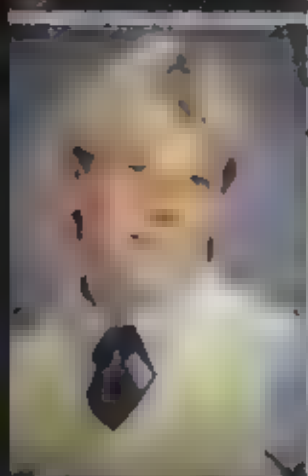

Getting overly-excited Richard Burnes shows his individuality ►

By Nikki Neville

Two people couldn't look more alike than twins Debbie and Diane Gunnerson. While Diane is the more outgoing, both have many friends. At the age of seventeen both are Seniors in high school and very involved in the athletic department. They both played volleyball for our varsity team.

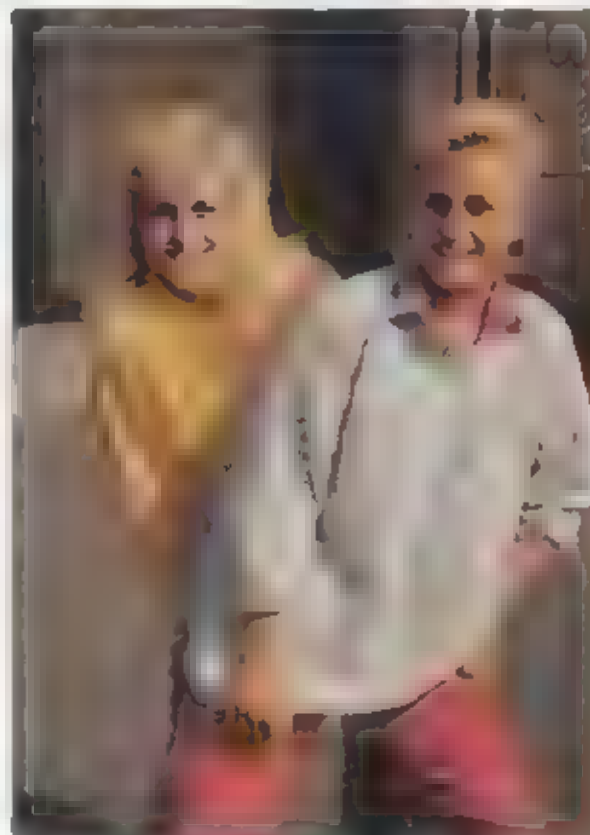

Both Debbie and Diane are independent people, each striving for separate goals, achievements and futures.

"Twins are very nice to have because there's always someone there to be with," says Diane. They share almost everything and are very close.

Some think of twins as two people who look alike, sound alike, and have similar personalities, but in reality they are very different beyond their looks. Each sibling is a special and unique individual.

► Smiling for the camera, Diane and Debbie Gunnerson show how they are unique.

A GEEK AT HEART

By Richard Burnes

Who's a geek at heart? Senior, Vicki Bruce, that's who, or at least that's what she calls herself! This slightly off-the-wall person was born in Illinois, where she lived for the first five years of her life, after which she moved to sunny California. Vicki and her family have lived here ever since.

Vicki has been on Savanna's Drill Team for all four years of high school, and was Head Drill Team Leader. Over the past four years she has performed with the Drill Team in the March of Dimes Telethon, numerous parades, many competitions, and the opening ceremonies of the 1984

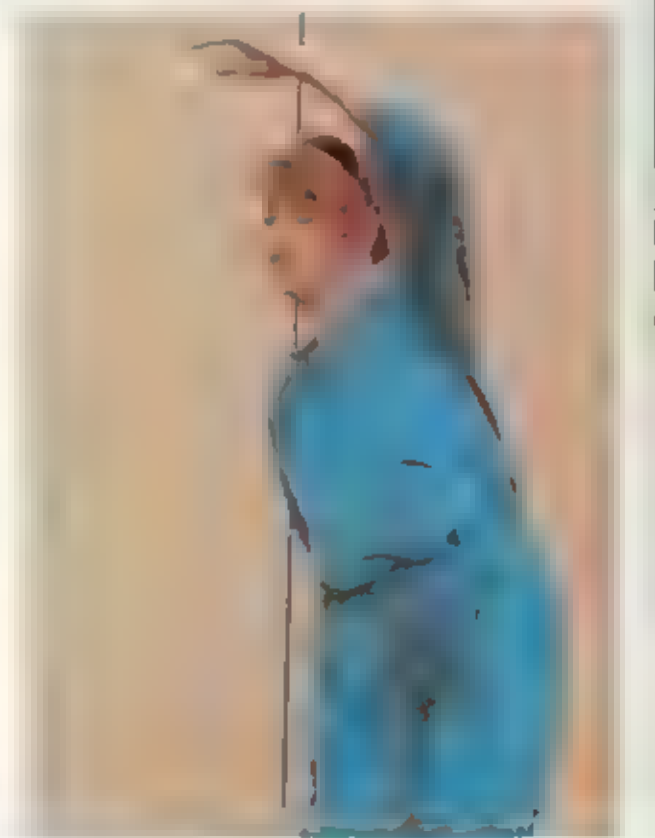

Olympic Games

Vicki would like to get into the performing arts in college, and maybe become an actress, but she doesn't want to starve and work as a waitress while she's waiting for her big break!

Vicki enjoys being herself and her wardrobe showed it. Her style ranged from conservative to way-out!

When asked what she would call an article about herself, she answered, A GEEK AT HEART!"

DANCER KEEPS BUSY

By Janine Schumann

Do you know how many hours a person on Drill Team has for a social life?

Not many. Jeanne Koffroth, better known as "Jellybean" is one of these people. She has danced tap, jazz, and some ballet since she was six years old.

In her sophomore year she tried-out for Drill Team and has been a member for three years. This year she was proud to announce her position as a leader.

Jeanne, as every member of the Drill Team, had to be at practice at seven in the morning and usually didn't leave to go home until at least five o'clock in the evening.

In her spare time she practiced and created new dance moves for Drill Team. On Wednesdays afternoons she taught a small group of girls from ages six to nine how to dance. Saturdays were kept busy with competitions.

After she graduates, Jeanne plans to go to Cypress College and major in occupational therapy, while continuing to dance. She hopes that one day she'll be a successful professional dance instructor.

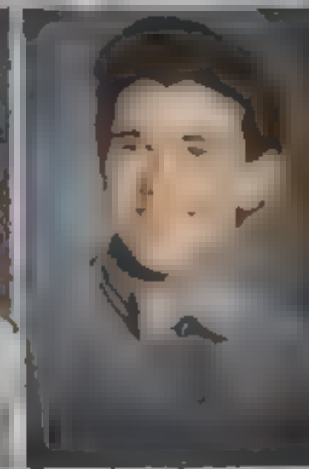

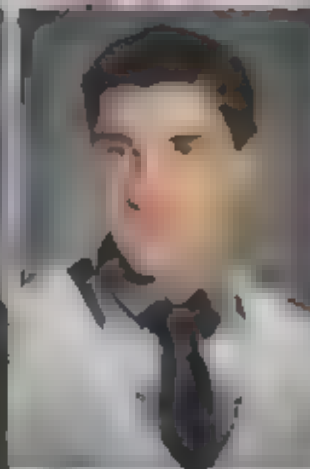

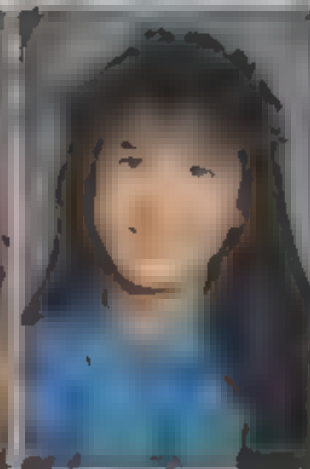

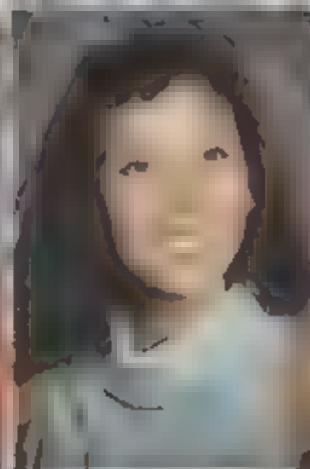

Showing her own dance style, Jeanne Koffroth makes up a new move for the Drill Team. ▶

A CLASS ACT

By Sherrie Thomas

Donny Spada is skating his way to the top. He is now competing in contests all over Southern California. He started skating when he was only eight years old. About three years ago Donny started skating seriously. In fact, his skateboard is his transportation. Donny loves to skateboard because it's such a wild sport. When he's not skating or surfing he is working at Chevron. He loves to listen to music and enjoys the Cure, Cult, and Run DMC. Donny is one of the originators from a popular dance group at Knott's. They call it jam ON Fish Productions

"COLLEGE IS COOL"

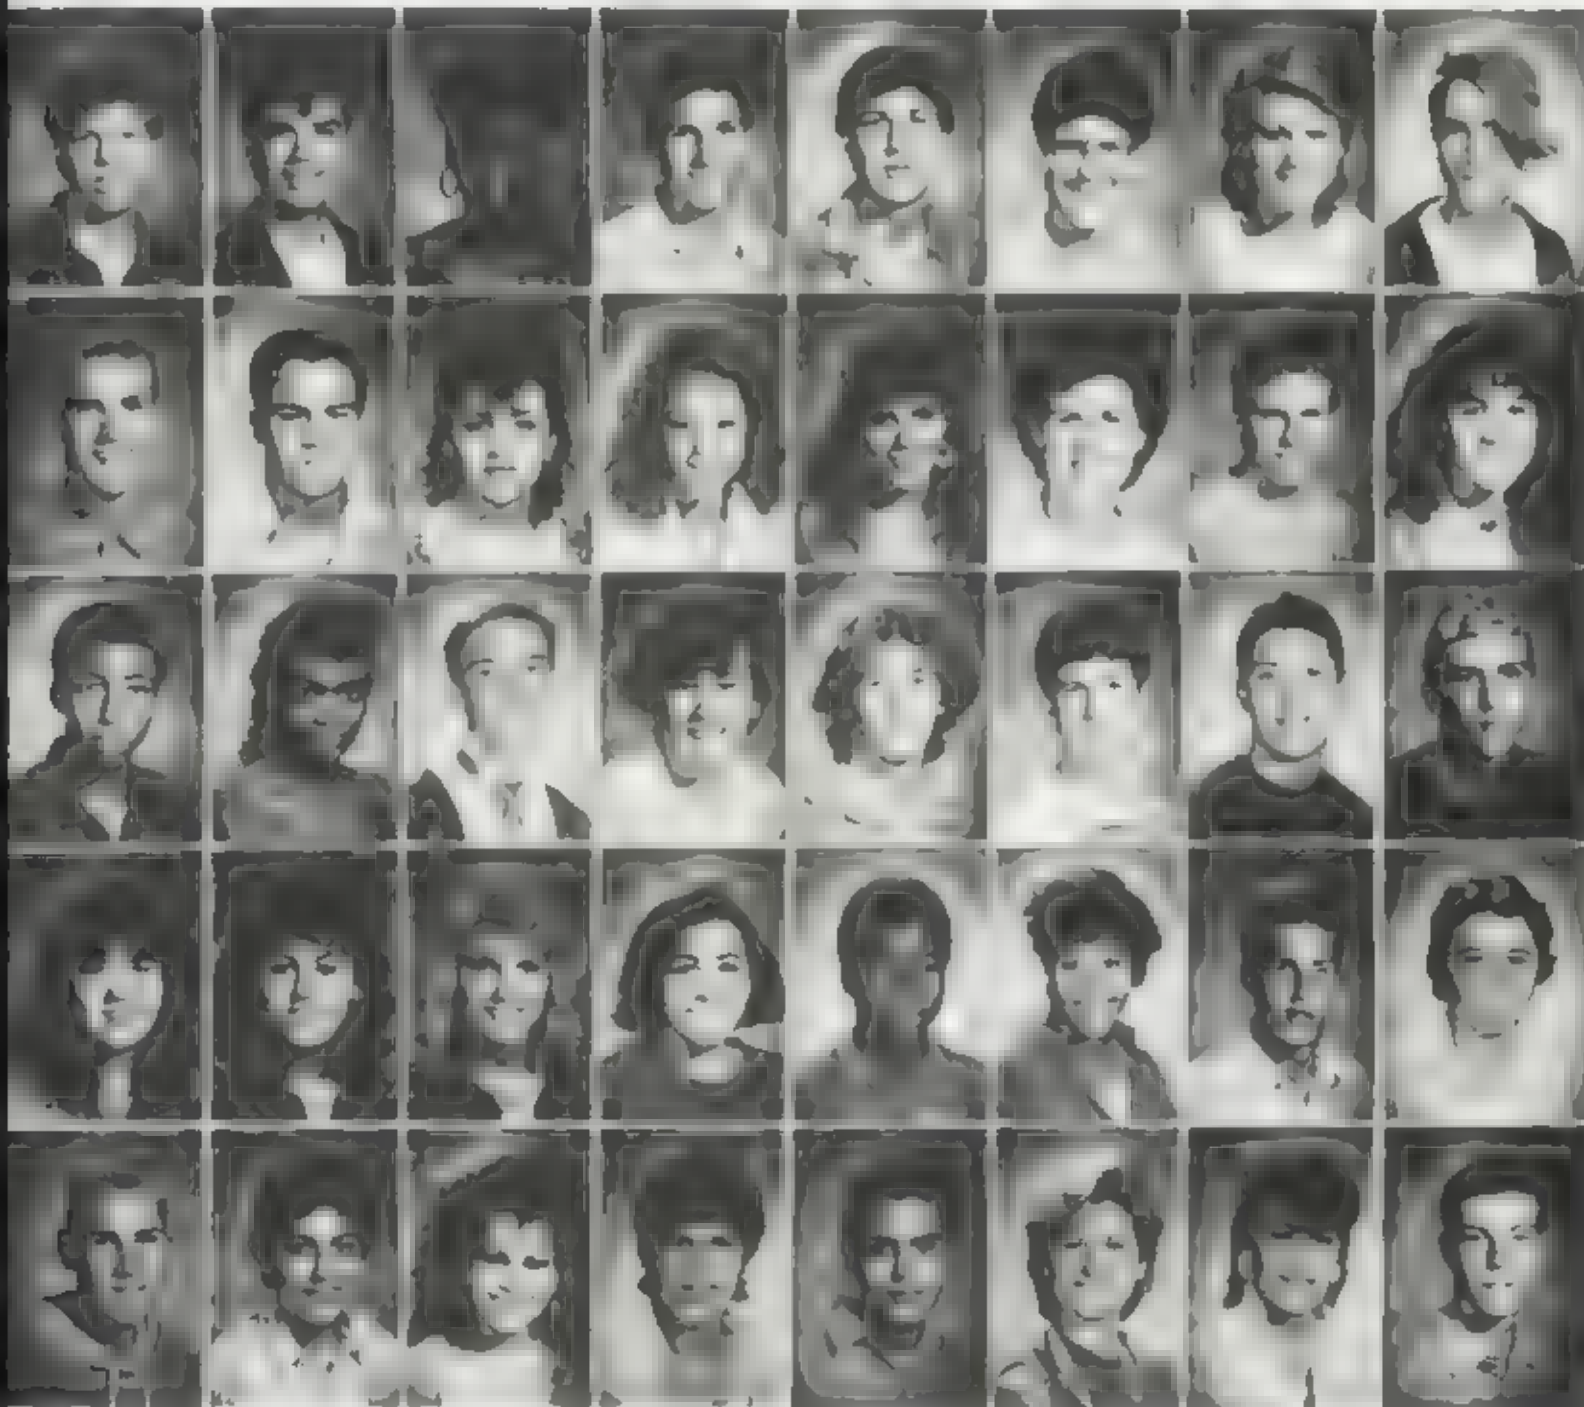

By Loanne Thai

Deanne Thai walked excitedly to her physics class at Cal Tech (California Institute of Technology) in Pasadena. Her face was flushed, but she strolled into the lecture hall with confidence and poise, lest someone in class discern her age. Her notes were placed in an orderly manner on her lap as the professor walked in.

For Deanne her first day in college was a highly educational experience. She remarked, "College was not all that I had expected. There was not much homework at all. We either just had a book to study and the teacher to listen to, or one of two big projects and some notetaking." The only thing that Deanne did not like was the fact that one's entire grade relied on one or two tests, namely the mid term and the final. "Blow any one of those, and you're history."

Deanne applied at Cal Tech through the ACE (Accelerated College Education) program at her former high school in Alhambra. She was one of about 50 qualified applicants accepted into the program. Deanne concluded the interview by saying, "What really surprised me was the relaxed atmosphere there. The teachers didn't breathe down your neck and instead seemed to leave everything up to the student. College is cool and I can't wait to go there full time."

Feeling relieved to have finished another week of school, Deanne Thai looks forward to the weekend.

SPIRITED ENOUGH

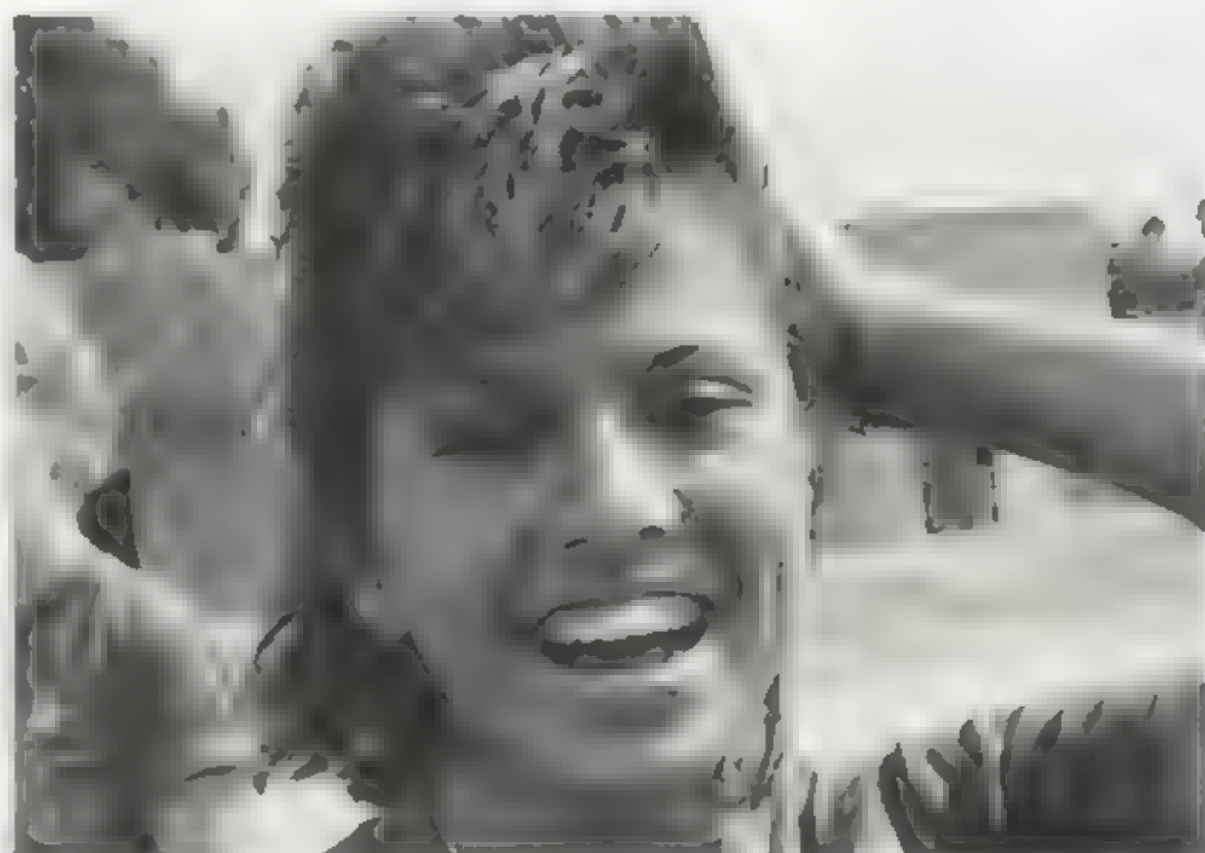

By Nancy Perez

"What do I do for fun?" Well I go out with friends and I dance, a lot says Tina Fernandez. Tina's plans are to finish school and then go on to college and to major in communications.

Tina is a songleader and a member of the Pep Club. She describes her best experience as being picked for song. Tina feels that song is exciting because it gives her an opportunity to do what she's best at and that is dancing. Also it gives her self-esteem. When asked what motivated her to get into song she replied, "It has been something I've wanted to do for a long time."

Tina has some pretty high hopes and it looks like she just might make it!

After practice Tina finds time for a picture. ►

THAT WINNING SMILE

By Nancy Perez

She's the typical boy crazy, everyday type of girl. She plays softball and is very interested in all other kinds of sports

She's your friend and mine
Laura Sager. Laura has played softball since her freshman year and plans to continue throughout her senior year. Laura plans to finish high school and then go to a four-year college or university such as UCLA and major in business. She also wants to play softball since she has played the game all her life. In fact, she would like to go to umpiring school

Laura has a full and exciting future ahead of her, let's hope she makes it in the real world

TWICE AS NICE

By Christine Lee

Have you ever wondered how life would be like if you had a mirror image of yourself? Well, this is true for twins, Bill and Donald Shiroishi.

Most of us usually assume that being a twin might be interesting and fun. After all, you could have a lot of fun by switching places with each other and confusing teachers. However, according to Bill and Donald, there are both some advantages and disadvantages of being a twin.

One of the main disadvantages is that there's competition in everything done together. This is particularly true in academics, since they have had same classes for past three years, including this year.

On the other hand, one of the advantages is that they inspire and encourage each other to do better.

Now, who is older between the two? By just 10 minutes, Donald was born before Bill on May 8, 1971. While growing up, they have committed themselves to doing their best in everything they attempted. This includes playing the piano and drawing.

At school, both Bill and Donald were active members of International Club, CSF, and Track. In addition, they attend Japanese School every Saturday in order to learn more about the language and customs of their ancestors.

As the old saying goes, "Two is better than one."

Can you tell who is who? Well, taking a quick break from their busy schedules, Bill and Donald pose for a picture.

SEEING DOUBLE

By Michelle Dobias

Have you ever walked down the halls and thought that you were seeing double? You're ok, it's Toni and Angie Spacone.

Angie and Toni Spacone were born on November 28, 1970 in Beacon, New York. When they were five years old, they left New York and moved to California and have lived here for the past ten years.

Besides being indetical in looks, they both have a lot in common. They both agree that they do not like being twins because people are always getting them mixed up. They are also very shy when it comes to meeting new people.

Their favorite pastime is playing tennis. To show their Rebel spirit, they joined the junior varsity team in their freshman year, and returned to play again this year as sophomores.

When asked how they liked Savanna they explained "We like the cute guys best of all."

After graduating from high school, they would both like to attend college and take some basic courses. As a career, Angie would like to become a manicurist, but Toni is still undecided.

PRICE OF SUCCESS

By Joan Chang

Upon first impression, one might think that this girl with glasses is a typical academically-oriented high school student who drowns herself in books. Well, this girl's interests go beyond that of your average bookworm. She is Joan En Chang

Joan En's love for ice skating was first sparked 4 years ago by the local skaters in the Mesa Verde Ice Skating rink. The summer Olympics of '84 fueled her motivation to learn and take ice skating lessons.

It may seem that ice skating is easy, but as we all know, no success just drops on one's lap without the hard work one is expected to put in. Likewise, Joan En had to work hard and exercise self-discipline. There is a price to pay for success. This may be giving up all of her free time to practice, getting up before the sun does, risking injury and frustration

Joan En explained, "There were a lot of times I had to get up at 4 o'clock to go ice skating. Then, there are injuries you suffer. I have bruises all over my legs and sometimes even my arms!"

Joan En's hard work, dedication and discipline produced a great number of medals and trophies which she has earned in skating competitions.

Besides ice skating, Joan En is an active participant in various clubs and band. Talented in the musical field, she plays the flute, sax and piano.

Joan En found out that achievement comes from discovering one's own talents and pursuing it with zeal

After winning a trophy at competition, Joan En proudly poses for pictures

LET'S GO SHOPPING

By Tracey Jenkins

Paulette Sakely is a freshman here at Savanna. Paulette enjoys playing girls' basketball in her spare time. She also enjoys going shopping. In fact you can find her in the local malls almost all the time, in her favorite clothing stores buying as much as possible.

If Paulette is not pursuing any of the above she's probably talking on the phone, or listening to the radio. Her favorite radio station is K R.O.Q.

On Thursday nights, Paulette enjoys eating pizza while watching the Cosby show. On the weekends Paulette sleeps in and enjoys going to the beach. She doesn't have a job, at least not yet, but that's because she's too young! She does want to get a job as soon as possible. That way she can support her favorite hobby, shopping!

When asked what other sports she likes, Paulette replied "I like almost all sports, especially the ones that the guys play."

Paulette loves to dance a lot, or at least she likes to go where people are dancing. She also enjoys "Videopolis." The movie that Paulette enjoyed the most this year is "Top Gun." Her favorite male actor is Tom Cruise. She just loves dark hair and blue eyes!

In her future years here at Savanna, Paulette would like to play softball and swim.

GIVE ME A "K"

By Richard Burnes

Katinka Barton is a freshman and she's proud to be one. In addition to being a cheerleader on the freshman squad, she is also involved in Pep Club and Girls' League. She says she likes high school with new friends and activities such as dances and football games.

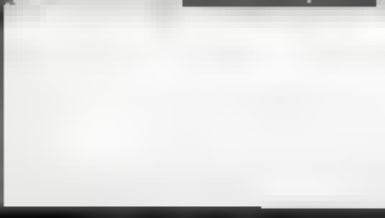

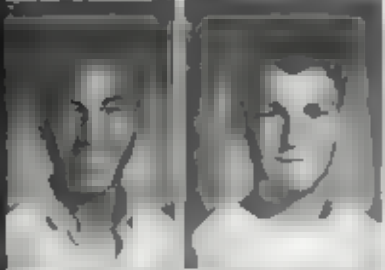

A favorite hobby of hers is collecting paraphernalia from airplanes. She has items from twenty airlines and over one hundred planes. Some items she has are time tables, frequent flyer, and escape route cards. She says she acquires these items on trips to the Bahamas every Christmas, to Maine to visit her grandparents and to Utah skiing. She says she loves traveling because of the chance to meet so many new people.

Katinka's philosophy of life is, "Just accept whatever happens, whether it's good or bad!" Her favorite saying is a good example of her philosophy, "For this is Wisdom: to love to live, to take what fate, or the gods may give; to ask no question, to make no prayer, to kiss the lips, and carress the hair; speed passions ebb as you greet it, flow, to have to hold, and in time let go."

DR. STEINLE MOVES UP

By Lynette Young

While Dr. Steinle presided as Savanna's Principal, he noticed a big shift in the school's attitude. He felt the spirit of Savanna High School had drastically improved. In fact, he sensed there were really positive feelings towards both students, teachers, and the athletic program as well. He was convinced that the athletic teams and extracurricular activities were leading the way for an overall positive school climate.

Apart from his career, Dr. Steinle enjoys spending time with his family, ranging in age from 9-14. He also coaches sports, hikes, camps, fishes, swims, and is very involved in church activities.

In November of 1986, Dr. Steinle was promoted to Assistant Superintendent of Educational Services. In his place, as principal, Savanna welcomed Dr. William Wong, who was the former Director of Special Programs at the district office.

Dr. Steinle's wish for the class of 1987 is "Strive for Success! Work hard! Carry with you personal effort and maintain a positive attitude."

SAVANNA'S MR. T.

By Lynette Young

Before coming to Savanna Mr. Taketa worked at Magnolia High School as an assistant principal. He's taught metal shop, drafting, and life science. He has been an assistant principal for 8 years.

Mr. Taketa says that the students are more mature and polite compared to last year. There aren't as many discipline problems as in previous years, and feels the student body is more spirited than ever before.

Away from school he likes to spend time with his family, and enjoys golfing and fishing.

His wish for the class of 1987 is a "Very productive life as adults."

CINCINNATI GIRL

By Lynette Young

Miss Jolley has three goals for this year. She would like to reduce the number of unexcused absences, see better grades from students, and finally, she would like to get to know more students in a personal, non-disciplinary way.

Miss Jolley was born in Cincinnati, Ohio, but flew out with her parents to live in California when she was only five weeks old. She grew up in Encino where she became involved with 4H club, Girl Scouts, and her high school speech/drama class.

Her wish for the class of 1987 ... "Enjoy the challenges and the changes that are coming and benefit from them. Come back on our 50th anniversary."

REBEL ANNOUNCER

By Michelle Dobias

Do you ever wonder whose faithful eye-opening voice that is that we hear every morning over the speaker? It's Savanna's own John Dahlem! What would we ever do without his outstanding weather reports and those mind-bending trivia questions?

Mr. Dahlem, our vice principal was born and raised in Los Angeles, California and is proud to say that he's a fourth generation Californian. As a kid he loved playing and all kinds of sports, was a member of the Boy Scouts. He graduated from Santa Monica High School and continued his education at the University of Oregon and UCLA. He served as a military company commander in the Vietnam War.

In 1969, he began his teaching career at Loara High School. During his time at Loara he taught many different subjects and was a wrestling coach. In 1984, he felt that it was time for a change and left Loara and became assistant principal at Lexington Junior High School for one year. Then in the fall of 1985 he came to the home of the fabulous Savanna Rebels and has been serving as our vice principal since 1985.

When asked how he liked being assistant principal at Savanna his response was "I love it", "It's a great school, with great kids and teachers."

As we all know Mr Dahlem has a love for ties and has collected a wide assortment of them over the years. Many of them were given to him by students and teachers as gifts. Some examples of his ties are polka dotted ones, flowered ones, striped ones, your traditional solid colored ones and even one with a surfer on it.

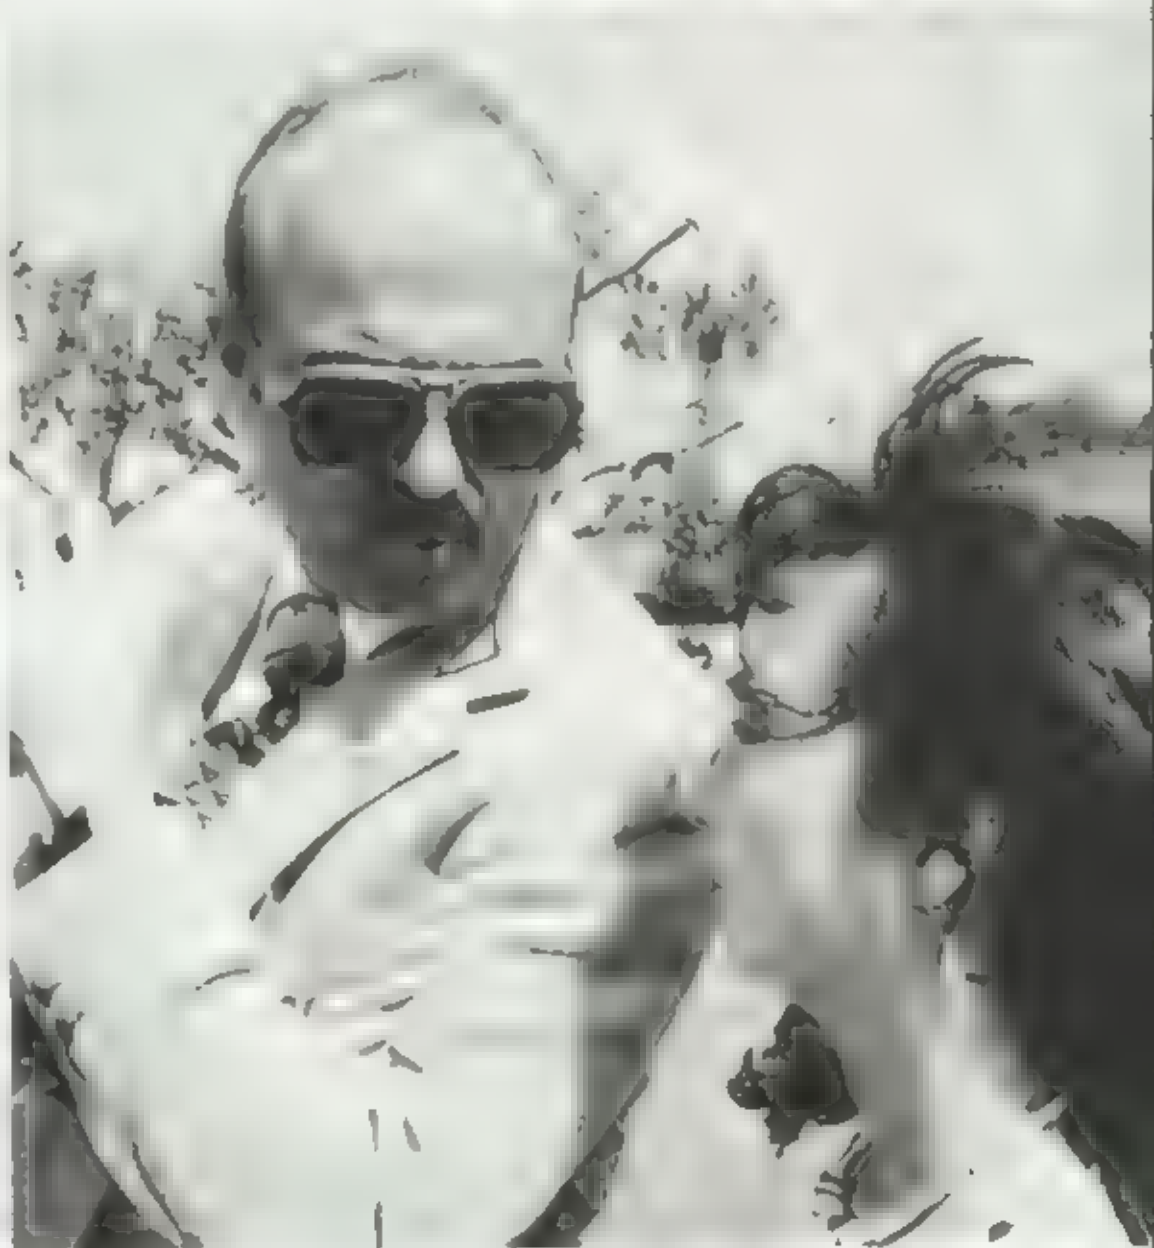

When asked for a memorable quote Mr. Dahlem responded "Enjoy life. Smile, be happy. Don't grow up too fast. P S Wear colorful ties."

PROBLEMS SOLVED

By Helen Cho

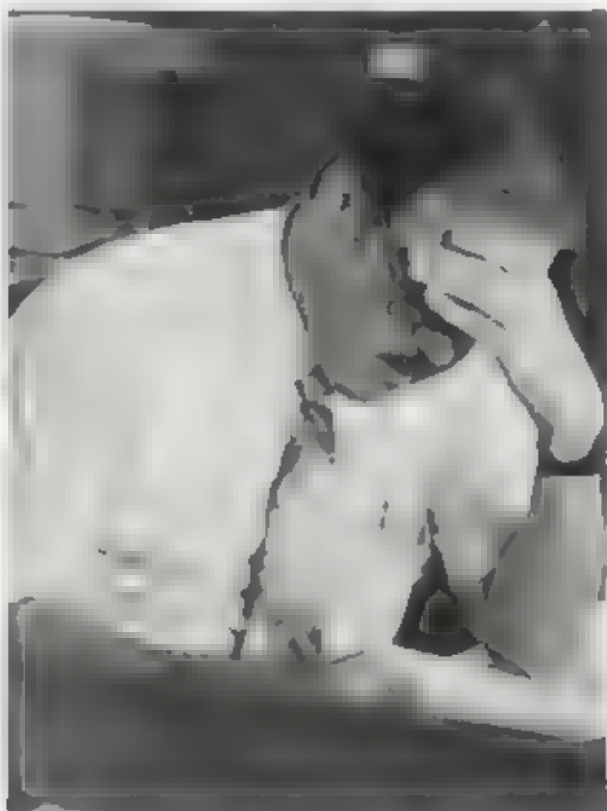

No matter what the problem, we know they are here to help us with open hearts to our problems. Through them, we are able to get our concerns into perspective. With their help we are able to improve academically because there are counselors like Mr. DeBry, Mr. Purcell, Mrs. Yawn, and Mr. Nielson, on our campus.

Mr. DeBry, one of our new counselors is in charge of ROP and ESL. Mr. Purcell is counseling chairperson. His responsibilities include the Gate program and college scholarships. He has helped many people with their college finances.

Mrs. Yawn handles the Comprehensive Guidance Program and has invested seven years at Savanna. Finally, Mr. Nielson administers the testing programs at Savanna. These include the DAT, and also CAP testing.

These four wonderful people we might take for granted, serve a very important function.

Thanks to Mr. Cross, who in 1963 planted Savanna's first grass, our campus has been flourishing ever since.

Mr. Cross, one of the "Fabulous Five," has been teaching at Savanna for 25 years. He is one of our business teachers, and also coaches the golf team.

RETURN OF THE WATER BUFFALO

By Jill Treganowan

Who was, and still is one of the most spirited men on campus? Mr. Parish is not just one of our football coaches, or our Activity Director, but an alumnus of the class of 1976.

Mr. Parish was the ASB President of his class, a dedicated member of the Rebel football team, where, as Mr. Parish put it, "we lived, breathed, and ate football all year," and a member of the Royal Loyal Order of the Water Buffalo.

The Water Buffalo provided music to add some excitement to their lunch period. This club put on many fund raisers through the year. Their goal was to earn enough money to buy a stereo for the school.

When asked about students today, Mr. Parish replied, "More people are academically conscious of what they need for college." In comparison to his graduating class, Mr. Parish said that students then were a little more dedicated to the task at hand due to less distractions.

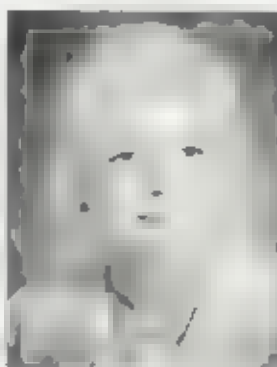

For all of these reasons and more Mr. Parish was and still is one of the most spirited men on campus.

Ready to defend his spring sprouts, Mr. Cross dares anyone to invade his territory

After making a bet with the Varsity football team that they wouldn't win their first game, Mr. Parish suffers the consequences.

MR. DEDICATION

By Joan Chang

Times have changed. When one thinks of dedication these days, it spells EUBANKS! Mr. Jesse Eubanks has been with Savanna in all of its twenty-five years, and he continues to be in top shape.

Perhaps you have always wondered about the real Mr. Eubanks under that cool, calm outlook, well wonder no more! Imagine a little child growing up in Texas, having four other sisters and brothers to play with, living with mom, who is a teacher, and dad, who is a minister. Like any normal happy child, he enjoyed sports such as football, basketball, track, swimming and hunting. His favorite indoor activity was reading. Hours upon hours were spent pouring over books.

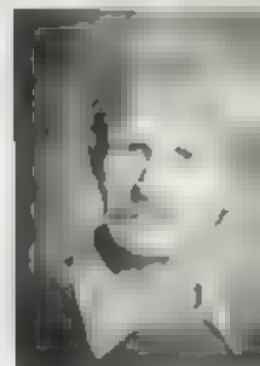

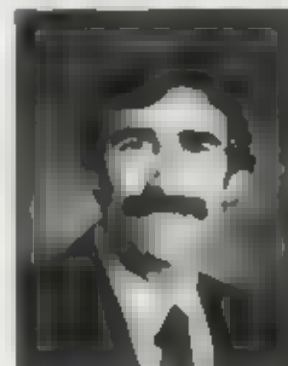

After attending Abilene Christian University, he went on to get Master's Degree in Cal State Long Beach and other universities. Contrary to popular belief, Mr. Eubanks wasn't the type of straight-A student one would expect.

When asked why he stayed at Savanna for 25 years, he explained, "I really enjoy working with young people and giving them all that I know, to educate them. I just love teaching. I would never be tired of it. The board would probably have to burn the school down to get me out of here!"

With that kind of attitude no wonder Mr. Eubanks is so young at heart and so dedicated!

AN ORIGINAL

By Gimo Chanphianamvong

One of the original, magnificent five surviving faculty members of twenty-five years of teaching at Savanna High School is Joe Hoffman.

He began his career in 1961, back when only sophomores, juniors and seniors roamed the Savanna campus. The dress codes were no skirts above the knees and shirt-tails had to be tucked in.

Today Mr. Hoffman teaches engineering, architectural, and math. Over the years, teaching has given him countless opportunities to meet and get to know people. He discovered that with kids he must have an open mind. He offered his personal experience, "You learn to deal with students in certain ways for many years and then one comes along and changes your old familiar ways. It gives you a new out look. You have to learn to adjust to it." The simple satisfaction that comes from helping students learn new skills has kept him going strong.

In the beginning, he never planned on being a teacher. His first teaching job was at Western High School for three years. Then he moved to Savanna and stayed for a quarter of a century!

When asked how would he describe himself, "I don't know," he replied with a modest smile. "I'm honest and a bit sentimental. Friends come to me and I'll listen. I'm a very good listener."

► Back in the 60's Mr. Farr was more than happy to work with students. Now he says, "They drive me bonkers."

FARR-OUT!

By Melinda Ramirez

He's jolly. He's fun. He's the one and only Mr. Farr.

Mr. Harold Farr started off his 25 years of teaching in the Anaheim High School District during the fall of 1960. "It was my first of teaching at Anaheim High. Savanna and Magnolia were being built and the principals and secretaries from Savanna and Magnolia were out interviewing prospective teachers," Mr. Farr continued. "I was asked to teach at Savanna in the beginning of 1961."

Well, can you imagine what math would be like if he hadn't accepted the position? We would have never seen those very unique decorations that only Mr. Farr has in his classroom

In some of his first years at Savanna, he was the class club advisor, but now dedicates himself to math and helping students.

Mr. Farr says he really likes all his fellow teachers and students. I have never lost my desire to teach at Savanna," he explained. When asked if he ever thought about leaving Savanna, Mr. Farr said, "Never! About 6 years ago the district was planning to close a school and the number one choice was Savanna. I had to think about leaving even though I didn't want to voluntarily, Mr. Farr stated.

Fortunately Savanna wasn't closed and we still have the same, sweet Mr. Farr!

OLDIE BUT GOODIE

By Eugene Roman

One of the most popular members of the Savanna's original faculty is Mr. Hugo. He's proud to be one of the "Magnificent Five" teachers who opened this campus back in 1961.

A man of many talents, he has taught German, Biology and currently teaches Science and Health.

Mr. Hugo remembers the students being less rowdy. He also recalls an organized effort to greet new students as they enrolled for classes.

As a student, it doesn't take long to get acquainted with Mr. Hugo. By the end of the semester, everyone in the class knows all about him, his family, and his friends. In fact, it's not unusual for him to stop in the middle of a lecture to crack a joke or to greet anyone who happens to be walking by his open door.

Caught in the act, Mr. Hugo helps himself to some punch at Back to School Night. Inset: Mr. Hugo in 1962

Who is the man that everyone sees riding in his little orange car during classes? It's Savanna High's own friendly neighbor and dayman, Doug Canon.

Doug has been in the Anaheim, Union High School District for three years and just one year at Savanna. He is a dedicated worker and deals with many students.

When asked if he enjoyed working with Savanna students, his reply was, "I love it. I have some hard working men with me this year and I appreciate their help."

There are always good and bad points of a job. The most interesting part of Doug's job is working with a student crew and trying to upgrade the appearance of the school. The hardest is keeping the campus clean.

According to Doug, "A lot more people behind the scenes try to clean the campus. I would like to see every student pitch in to make the campus neat. If we all work together we can get the job done."

A big thanks to Doug for his caring attitude towards Savanna students and our campus.

SAVANNA'S COUPLE

By Stacy Bates

Savanna's own resident couple, Leigh and Sandra Eddy, call the trailer complex north of the autoshop, home

Living on campus has proved to be a unique experience. With the help of their dog, Sheba, they have caught quite a few affectionate couples on the school grounds after locking up. In fact, it would be difficult to spend much time here without being greeted by Sheba, who doubles as watch dog and pet. Although her persistent barking might be mistaken for disagreeable disposition, she's actually quite gentle when alone with her owners

Getting to work each day doesn't pose a problem for Sandra since she works in the school kitchen, which is just a few steps away from her front door. When not helping to prepare Savanna's lunches, she enjoys needle point and traveling

Sandra's husband Leigh, pursues hobbies which include hunting, fishing, and target shooting

They find it enjoyable to not have to do yard work and there is a lot of peace and quiet, especially on the weekends

THE WOMAN BEHIND THE DESK

By Joan Chang

Have you ever wondered about people who work behind big desks? Just exactly what do they do? What are they like? Mrs. Florence Johnson may just satisfy your curiosity.

Born in Nelson County, Virginia, Mrs. Johnson was raised in a Southern Baptist atmosphere. She grew up with 3 sisters and 2 brothers. After graduating from Fleetwood High, Virginia, she went on to Lynchburg Business College. After college, she left home to become the secretary to a captain in the Dept. of Army in Washington, D.C., where she met her husband.

Mrs. Johnson has had 17 years of experience as a secretary before Savanna was blessed with her presence and help. Here, likewise, she puts forth her best effort. In fact, she was awarded an attendance award for 7 years of perfect attendance.

As a secretary, she does the payroll records for the whole staff, checks in the substitutes, types, files, operates the computers, takes shorthand, and does 10-key, if needed.

During her spare time, Mrs. Johnson enjoys sewing, gardening, and camping. She makes the most of her own clothes. She even has a garden in her backyard. Her husband owns a trailer in the desert where they go camping and hunting whenever time permits. She explained, "I go hunting with my husband, for quails, pheasants, ducks . . . doves, with a 12 gauge rifle shotgun. It's fun. I enjoy it."

Maybe not all people who work behind scenes are invisible. With characteristics like Mrs. Johnson's, we are privileged to have her.

Today's transportation of the youth differs from yesterday's. Cars and trucks used to be purchased for speed and practicality. Today many are bought for looks. The featured cars of 1963 were the Corvair, Valiant, Rambler, American, Comet, Avanti, Tempest and Imperial, while popular cars in 1987 were Porsche, Ferrari, Lamborghini, Limos, Jeeps, Karmans, Rabbits, Volkswagens, Vans and Trucks.

Two-wheeled transportation in the form of motorcycles, bicycles and scooters are preferred to drive today. Skateboards are also quick and fun.

Transportation in any day expresses one's individuality and own personality.

The strive to be unique did not pass up 1986-87. Less caught up in trends and more worried about being different, students added on to or revised styles to fit their own personalized tastes.

At Savanna one can get a look at many different fashion groups. There are the Punks, Rockers, Surfers, Romantics, Preps, Vogue, G.Q. — just about every possible division.

At Savanna one can get a look at many different fashion groups.

Popular attire included suspenders, hightops, flo-hos, creepers, and extra large purses. Pants began to be rolled up and shirts got shorter in front and longer in back.

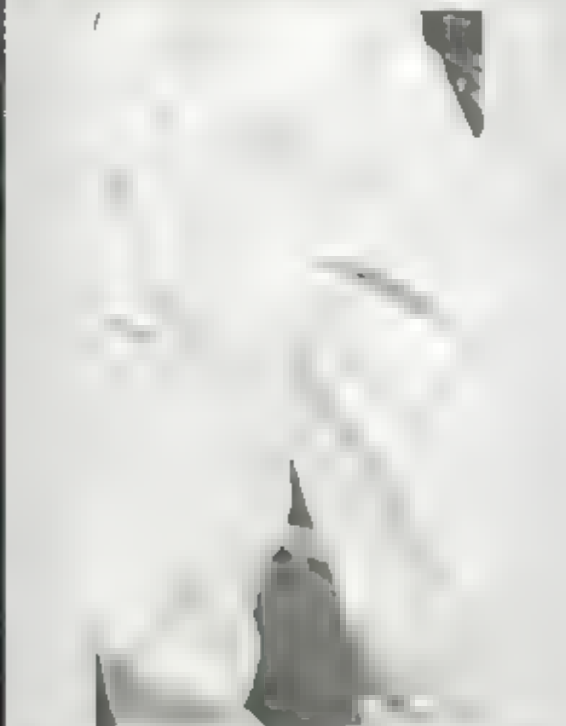

Surf products were more popular than ever and Bermuda shorts made a splash! Accessories added the final touch to every outfit. Hats ranged from cycling to berets. Earrings of every shape and size were worn on both men and women. Acrylic nails became more popular than ever and the French manicure returned.

Looking good is important to everyone, and this year Savanna looked GREAT!

MTV Up!

By John Rodriguez

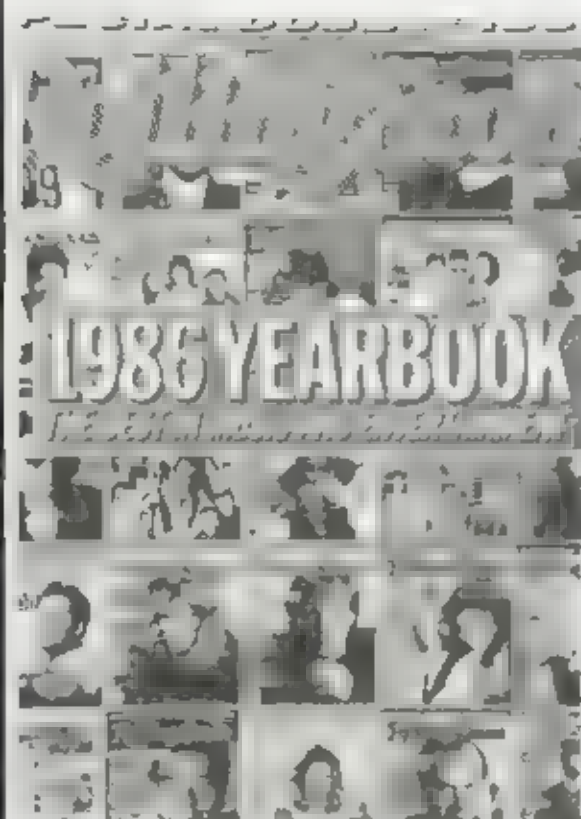

Everybody likes music, but all of us have our own taste. There is punk, metal (heavy and speed), new wave, ska, funk, new disco, rap, R&B, jazz and old fashioned rock 'n' roll. Musical preferences bring unique styles of people to Savanna.

Through MTV and other programs, videos have broadened the images of music in the past few years. These videos have shown the latest fashions and styles and make us familiar with the artists' faces.

All this music and all these people, when will it all end? Never, because "rock 'n' roll will never die!"

To the Left: Popular for rapping and scratching, RUN D.M.C. came in 17th with their new L.P. "Raising Hell." Lower Left: Well-known for haunting guitars and poetic lyrics, The Smiths helped move the world this year. Lower Right: With a special sound of their own, The Cure are gaining in popularity.

▲ Having the #1 album of 1986, Whitney Houston has something to be happy about

► A very popular metal band on Savanna's campus this year was Motley Crue

▲ Rolling Stone surveys the top albums of 1986

▲ Punk music influences both Ron Hunt and George Ganozacos

▼ Ozzy for president?

▲ Several female bands have made it big in the '80's. The Bangles are an example

▲ At the top of the charts, Janet Jackson takes after her brother

▼ With her new album "True Blue" at 17 on the charts, Madonna tastes success again

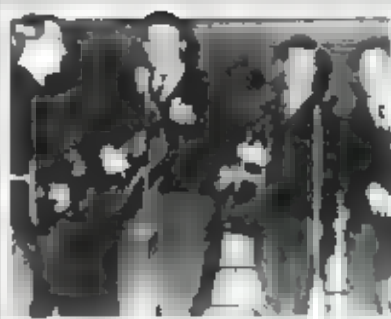

▲ Popular in the '60's and once more, The Monkees are at it again

Hairstyles evolve from year to year. In fact, there seems to be another wilder haircut each year. Reflecting back to when Savanna first opened, many of the girls had long hair past their shoulders and quite a few of the guys had crew cuts. Rarely did you see a girl with her hair shorter than a boy, or a boy with long hair past his ears. Now it's just the opposite in the '80's. Most students come to school with something different in their hair, if it's not mousse or hair spray, it's a different color.

One of the most popular watches worn by the students this year were Swatch watches. Students were really tired of wearing standard plain-looking watches. They just weren't fun to look at. Swatches are colorful and come in a variety of unique designs.

Sunglasses are not just to shield eyes from the sun anymore, they're now worn as a fashion accessory. Some of the popular sunglasses that were worn were John Lennon glasses and Ray-band sunglasses which have been worn since the early sixties.

Bottom Center Using hair spray was must to some people such as Kayline Kestell.

Worn both by girls and boys, earrings were very popular accessories. For girls, big earrings hoops, and long dangling styles were very popular. For boys, short dangling earrings were fashionable such as crosses and even peace signs, which were reminiscent of a popular sixties style.

The compact disk player was a very popular accessory. Everyone wanted one because of the sharp sound and unique quality. It sounded better than any record or cassette and was available at any record shop. Now students never had to worry about getting the tape caught in their radio anymore.

MODERN ENGLISH

By the Rickar Burnes

The Kremlin may be experts at cryptography, but for parents it's very hard to decipher the latest high school slang. So for all you parents out there, (you know who you are) the following lists, written in your own language, is to help you figure out what your kids have been saying to you all year.

Rad (rad) Adj. 1. Shortened variation of the English word, radical, meaning very good, exciting, weird.

Chill; Chill out (chil; chil-ow) N. 1. To chill-out; calm down. 2. Chill (to relax) Adj. 3. Chill, "That's chill," see "Cool."

Cool (kool) Adj. 1. Hip, stylish, in a good way. 2. Calm, unenthusiastic, Excuse to play (to cool).

Killer (kil-er) Adj. 1. Exciting to the point where one thinks he's going to die if the fun doesn't stop soon.

Nerd (nurd) N. 1. A person regarded as dull, unsophisticated, a social outcast, un-hip.

Spaz (spaz) N. See "Nerd."

Geek (geek) N. See "Nerd."

Pointexter (poin-deks-ter) N. See "nerd."

Dexter (deks-ter) N. 1. Shortened version of Pointexter.

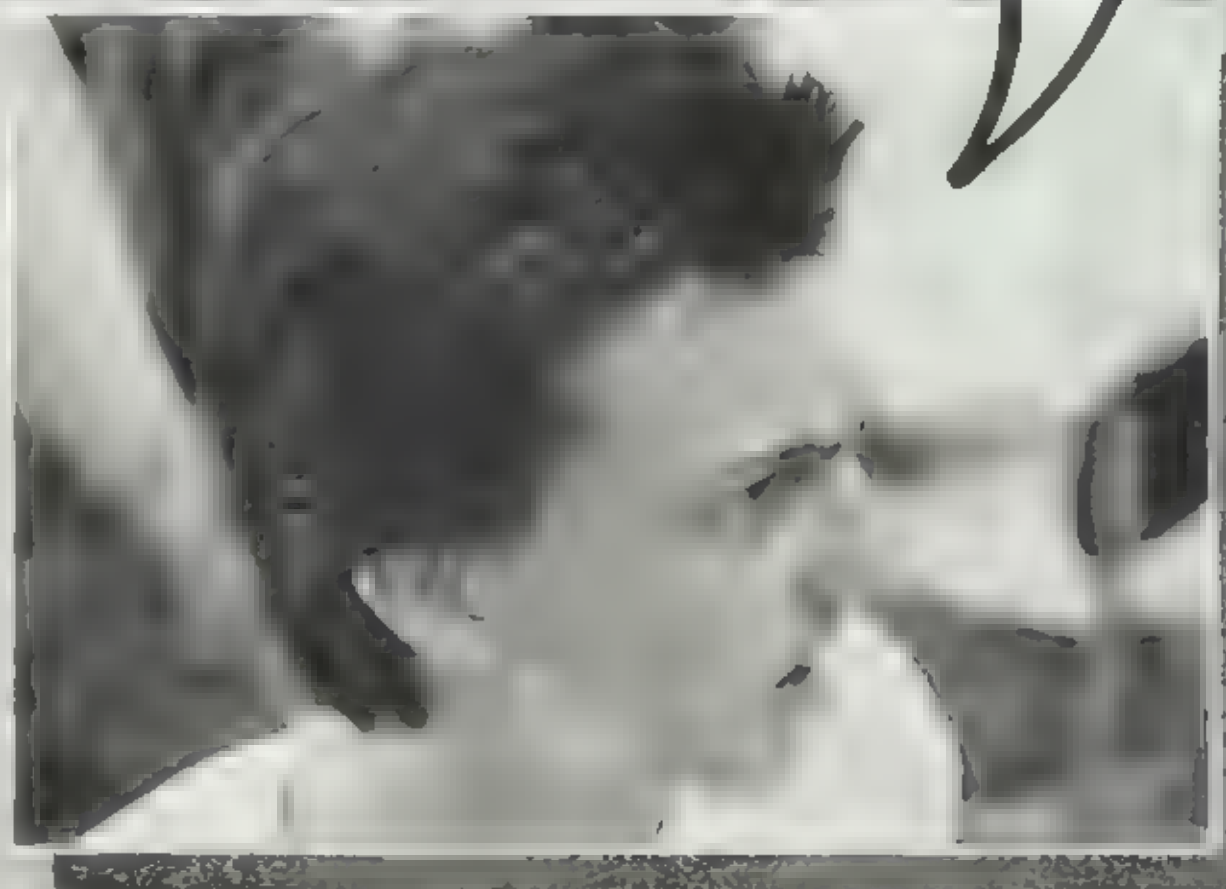

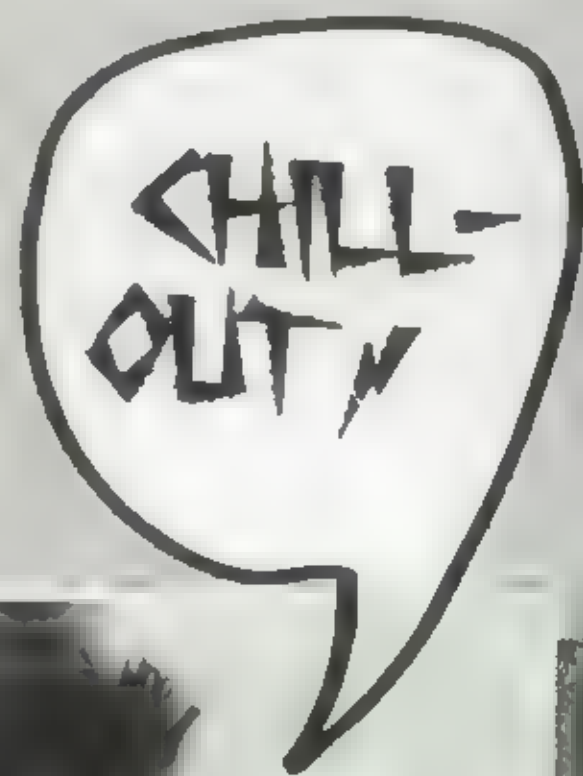

Totally (tot-ly) Adj. 1. Use for added emphasis. Ex. "That's cool" vs. "That's totally cool."

Dude (dood) N. 1. A hip man or boy.

Like V. 1. No particular meaning, a habit forming "filler" word. Could be substituted for "um" in speech.

Buds (buds) N. 1. Friends, companions.

Psych (sik) N. 1. To fake someone out. 2. Make one believe he's getting something he's not. Ex. "Want some ice cream?" ... PSYCH!

Spirit Soars at Assembly

By Christi LeNarz

The echos could be heard a mile away

'Rebels, Rebels, Rebels, Yeah.' The studly seniors, jam-n- juniors, super sophomores, and funky freshmen were at it again. It was the Pep Assembly of October 17, 1986 — everyone yelling, changing, and firing up their Rebel spirit for Savanna's first league football game against Brea Olinda

The band started things off as the drums played an energetic piece. Color Guard held their flags tall while our SHS football players took their seats. The gym was filled with chants and whistles as the JV and Varsity Song and Cheer squads performed

The next thing you knew ... three members of each class were tied together and hopping down the gym floor Cra-zy! The jam-n closely followed by the super sophomores. What happened to those studly seniors, you ask? Well, they sort of tripped over their own six feet!

The assembly ended with the class competition, in which Mr. Parish declared, "We're all winners!" and the routine singing of the alma mater

Just what kind of Pep Assembly was this? A SPIRITED ONE!

"Rebels, Rebels, Rebels, Yeah!"

Sophomores Bill Nicoloff, Scott Paul, and Maria Jaramillo take part in the class competition

Taking a slight spill, seniors Erik Roberts, Christine Lipuma, and Bill Garcia can hardly suppress a smile

TWIST AND SHOUT

By Joan Chang

"Hey! All you party animals out there! The Back to School Dance is tonight! Tickets are free to freshmen, all others pay $1 00 with ASB and $3 00 without."

Ever wonder what the school dances are like? The easiest thing would be to ask that special someone to go. In any case, if you're the super shy type, here's some info from our own special yearbook reporter.

As one would expect at a dance, there was a lot of romance and excitement. Songs were played by the D.J.s, Parker Dressler and Danny Sanchez, 1985 Savanna graduates, and the soft, colorful lights added to the atmosphere. Some of the hits played included "Twist & Shout" by the Beatles, "Boys Don't Cry" by the Cure and other popular songs.

The yearbook staff satisfied the dance-goers by selling refreshments such as homemade chocolate chip cookies, brownies, popcorn and soft drinks.

Students showed off for pictures which were taken by John Clark, a staff photographer from Albert and James Studio.

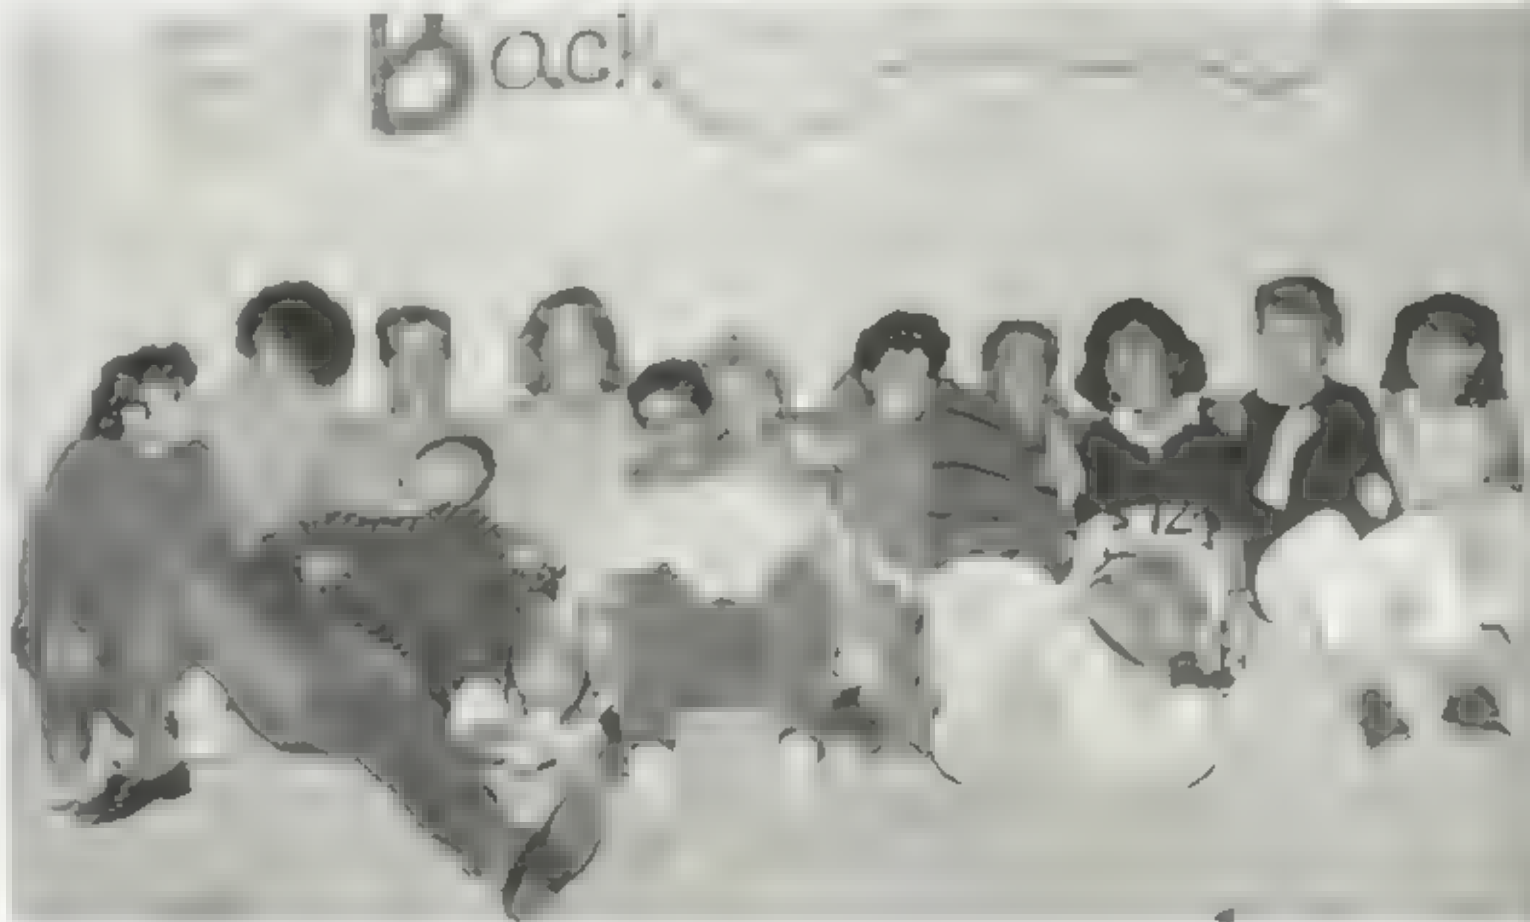

Even though "Back to School" signaled the end of summer, the dance was a great beginning.

BOO!

By Donna Barth

Both students and staff showed a great deal of enthusiasm as they donned costumes for Halloween. This year students dressed up on October 30 since there was no school on the 31st. Savannans displayed creativity and originality as they turned into M&M plain and peanut boxes, Pee Wee Herman, hula dancers, playboy bunnies, and whatever else their imagination was able to think up. We not only had cute and unusual costumes, but frightening ones as well. In fact, we even had a guest appearance by Jason, from the movie "Friday the 13th."

IN THE SPOTLIGHT

By Stacy Bates

During Homecoming week a lot of Savanna's students participated in activities to show their spirit. On Monday the theme was PJ Day, Tuesday was Disney Day, Wednesday was Wacky Day, Thursday was Beach Day, and Friday was School Color Day. Freshmen wore black, sophomores wore white, juniors wore grey, and seniors wore red.

On the last day (Friday) of homecoming week we attended a pep assembly. Some of the teachers dressed up and did lip syncs to some music groups, such as the Beatles, Elvis, the Beach Boys, Billy Idol, the Blues Brothers, and the Supremes. The most popular was Mr. Kaylor as Billy Idol. Everyone was screaming, yelling, and cheering the teachers on. They had the spotlights on them and it was the most exciting event of the week.

A WINTER NIGHT

By Melinda Ramirez

After having received over 50 different themes, President Julie Midboe and Vice-Pres. Janine Schumann of Girls' League narrowed down all of the entries and decided on "Once Upon A Winter Night." This theme was courtesy of John Ryan who in return won a ticket for himself and his date to the Winter Formal.

Preparation for this year's Winter Formal started back in July of 1986, and on January 24, 1987, all of the planning had paid off. It was held at the Grand Ball Room in the Disneyland Hotel.

This year's Girls' League, who was in charge of Winter Formal, tried something new. They gave away door prizes, concert tickets, and even gift certificates in hopes of selling more tickets.

One of the biggest highlights of the dance was when the DJ played a song by the Beastie Boys. Everyone got up to dance and shout the words to the song.

There was also a traditional garter dance at 10.00 p.m. Some of the winning people were Cherie Williams, who was awarded gift certificates to Camelot, and Robert Redwine, who won two concert tickets.

The colors were royal blue and silver with music provided by "Have Music Will Travel." The dance lasted from 8 to 12 p.m. and was an enormous success.

We made this dance special since it's our 25th anniversary," commented Julie Midboe.

HO-HO-HOP

By Richard Burnes

Did you find yourself tying antlers to your head and prancing up on your rooftop this past Christmas? Do you have an attraction for short people with pointed ears? Then Christmas must be your favorite time of year. So naturally you must have been at the HO-HO-HOP

On December 12th, at 8:00 p.m., all of the Christmas fanatics arrived at the gym to dance to the incredible sounds of our local D.J.'s, "Up Tight White." The dance was one of the least crowded we've had in awhile, so lines for pictures were short

All in all, for those who attended it was a jolly, festive night

REV IT UP

By Nancy Perez

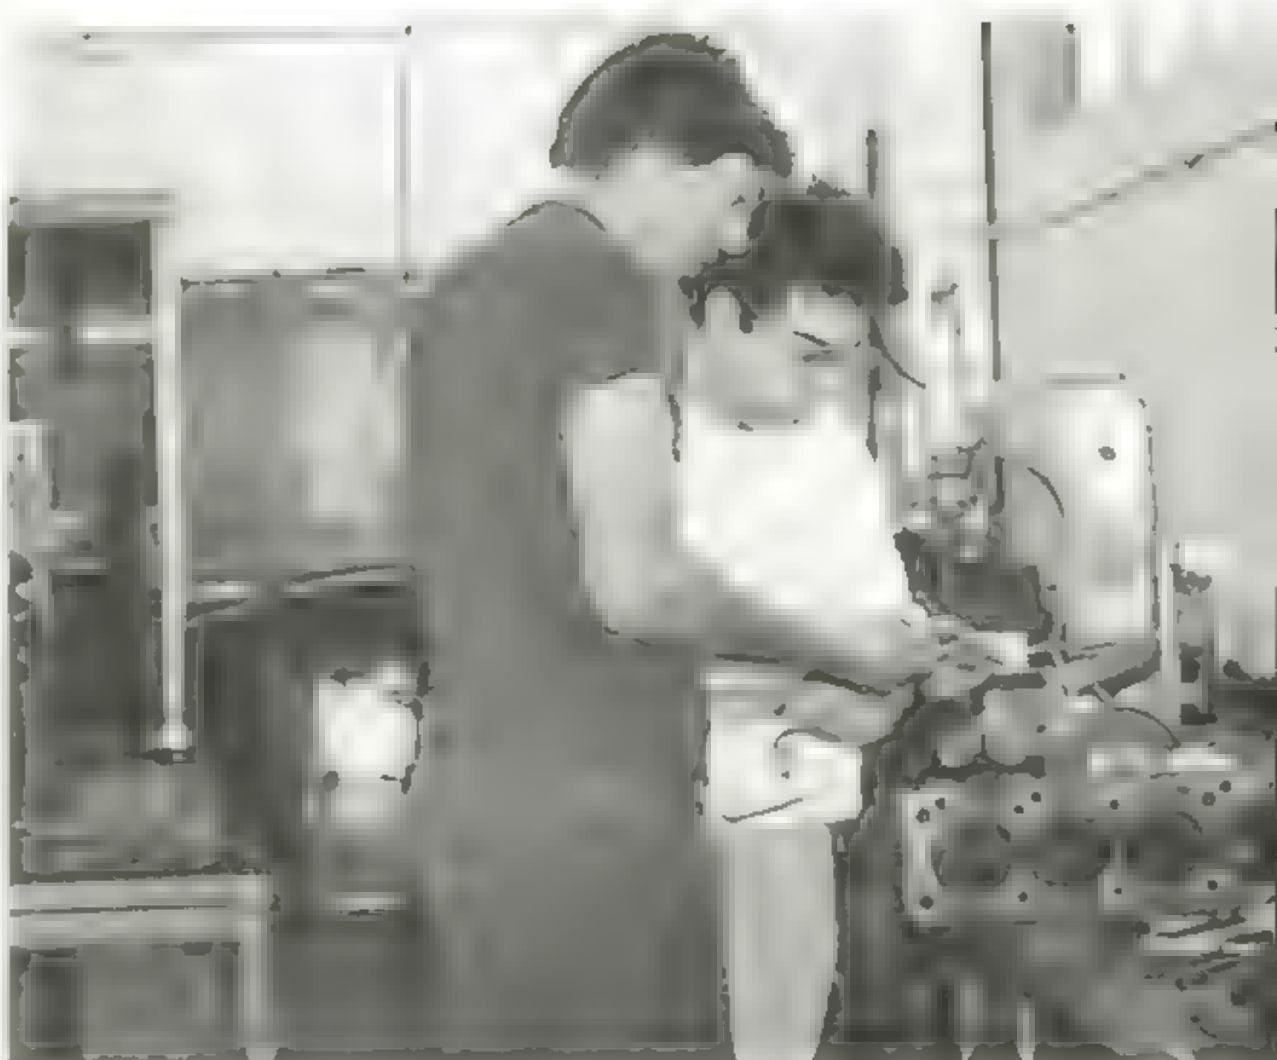

The whirl of machine tools coursed through the air as students walked into Auto and Wood, which are elective classes

"I feel Auto Shop is a class which helps to prepare students for the future," says Mr. Luckey, Auto instructor.

Wood Shop is a demanding class for hard-working students. Both classes work with tools and a great deal of manual dexterity. One of the projects Woodshop had was fixing up a boat. Another was constructing a miniature-size building.

In Auto, students basically learn to repair different types of engines. It also helps students to work with each other with much more ease.

Although Auto and Woodshop were very demanding classes, they always seemed to find time for a joke.

MEMORIES

Memories are something that will last a lifetime
You are given them to hold onto and to look back on.

Memories can be both good and bad

You are given them to learn from.

Memories can be from yesterday or a year ago

You are given them to change

Memories can come from friends, school, or anywhere

You are given them to cherish

You get memories from almost anything you do

Try to cherish the good and let go of the bad

Remember the times with your friends, so you can look back on them and see how special you are

HOW DEEP THE DAYS

How heavy the days are
There's not a fire that can warm me,
Not a sun to laugh with me
Everything bare.

Everything cold and merciless,
And even the beloved, clear stars
Look desolately down;

Since I learned in my heart that Love can die

A.S.B. PRESIDENT A MEMORABLE EXPERIENCE

By Melinda Ramirez

Savanna has meant a great deal to me these past four years — dances, football games, morning trivia and even the seagulls at noon. But most of all Savanna represents friends; those people that have expressed warmth towards me. I cannot thank all my friends enough for making high school such a memorable experience.

It has been a privilege for me to represent Savanna as A.S.B. President. I thank the Rebels for this opportunity. I will always cherish these memories of Savanna.

NURSERY SCHOOL

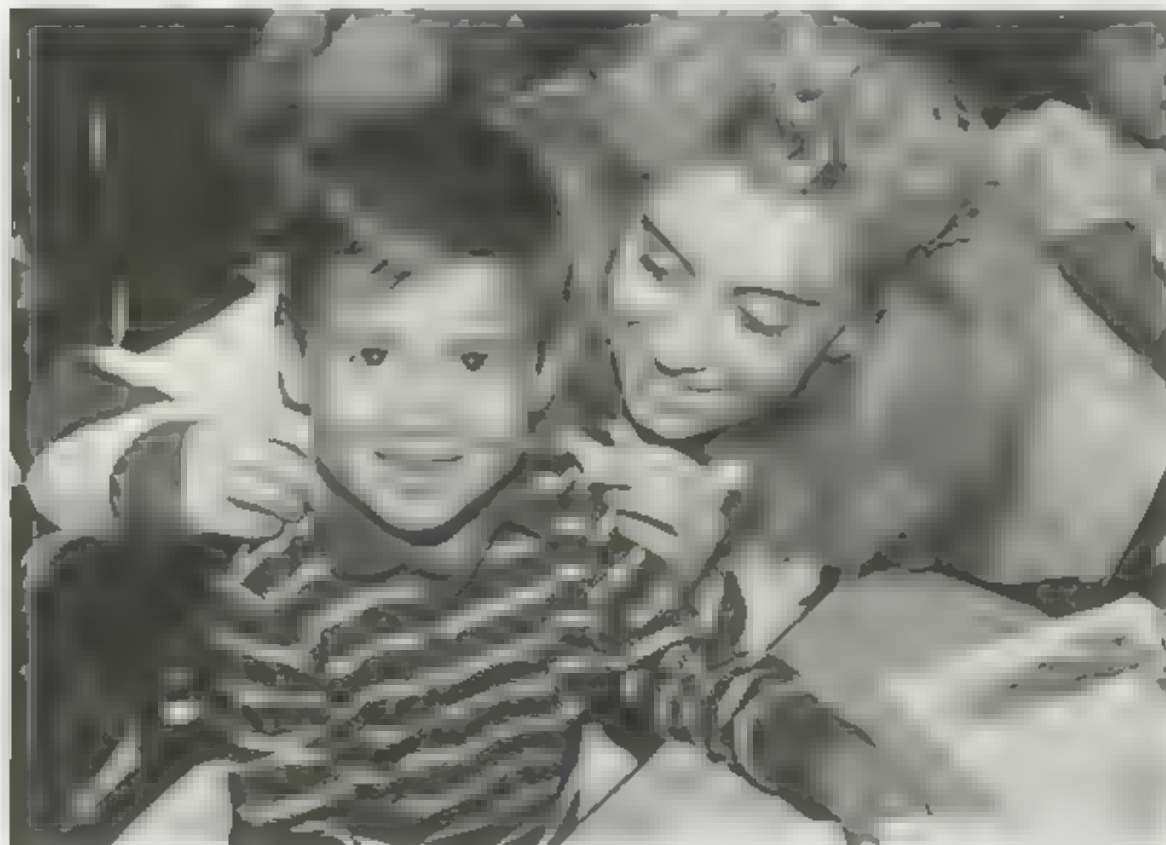

By Melissa Vickers

In what class can you find students playing with "Mr. Potato Head?" Every day Savanna's Nursery School children learn new and exciting things.

First, at the beginning of third period parents sign their children in. When class starts, the children play with the various toys offered in Preschool, such as Legos, puzzles, "Mr. Potato Head", "Cooties," and many more. Then they have a chance to repeat the alphabet slowly. If the child gets it all correct, he gets a balloon or a stamp on the hand. Then the children practice hand coordination by coloring, finger-painting, or paper construction. When everyone's finished and has put things away, each child plays outside on the swings, toy cars, in the dirt, or in the playhouse for about 25 minutes. After playtime outside, the children come in one at a time to get their hands washed and eat.

Working with the children in Preschool may be preparing some of the students, such as Melinda Ramirez or Bridgette Frierson, for a career that they wish to pursue or family life.

HOME EC

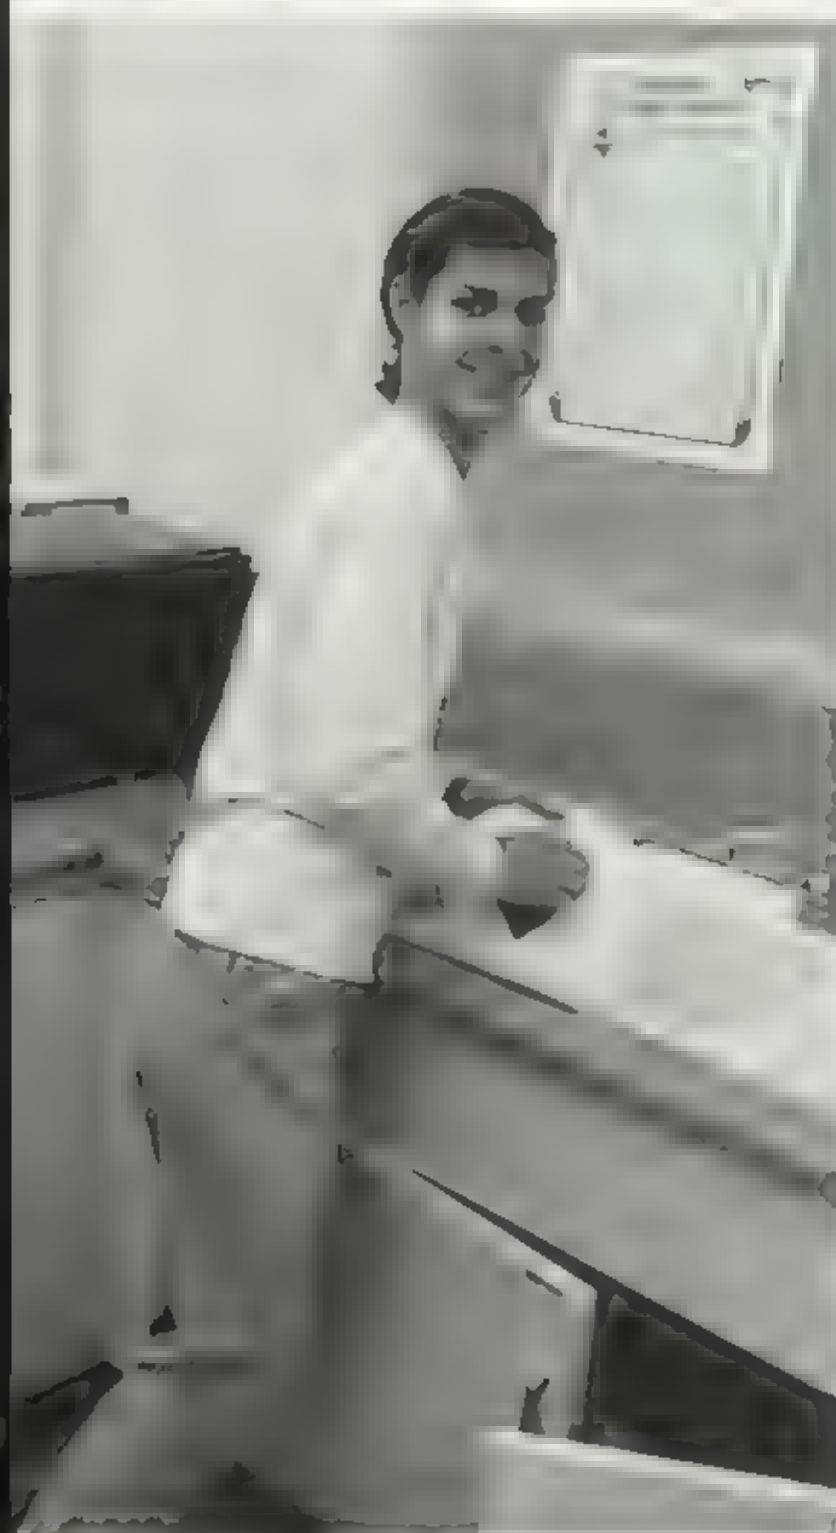

By Melissa Vickers

Mrs. Matthews teaches the Home Ec classes, cooking and sewing. The students learn basic culinary techniques. These adventurous students can make anything as long as it has something to do with the particular chapter for that week, such as Hungarian goulash, spaghetti, hamburgers, ice cream, or salad.

Sewing offers a beginning, intermediate, and advanced class. The students in sewing may also make what they want provided they accomplish certain tasks, including dresses, skirts, shirts, shorts, needle point, etc.

These skills will help them the rest of their life.

DRAFTING GOES HIGH TECH

By Loanne Thai

As advanced as the Drafting Department has been, each year it provides something new. The main emphasis and goal of this year's department has been on higher technology and providing more hands-on-experience for students.

No new classes were added to the Drafting curriculum, but the current classes were upgraded with CAD (Computer Aided Drafting) related instruction.

According to Mr. Joe Hoffman, head of Drafting Department, he aspired to give all of his students job-entry skills by the time they graduate from high school.

TALENT FLOURISHES IN ART

By Loanne Thai

Under the able leadership of Mr. Doug Hastings and Mr. Mike Silvey, the Art Department continued its tradition of strengthening students' creative talents.

Classes ranged from drawing and painting, where students drew both small subjects and full figures, to ceramics and 3-D design.

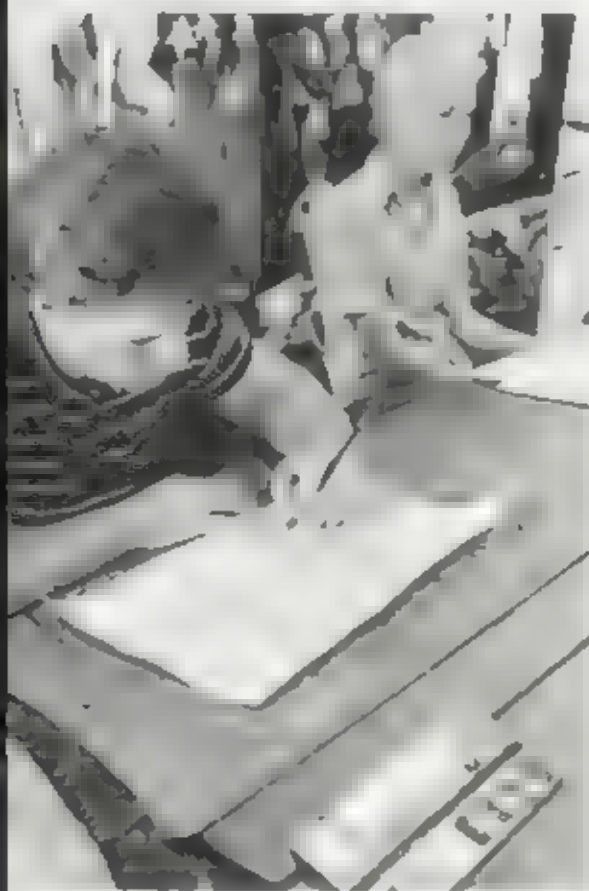

As a result of an experienced teaching staff, these classes served as a motivator to stimulate beginning and advanced students' interest in various types of art.

HOUSE, CONGRESS REPS HELP OUT STUDENT GOVERNMENT KEEPS BUSY

By Bonnie Sizemore

Led by Congress President Pam Whittaker, Student Congress consisted of representatives from each fifth period class. The meetings were held about once a month, and were designed to inform these representatives of upcoming school events, who in turn, informed their classes.

Each class, Freshman, Sophomore, Junior, and Senior, elected representatives from their guidance classes to attend House meetings. These meetings were headed by each class president, and allowed House members to plan and help with the activity each class was in charge of.

ASB GETS INVOLVED!

By Bonnie Sizemore

It all started with the ASB class elections last year. Then came appointed officer interviews, weekly summer meetings and volleyball practices, and finally Council Camp at the University of California in Santa Barbara "It was a blast! I had so much fun!" said Senior Class President Romy Selby

The camp at UCSB was three days only, and the Council members rarely had time to themselves. Some activities included a volleyball tournament, motivational assemblies, dances, dress-up themes, workshops, and concluded with an exciting spirit competition, a slide show of the camp, and a talent variety show

Under the direction of Activities Director Mr. Bob Parish, the Student Council planned, organized and helped out with many of Savanna's activities this year, including Homecoming Week activities, spirit assemblies, the United Way Blood and fund drives, anti-drug week, lunch-time activities, Pride Day, Spirit Week, and the various casual and formal dances. Members Collect Food for Needy Families

By Tracy Jenkins

The ICC Club or Inter-Club Council, consists of all the club presidents on Savanna's campus. This year, Diane Gunnerson served as ICC president.

Members are responsible for not only the canned food drive, but for the annual Rebel Show. In fact, if it were not for this service-minded group, we would not have the opportunity to show off all of the talent that exists on campus.

Fundraisers were important aspects of the club's activities. ICC was successful in raising funds for the Rebel Show by selling Reese's Peanut Butter Cups and Krackle Candy Bars to every hungry student.

Preparing for Life in the Business World

By Tracy Jenkins

The FBLA Club represents the Future Business Leaders of America. The purpose of FBLA is to prepare members for life in the business world.

Advised by Ms. Schmaus and Ms. Creighton, students were encouraged to compete at various skills and to attend a variety of business conferences. Fundraisers, such as the banner sale, provided money for students to enter a number of competitions.

This year's officers were Kellie Chaney, President; John Karczynski, Vice-President; Joan Chang, Secretary and Donna Frane, Treasurer.

AROUND THE WORLD

By Christine Lee

Have you ever wished that you could travel to foreign countries to experience variety of cultures and languages? If so, International Club was the club to join.

Bringing together different parts of the world, the International Club was one of the most unique clubs on campus. That is, this club provided the opportunity for students to experience and enjoy customs, foods, and languages of far away places.

Composed of 60 students, members of this club participated in fundraising activities such as the gummi bear and the calender sales.

Under the leadership of Mrs. Jackie Cotta and Mrs. Alfreda Dockery club meetings were held twice each month. During this time, members exchange their ideas on various activities and anticipated future plans. As the result, the International Club was able to enjoy a successful and a profitable year.

HALLO

By Helen Cho

Winfried Huehn is a 17 year-old senior at Savanna High. And what's so special about him you might ask? Well, he's a foreign exchange student from West Germany. He decided to come to the U.S. because he thought it would be adventurous and very exciting. And when he applied in Germany there were over 1600 applicants and only half were chosen. Most of the applicants chosen were from the gymnasium

(German version of an honor high school.) And at Savanna High, Winfried was involved in many activities. He was involved in Varsity Cross-Country and was also a reporter for the Dispatch. In Cross-Country he was ranked in the top 5 on Varsity. And after graduating, Winfried will have to finish one more year in Germany to get his diploma from the gymnasium and then he will serve 18 months of military service. He then has a choice of 30 different universities for which the tuition is paid for by the German government

HEJ!

By Helen Cho

Who's Jonas Hanssen? Well, he's one of three foreign exchange students from the northern part of Sweden, near the Arctic Circle. And being so close to the Arctic, the temperature measured 50 degrees during the summer and dropped

72 degrees below zero during the winter

Needless to say California weather was very appealing this school year

Jonas decided to become an exchange student on a whim. He had heard of it through a friend and went to take tests and an interview. Fortunately he was accepted to come to the U.S. While at Savanna, he joined the Cross-Country team and did very well due to his experience running marathons in Sweden. And back home his favorite classes were computers, math, and science

In Sweden he has taken French, German, and English. Here he is taking French II. In his free time, he likes to go to the beach and to Disneyland. And he admitted missing his family before returning to Sweden.

Have you ever considered traveling abroad and going to school there? Well Luciano Fernandez has done just that Luciano lived in Salamonca, Spain with his parents, brother, and sister. During his stay in the United States, Luciano

resided in the home of Scott McMelvey

Luciano has traveled to many European countries including France, Italy, Germany, and spent the entire summer in England with a host family.

When asked of some of the differences between his native Spain and the U.S. Luciano replied that his home town has taller buildings, little grass and that there is a drinking age of 14, but it really was not enforced

We have enjoyed Luciano's friendship, and miss him as he returns to Spain

GIRLS' (and boys') LEAGUE

By Janine Schumann

Did you ever know who sponsored the Winter Formal...? In case you were wondering, the answer to that question is the Girls' League.

This year the Winter Formal was titled "Once Upon A Winter Night." The colors were royal blue and silver, and was held in the Embassy Ball Room at the Disneyland Hotel.

Traditionally, this is an all girls' club, the Girls' League was challenged this year to accept male members. The question was brought up at a student council meeting where it was decided that there should be no segregation in clubs so for the first time in 1986 males were accepted and actively participated in the Girls' League.

SA-REBS SERVE THE COMMUNITY

MARK OF EXCELLENCE

By Joan Chang

Among the numerous clubs on our campus, one may find two clubs that are totally dedicated to academic excellence. They are the California Scholarship Federation (CSF) and the National Honor Society (NHS).

The main purpose of these clubs was to provide scholarships, to recognize outstanding students and to serve as a group where people with the same high standards and goals could interact.

The California Scholarship Federation provided an incentive for its members. Those who kept up a 3.5 average of four semesters or more, with at least one semester in the senior year were awarded gold seals, special tassels at graduation and college scholarships to those members who were very active and service year with a new advisor, Mr. Kaylor, placed its priorities on increasing academic achievement. To be a member one had to be chosen by faculty members based on grade point average (3.0 minimum), leadership, service and character. Also one had to be a senior to be under consideration. The scholarships were awarded to members with the highest grade point averages.

During the week before Christmas vacation, CSF held a carnation sale which was very successful. Also, NHS had held its annual candy bar sale in January. These and other fund raisers were designed to assist in providing scholarships for the club members. Banquets were held to honor and recognize the students who were chosen for the scholarships.

YEARBOOK SLAVES AT IT AGAIN

By Christi LeNarz

One glance into room 17 and one knew, just knew, that it was the yearbook room. Was it the yearbook posters on the walls? Maybe. More likely, it was because of the confusion in the room, which was a typical scene.

Yes, walking into room 17 was definitely not ordinary. Some of the unusual scenes included staff members munching on pizza and pictures all over the floor. It was also not unusual to find members keeping the lights burning until eight or nine p.m.

Led by first-year advisor Miss

Shelley, the class was very organized, and, yet, still hectic. The experience of eight returning members and the new members' ability to catch on quickly led the staff to produce a book that they were proud of.

This year's book had a great challenge to it as it needed to represent Savanna's 25th anniversary. Therefore, the theme, "After 25 Years, the Celebration Continues," was a fitting choice.

What could be said?

... The yearbook slaves were at it again.

And Now a Word From Our Editor . . .

These past four years at Savanna have been fun. But the one thing that has made my high school years the best was being on the yearbook staff for so long and surviving it. I've met some new friends along the way and have gone through three different advisors who were all great.

Some people might think that yearbook is an easy class. They cannot even imagine what we went through.

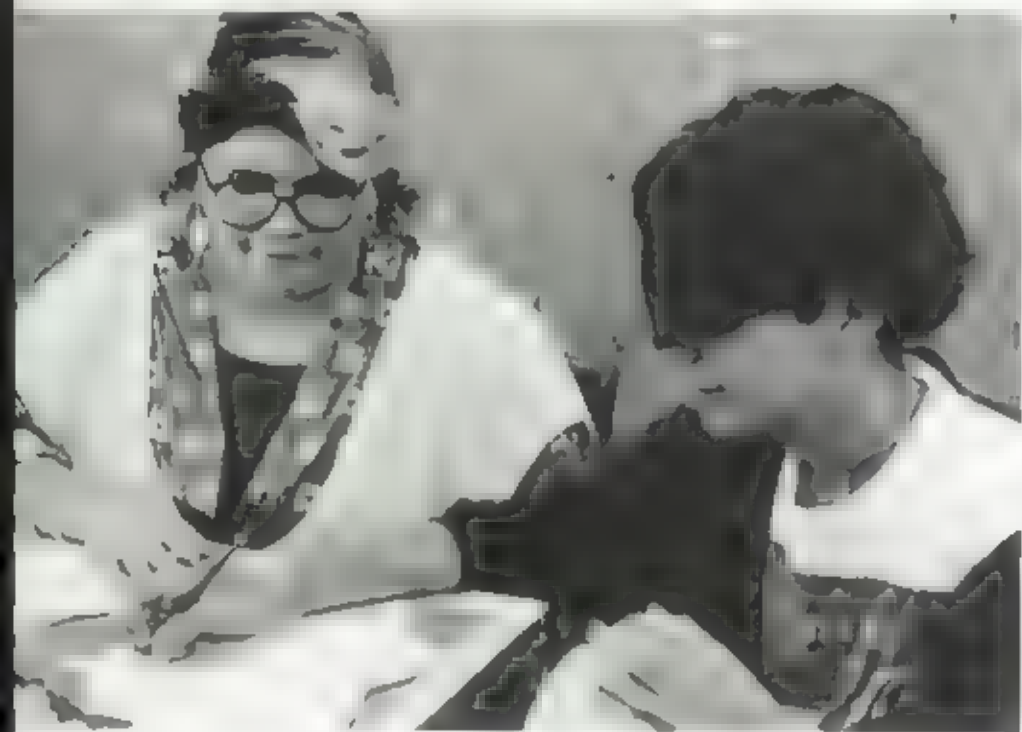

Above all, there were the late nights we spent finishing our work to meet our deadlines. Deadlines were the worst. By missing a deadline, the book would have had a chance of being late, therefore not getting to the students until summer. So, staff members had numerous responsibilities to complete their pages correctly and on time.

This year's staff really worked to its fullest potential. The hard work shows in this completed book.

Being on a yearbook staff was difficult, torturous, scary at times, and very nerve-wracking, but it was fun. We were the yearbook slaves. I guess I had to be really insane to be on the staff for so long either that or I was really addicted to it!

As editor-in-chief, Melinda Ramirez makes double checks on just about everything!

STAYING ON THE BAND WAGON

by John Rodriguez

If you didn't know, there's more than one band at Savanna. Besides marching band, there is jazz band, wind ensemble, and concert band.

Something new this year in competition was the drumline, which was led by Stuart Pompel and Greg Rochford as percussion directors. This was their first year in separate competitions.

In wind ensemble, the students rehearse difficult music which they perform at competitions and concerts. They also study music history, theory, and technique.

Concert band is made up of mostly underclassmen and jazz band is made up of about 15 members, who are not only members of wind ensemble, but concert band as well. They emphasized techniques of improvisation, and syncopation.

There is more than one band on campus which gives us three more reasons to be proud of Savanna.

Colorguard Leaders

EXCEEDING THEIR LIMITS

By Jill Treganowan

Is Colorguard just one of the three organizations that entertain us at football games? Colorguard performs at half-time and much more

The Savanna Colorguard exceeded their goals this year. They dedicated their summer and most of their free time perfecting their skills in order to be ready for competitions in the fall. On school days, Savanna's Colorguard was on the field ready to go at 7:00 a.m. and after school until 5:00

On competition days, Colorguard arrived bright and early ready for practice. They they were off to competition sites, where the entire day was spent practicing and performing.

Just when field competitions were over, Colorguard began a new show where drill maneuvers and equipment work were stressed due to the closeness of the crowds and judges

When asked about this year's changes, rifle leader Lori Reid replied, "There were a lot of new things to get used to this year — new instructors, a new style, and a rifle line on field. Everyone worked very hard all year and because of our hard work, our rifle line placed second and our flag line placed third in Southern California. I was very proud to be a part of Savanna's Colorguard."

DANCE

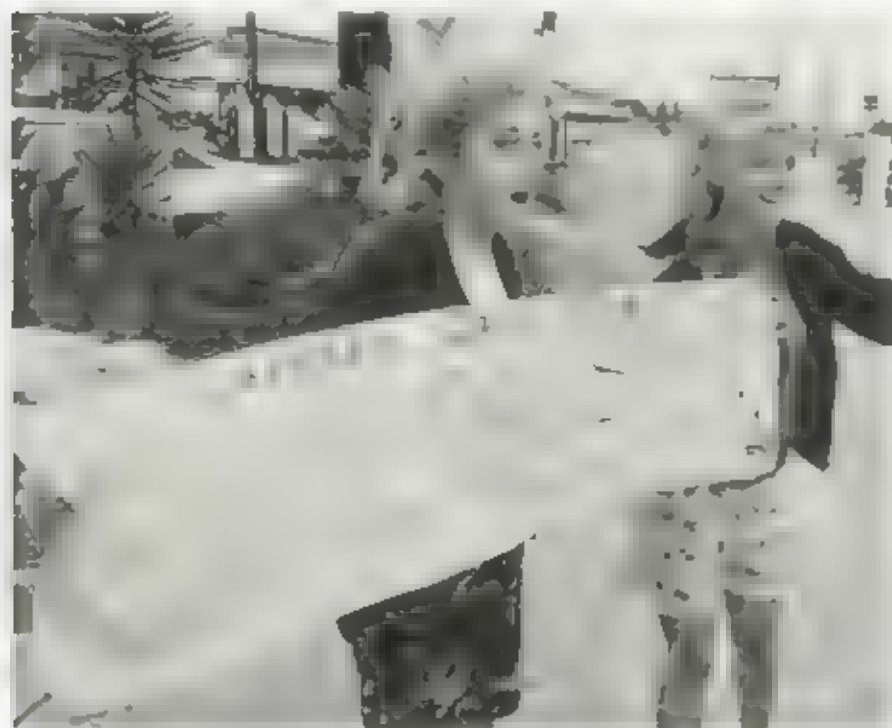

By Janine Schumann

Does waking up at 5:30 in the morning and begin practice by 7:00 sound strange? This hard work and effort showed the most important people around, the audience, how Savanna Drill Team could dance.

When asked why Drill Team spent so much time and showed such dedication, Vicki Bruce explained, "It takes a lot of determination, hard work, and a number of bruises to perform well."

This year the Drill Team changed

their image. They were no longer all military or novelty. Instead they were "Dancers." The 24 girls practiced split leaps, russians, double, and triple turns; all this to participate in indoor competitions.

Practices started early in the summer with professional dance teachers in addition to a choreographer.

The advisor Gail Collier and choreographer, Vicki Arentz cared a lot for the team. But, when one walked in the gym during a practice and heard, "Point your toes, energy, technique girls," one realized the difference in the dancers. Being awarded first place in competitions was a great reward.

HATS OFF

SWING CHOIR KEEPS HERITAGE ALIVE

By Helen Cho

They came to practice every day at 7 A.M. on the spot, and put in extra hours after school. They came to class during regular hours and after all that practice you could tell they had gotten the songs down pat.

To become a member of the choir is quite an accomplishment. Students had to audition for Mrs. Van Horn, the choir director. Once accepted, members prepare both song and dance routines for performances, like the Liberty Concert on October 31, 1986. Even with all the hard practice, they had time to put on a car wash in front of the school, to raise money to buy their costumes, and much more.

Hats off to the Swing Choir for keeping the tradition of Savanna's rich musical heritage alive.

A SHOW FOR YOU

MIXED CHOIR ENTERTAINS

By Sherrie Thomas

After attending one of several concerts this year, one could tell by the all-out enthusiasm that Mixed Choir was greatly admired and appreciated by both parents and fellow students.

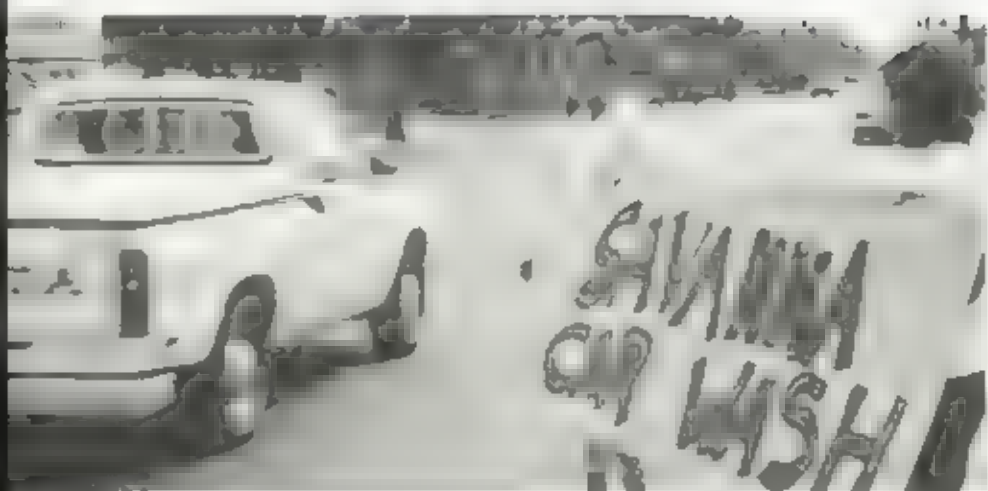

After sweating through some lengthy auditions, choir members maintained a consistent schedule of 7:00 A.M. practices.

In addition, all students were expected to raise funds for their uniforms by organizing a car wash and participating in fundraisers.

A highlight this year was the liberty concert on October 30th. The audience was treated to a variety of lively dance numbers as well as patriotic songs. Participation was at a peak when the audience was encouraged to join in. The enthusiastic comments were confirmation of successful and entertaining evening.

EXTRA, EXTRA, READ ALL ABOUT IT

By Christine Lee

When most of us receive the school newspaper, we may not consider nor appreciate all the hard work that has gone into publishing it.

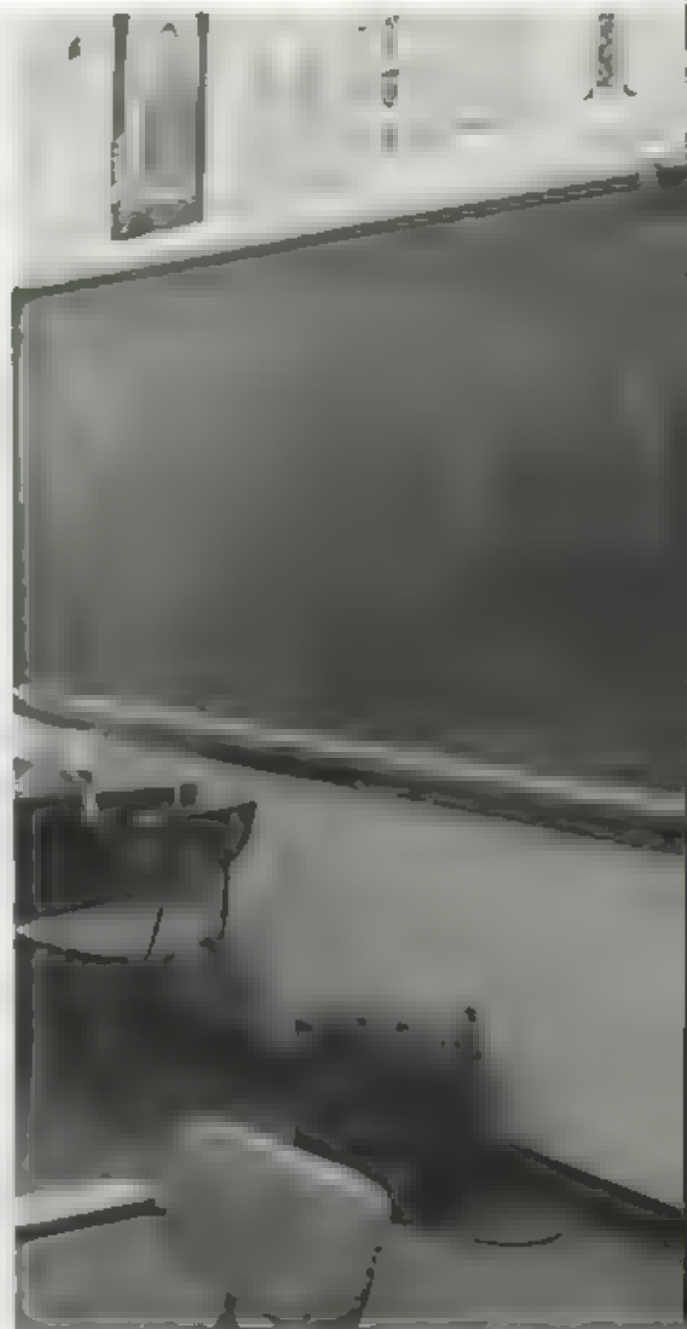

The Dispatch consisted of 15 dedicated students. Under the leadership of Mrs. Cecilia Tate and the Editor-in-Chief, Jady Ma, these students sacrificed much of their free time in order to cover events, to interview, or to take pictures.

The very first step toward publishing the Dispatch is for the class to choose various topics of interest. Then, the individual reporters volunteer for the certain topics that appeal to them. But before actually writing the story, a student had to anticipate by interviewing, taking pictures, and uncovering precise details. Then, the finished product is published at the school district's publisher eight times a year.

An interesting fact about the Dispatch is that it originally cost 25¢ a copy, or was free with a $5.00 ASB card during the early years of Savanna.

Beth Tremain, a member of the Dispatch staff best summed up the year by saying, "It is hard work, but everything is worth it when we see the finished product and see our byline on it."

One of the most energetic organizations on campus is Song. Song is similar to Cheer, but Song dances to music. They also do splits, kicks and prance

All the members in Song must pass try-outs and go to Song and Cheer camp in the summer. At camp they learn basic skills, such as side line cheers, game action cheer, and routines

The members of Song must belong to Pep Club and have secret pals

Song cheers on all major Varsity sports, make signs, and promotes spirit.

JV CHEER

By Stacy Bates

JV Cheerleaders strive hard for success. During the summer they had to get up and come to school at 7:00 almost every morning.

They enjoyed the cheerleading camp grounds in Santa Barbara, where they were judged on their own performance. Some won superior ribbons. During the busy week they had to practice from 8:00 in the morning to 10:00 at night. They also spent an evening enjoying a luau.

The girls participated in spirit rallies and dances throughout the year.

They couldn't of succeeded without their choreographer Tammi Irwin or their new advisor Edie Zajec.

Ms. Zajec says it was exhilarating and there's something new every day.

TURNING THE CORNER

By Chris Pfitzer

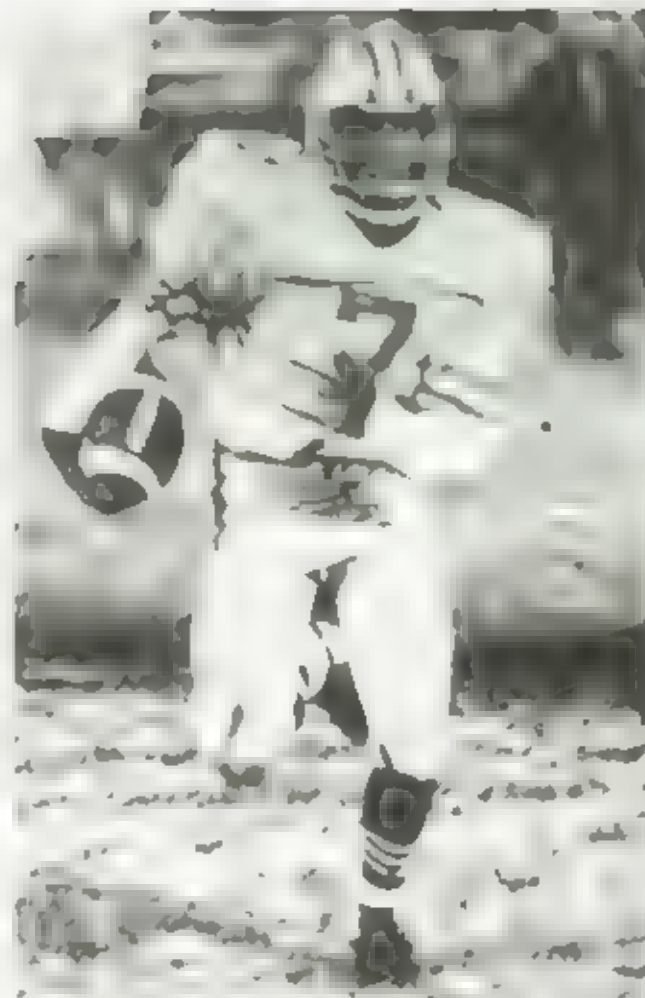

"Times are changing and because of the enthusiastic attitudes we've turned the corner from a losing team to a winning one," explained coach Bob Parish. Most agree that the attitudes were more cohesive this football season than in years previous.

Coaching this year's team was Dana Coleman assisted by Bob Parish and John Kaylor. Due to their direction and outstanding team captains Tom Osendorf, Tom Williams and Matt Stephenson, the team had a 4-6 season.

Winning awards were Chris Richards for Most Improved. Erik Roberts for Most Inspirational and the Principal's award was presented to Tony Osendorf and Tom Williams for outstanding GPAs.

The Homecoming game showed the improved teamwork as the Rebels triumphed over the Magnolia Sentinals and also had a strong game against Troy in their two best games of the season.

BOYS' VARSITY TENNIS SWINGS INTO ACTION

By Joan Chang

For the first time in several years, the varsity team got a brand new coach, Terry Cole, who was originally a pro himself. Enthusiasm, new ideas and goals were brought in along with a great deal of encouragement.

The varsity team was composed of 14 players, 5 of which were alternates. The team worked hard on their techniques both during and after school. In fact, the players could be seen doing drills along the courts, running at the track.

Made up almost entirely of juniors and seniors, the varsity team improved in confidence and won their second league game against Brea with a score of 11 to 7.

Outstanding singles players were #1 player Petre Maracine, Chun Yi and Frank Soukhaseum. Strong doubles players included David Hirschman, Jay Kim, Moses Chung and John Kim.

"No pain, No gain," observed Petre Maracine. "Everybody has what it takes, but practice is the key to winning."

BOYS' JV TENNIS PLAY ON THE LINE

By Gimo Chanphianamvong

Even though the Boys' JV tennis team began the season without a coach or uniforms, former girls' tennis coach, Eric Hansen, stepped in to serve as the JV coach.

Speed, strength and stamina were as essential to a tennis players' success as a steady backhand and a positive mental attitude. It was the blending of all three of these elements that often separated the great players from the average ones. Rigorous exercises during practice were the key to winning matches. The usual regimen consisted of stretches, pull-ups, push-ups, sit-ups, leg lifts, jump rope and running.

For every game the team lost, they were required to run laps. This unusual philosophy improved their winnings considerably. The players hit the ball harder than ever, on serves as well as ground strokes and volleys.

After several defeats the Boys' JV tennis came back with a vengeance at their next match against Brea, ripping them 12 to 6.

GIRLS' JV TENNIS MADE

A SMASH HIT

By Gimo Chanphianamvong

They were a new, young Girls' JV tennis team with little previous experience, but still they managed to finish the season with the same record as the Girls' Varsity Team. Coached by Dean Andersen, the girls had four wins and six losses.

Preparation for any game or match required many hours of practice. The girls were taught basic skills such as serving, volleying, returning, lobbing, stroking, smashing, and recognizing opponents' weaknesses and strengths.

The first game against Magnolia proved to be victorious for the JV team. The season competition continued on with another win over Magnolia, two losses against Valencia, two losses against Brea, two wins over Anaheim, and two defeats against Western.

By the end of the season most of the players were able to hit the ball accurately with the tenacity of a pro, but occasionally someone did hit the ball over the fence and into the golf course!

The girls ended the season with a celebration at Jolly Rogers. They performed a rap song along with a skit, dined on gourmet food, viewed slides, and were presented awards by both the coaches and fellow players.

"LOVE-LOVE, 15-LOVE." This is the kind of talk that you hear walking by the girls' tennis courts.

The Girls' Varsity Tennis Team consisted primarily of returning players from last year and two newcomers, Leila Khatib and Elyse Rogers.

The girls spent many long hours during sixth period and after school practicing their tennis skills, along with stretching exercises and running drills.

As a payoff for their continued efforts and positive attitudes, the team finished with a record of 4 and 6, taking fourth place in the Orange League. In the Orange League tournament Julie Nakamatsu and Ya Yann placed second.

At the end of the season, the team held their yearly awards banquet where the girls were honored for their achievements. Julie Nakamatsu received the Coaches' Award, Ya Yann was award Most Improved and Cindy Yamamoto was named Most Valuable Player of the year.

THREE-MILERS

BOYS' VARSITY CROSS-COUNTRY

By Lynette Young

One of the most difficult and challenging sports at Savanna is Cross-Country. The athletes in Cross-Country had to be able to run a three mile course at every meet.

Practice started in August. They ran four to twelve miles at every work out and had to run on their own on weekends.

Many members of the Cross-Country Team ran to get or stay in shape for the track season. Some went out for the intensive challenge and competitiveness of the sport, while a few just did it for fun.

Boys' Varsity Cross-Country had two star performers who contributed to a victorious season. They were Senior Team Captain Russell Follmer and Sophomore Mike Gutierrez.

The Cross-Country Team, coached by Glen Garson, had an overall record of 2-5 this season.

BEST FOOT FORWARD

By Gimo Chanphianamvong

Cross-Country had been a tough endurance sport for the Boys' Frosh/Soph team. During a race, each runner was his own mentor and motivator. When pounding feet began to burn at every step, he had to encourage himself to keep up the pace. At this point he tested his concentration, strength, and stamina to the maximum.

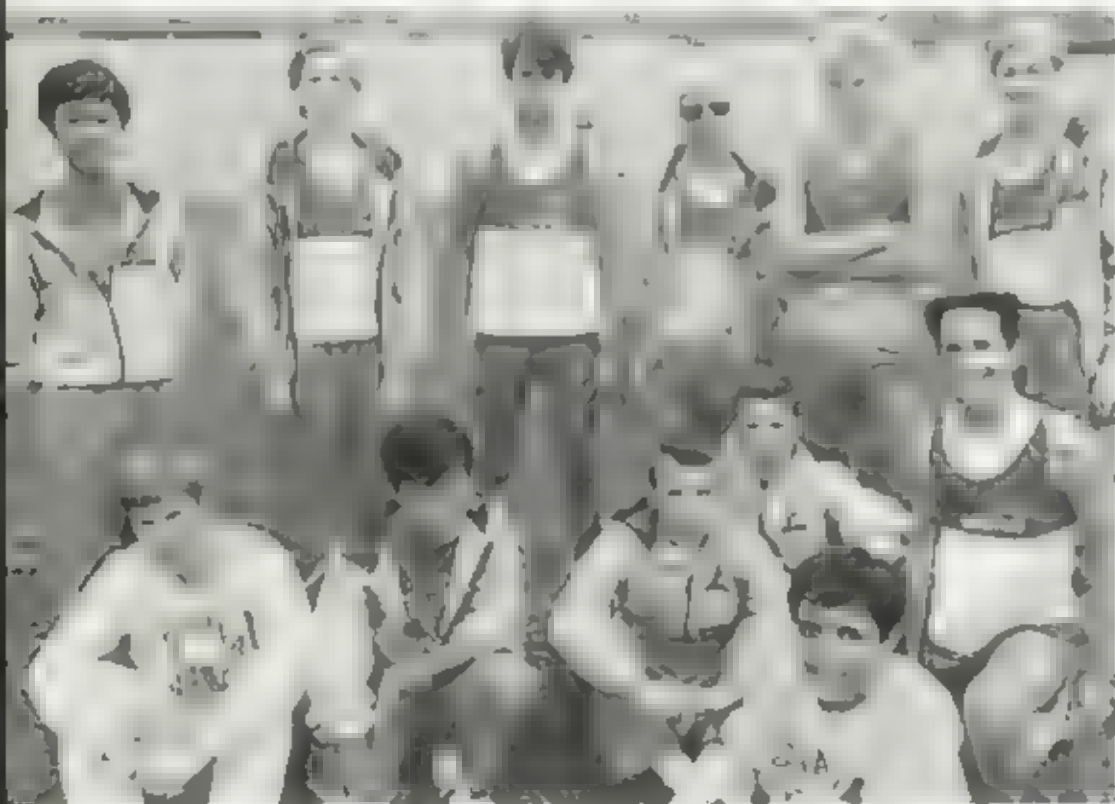

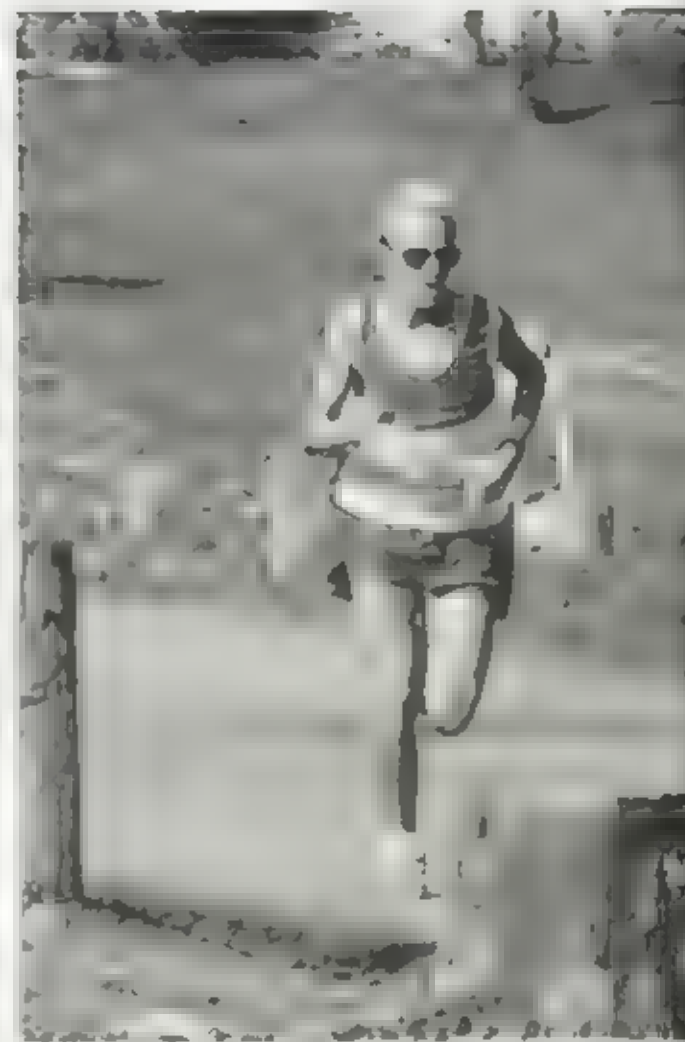

The Boys' Frosh/Soph Cross-Country persevered in this season's vigorous competition. They ran in three League duel meets; Craig Park Invitational, in which they captured second place; the Orange County Championship, placing third overall and the Buena Park Cross-Country Carnival, in which they received second place against such teams as Brea and Kennedy.

Coached by Glen Garson, the Frosh/Soph team consisted of twelve members. An outstanding performance was given by David Phelps who was also voted Most Valuable.

One of the strangest meets the team encountered was against Valencia and the bulldozers! Yes, bulldozers! The park where they were competing was under construction. To put a stop to this chaos, Mighty Coach Garson, surrounded by three big, yellow, growling bulldozers, roared at the drivers to get them removed from the road so the boys could compete.

Always ahead of the pack, David Phelps finished first at a Valencia vs. Savanna duel meet ▶

ORANGE LEAGUE CHAMPS

By Bonnie Sizemore

For the first time in the history of Savanna, the Girls' Cross-Country team became the undefeated, undisputed Orange League Champions. This year the girls put in a combined team effort and became known as the fastest team based on league meet times. They also obtained the best dual meet record: 7 wins, no losses; and for the second year in a row, won the league meet with 38 points.

This year, 7 out of 10 fastest 3-mile runners in Savanna's history were on the team. Scoring runners and CIF participants for the 1986 year were: Erika Lovett, (All-League) Melanie Arriaga, (All-League) Tracy Barrios, (team Captain) Shannon Cook, Emmy Bier, Laura Alexander, and Patricia Sturla

By Jill Treganowan

The lights were dimmed, the crowd hushed, and with increasing excitement, the fans awaited the entrance of the Varsity Wrestling Team.

With team leaders such as Tom Osendorf, Michael Rodriguez, Mathew Smith and Bryan Wilkerson, Savanna's Varsity Matsters were led with confidence, a positive attitude, and great determination.

Using these attributes, the Varsity Wrestling team outscored the Pioneers at Western for the first time in Savanna's history.

FROSH-SOPH AND JV WRESTLERS TAKE IT TO THE MAT . . .

Excitement is the one word to describe JV Wrestling.

Savanna wrestlers invest a lot of time and energy striving for success.

Coaches Dana Coleman, Chris Ma, Skip Dearmond and the wrestling team committed themselves to practices every day after school for two to three hours.

Sam Andresen and Dan Zimolzak, team captains, led the work-off drills and the wrestle-offs.

"This was one of the best wrestling teams in the last five years," observed Coach Coleman.

BIG SPLASH

By Janine Schumann

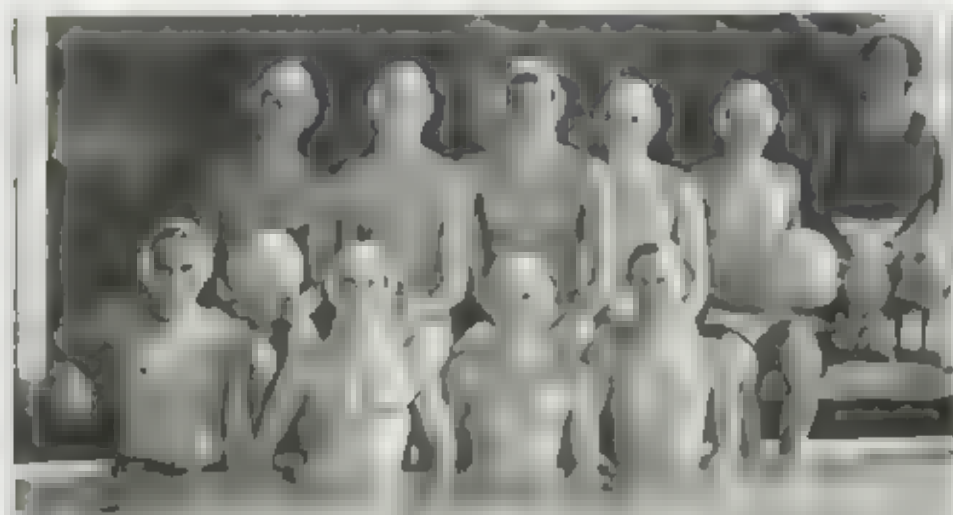

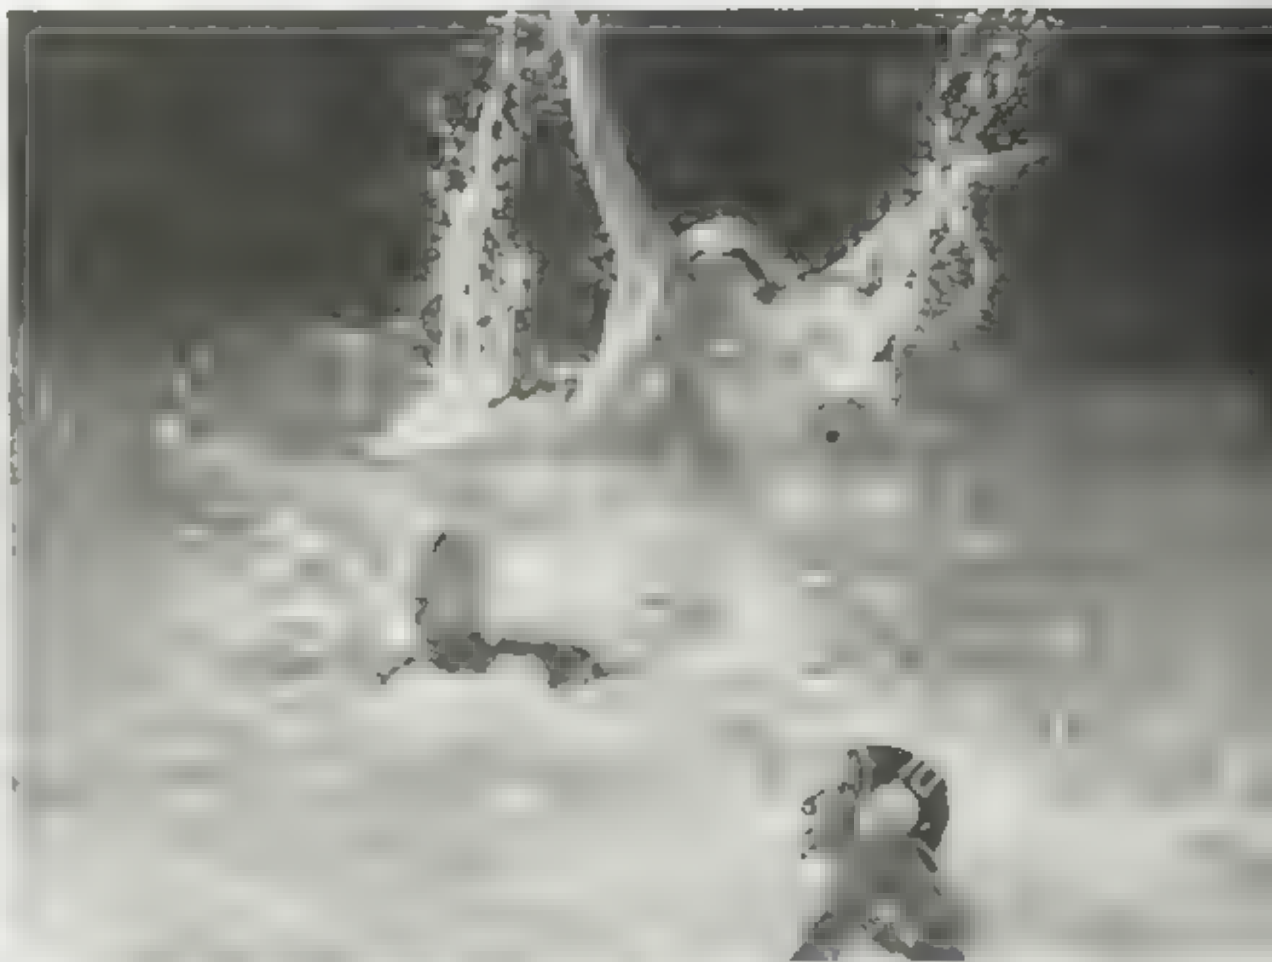

Who makes the goals with incredible energy and scores partly under water? Yes, the Varsity Water Polo team! Coach Smith helped the players make a big splash for the season.

The practices took a lot of effort to fight the cold weather at 5:30 or 6:00 in the morning.

Even though some graduating seniors, from 1986, were lost, the team used this season to rebuild themselves.

The captain of Varsity Water Polo team was Chad Woodrick, and Philip Clinton was named Most Valuable Player.

J.V. and Frosh-Soph Water Polo

By Nancy Perez

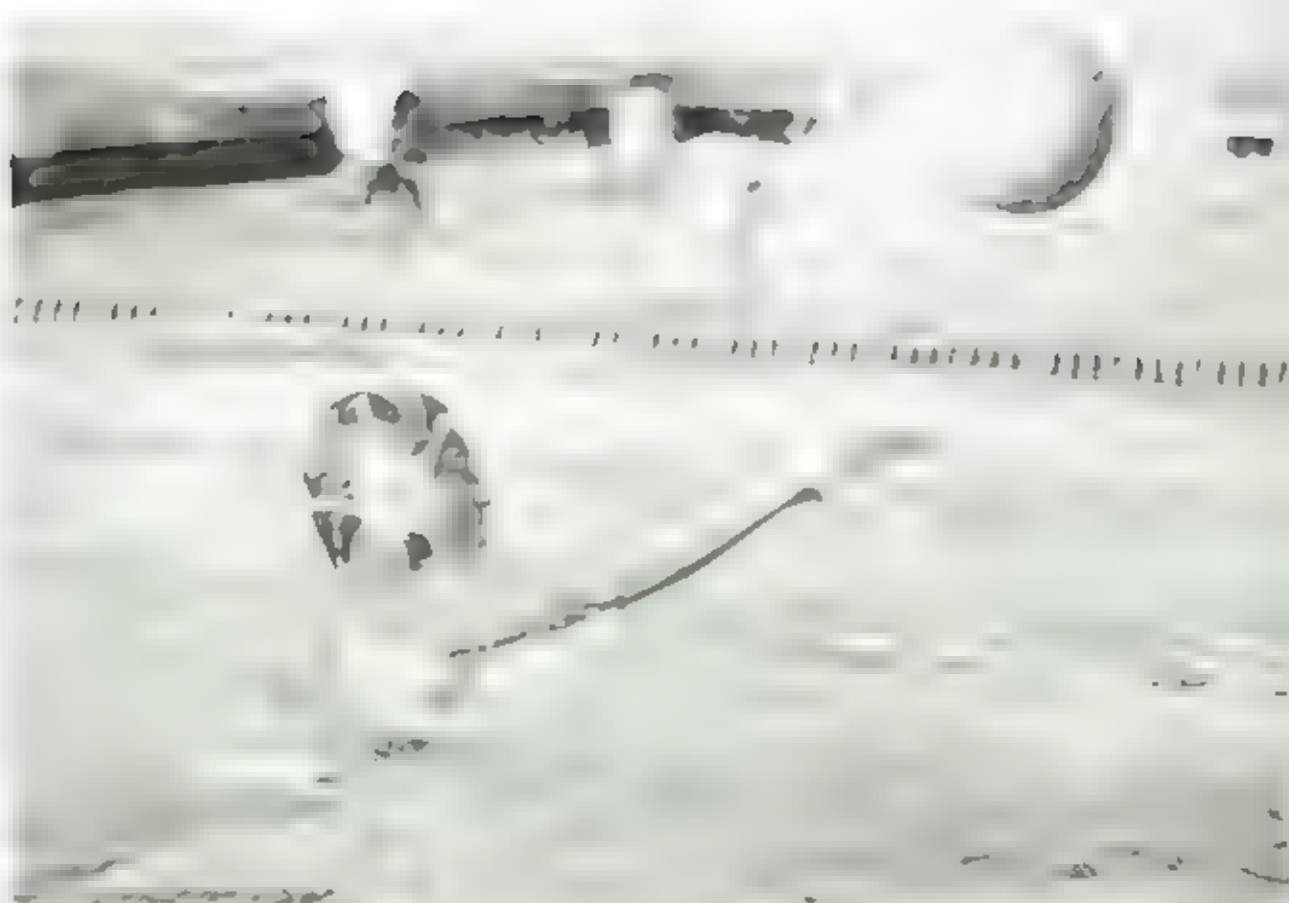

Savanna's water polo team started out with a "big splash" this year. There were many great team members representing Savanna this year, but the outstanding players were Robert Norwood for J.V. and John Day for frosh-soph. John and Robert were the highest scorers for J.V. and frosh-soph. Neither have ever played water polo before and they both learned very quickly.

Water polo requires players to be in excellent physical condition due to the nonstop movement.

When asked the hardest aspect of water polo, Grant Gifford replied, "Endurance! It's hard trying to last the whole game and stay afloat. If people only knew what it was like."

Philip Clinton commented about the most exciting game which was against Western, "We went into triple overtime. The first overtime the score was 9-9, then in 2nd overtime, 10-10, followed by a final 12-13, in their favor."

Rebel water polo players really displayed the stamina to make it work.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

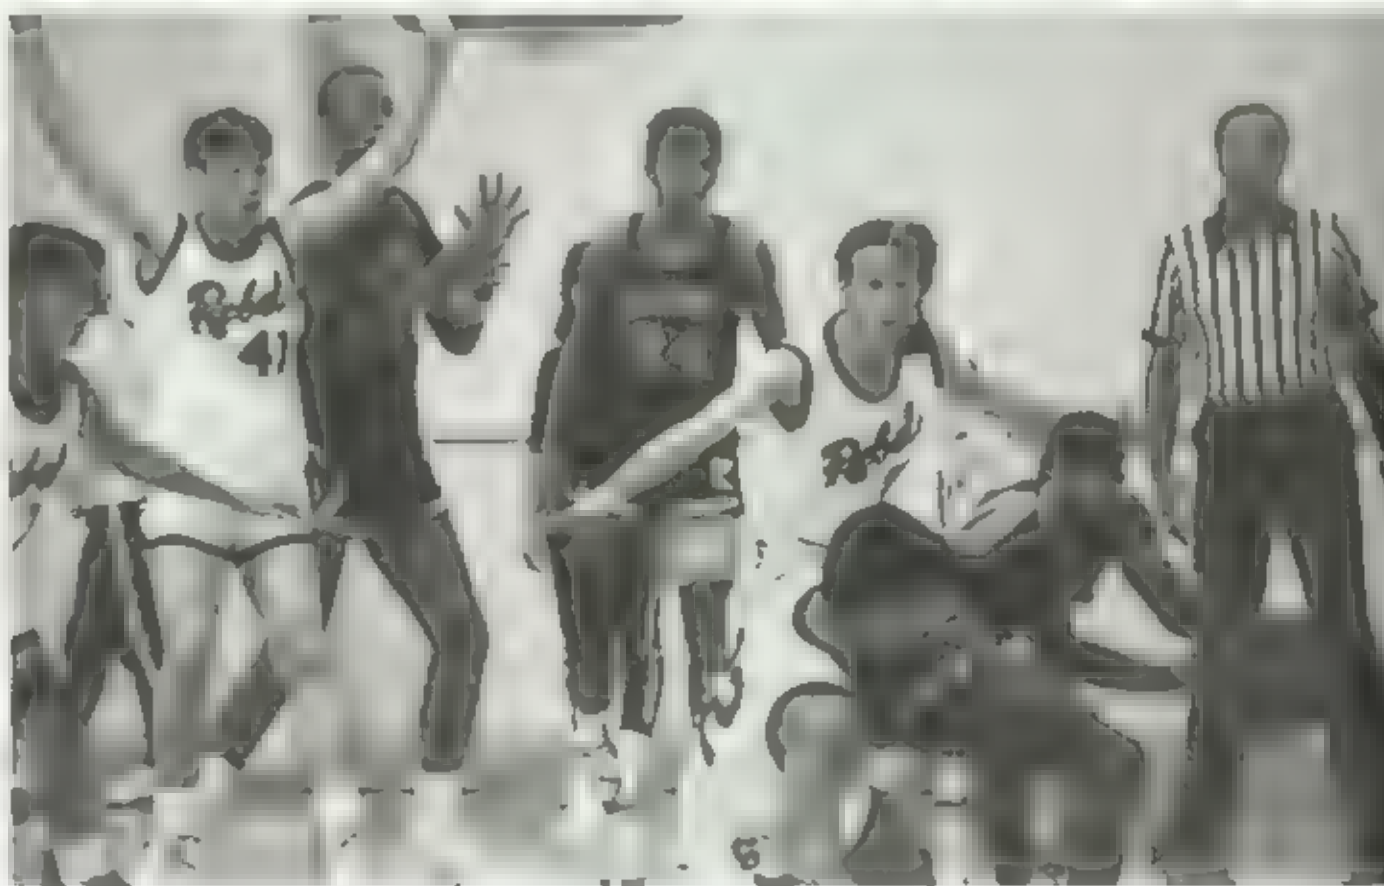

By Tracy Jenkins

This year's varsity basketball team was a fresh, new, young team. In fact, they were the youngest in Orange County. There were only two returning lettermen players on the team Mike Campbell and Mike Nguyen, which were also the lead scorers.

This year's head coach, Tom Gregory, described the competition within Orange League as being evenly balanced. He commented that the difference between last year's team and this year's was that the players had better attitudes which made them easier to work with in practices. Also, the players were taller than last year's which improved rebounding.

BALL BOUNCERS FROSH-SOPH BASKETBALL

By Sherrie Thomas

The thirteen members of the Freshman and Sophomore basketball team worked hard this past year to improve their skills. Before school started, the boys attended summer practices. While taking part in the summer program, the boys learned more about the fundamentals of the game: dribbling, shooting and rebounding.

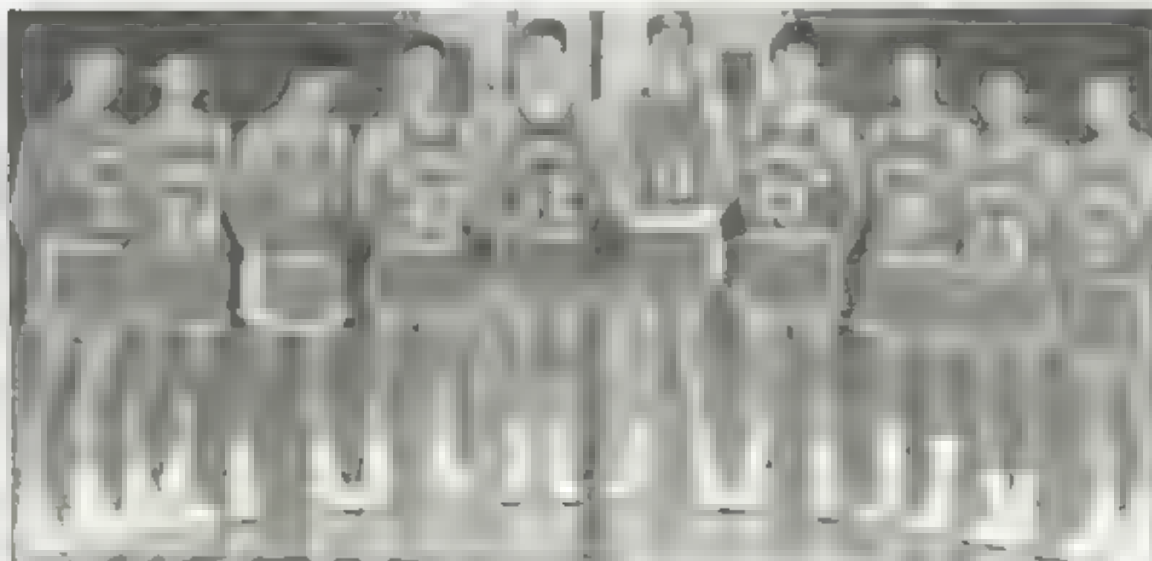

When the season began, the team members could see the benefits of their summer training. They played well in their games against Anaheim, Magnolia, Valencia and Western.

As the season came to an end, the individual players were proud of their team efforts. The Freshman team was fortunate to be coached by Phil Hill, and the Sophomore team by David Trevett.

DEFENSE:

JV Basketball Teams Perfect Basic Skills

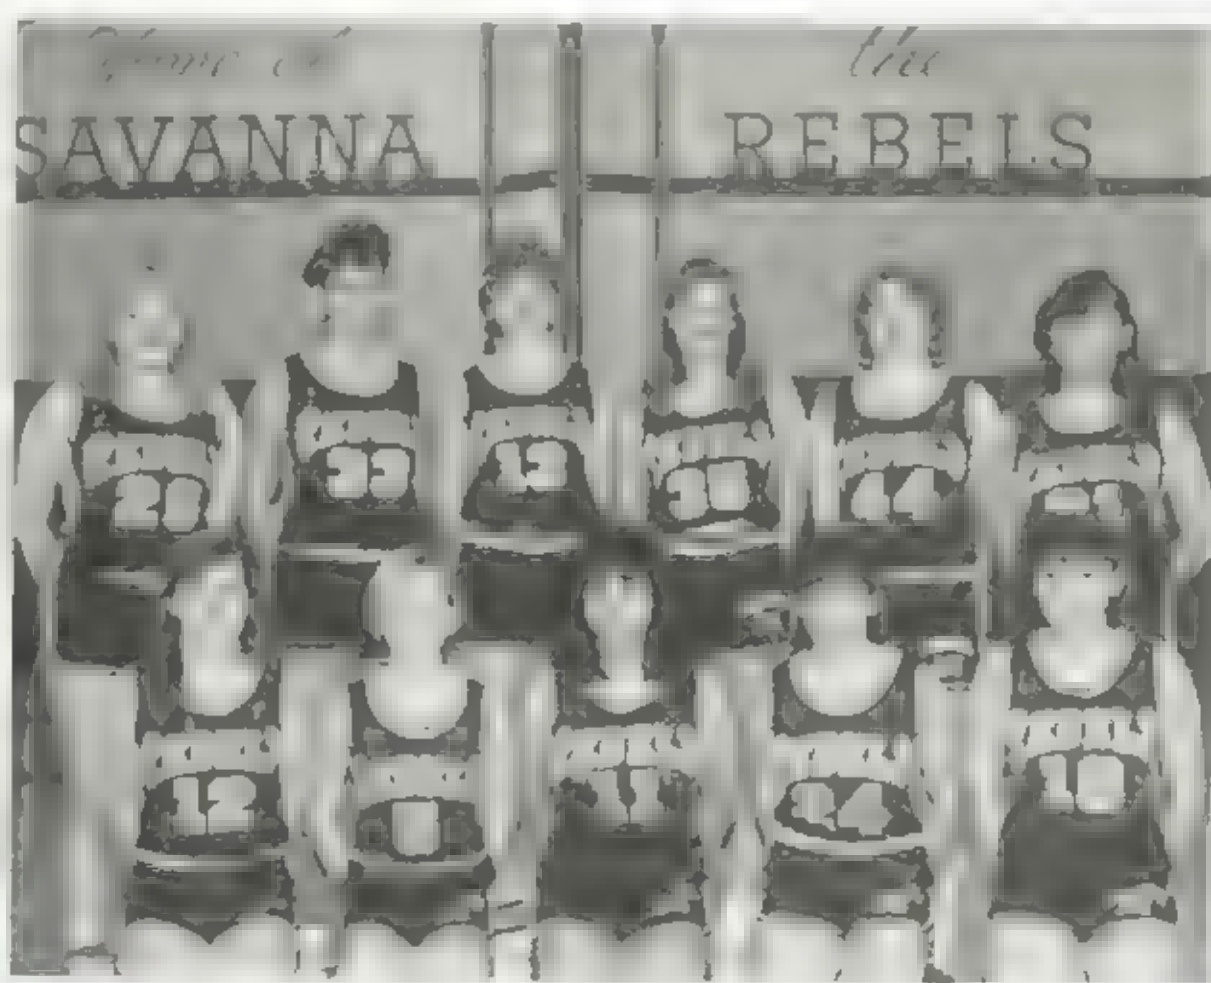

By Kim McAdam

With nine seconds left on the clock, Frank Soukhaseum made two perfect free throws to win the game against Anaheim! With a winning attitude and skill like this, it is no wonder the boys' and girls' junior varsity basketball teams got off to such a good start in the 1987 season.

Since junior varsity players are still learning the art of basketball, all games were important. But to some, games like the one against Anaheim and the Esperanza tournament, where the boys' JV conquered Artesia for the championship, stand out as ones likely to be remembered. The Esperanza tourney will always be remembered by Bryan Bradberry and Eric Shinkle, for it was there that they were named most outstanding players.

To prepare for their games and next year's Varsity team, the players practiced from 1:50-3:30 daily. Basic skills such as passing, dribbling, lay-ups, and shooting were perfected. Defensive combat is a necessary talent which is stressed and as Coach Joslyn says, "Defense is played with your feet, now move your feet!!"

Runnin' Rebs Display Determination

By Christi LeNarz

Buzz!

The timer sounded, signaling the end of the girls' game. The Runnin' Rebels hurried off court to be congratulated by Coach Pickler on their energetic game.

This year's Girls' Varsity Basketball showed a great deal of stamina and determination through both pre-league and league play. In contrast to last year's older and more experienced team, the team this year included only two returning Varsity players, Lisa Rios and Ann Sugano. These two girls led the team in points while the others backed them up with improvement every day.

Coach Brad Pickler, in his 7th year of coaching, worked the girls as hard as ever, having them practice from 1:30 to 3:30 on non-game days. This practice paid off as they became more and more diligent.

And just what did "Pick" have to say about all this as he ran back and forth baking brownies for an evening game?

"If this team sticks together and works hard for the next two years, we will have a very strong Varsity team!"

BOYS' VARSITY SWIMMING

By Nancy Perez

The Boys' Varsity Swim Team completed its strongest and most successful season yet. With Mrs. Smith and Mr. Dobkins sharing in the coaching responsibilities, the team members showed more spirit, cohesiveness and dedication than in years past which led to a winning season.

Practices stressed "Race Pace," a demanding workout regime which concentrated on the blood supplying more oxygen to the brain and other parts of the body. Swimmers were encouraged to keep pushing even when tired in order to build stamina and overall conditioning.

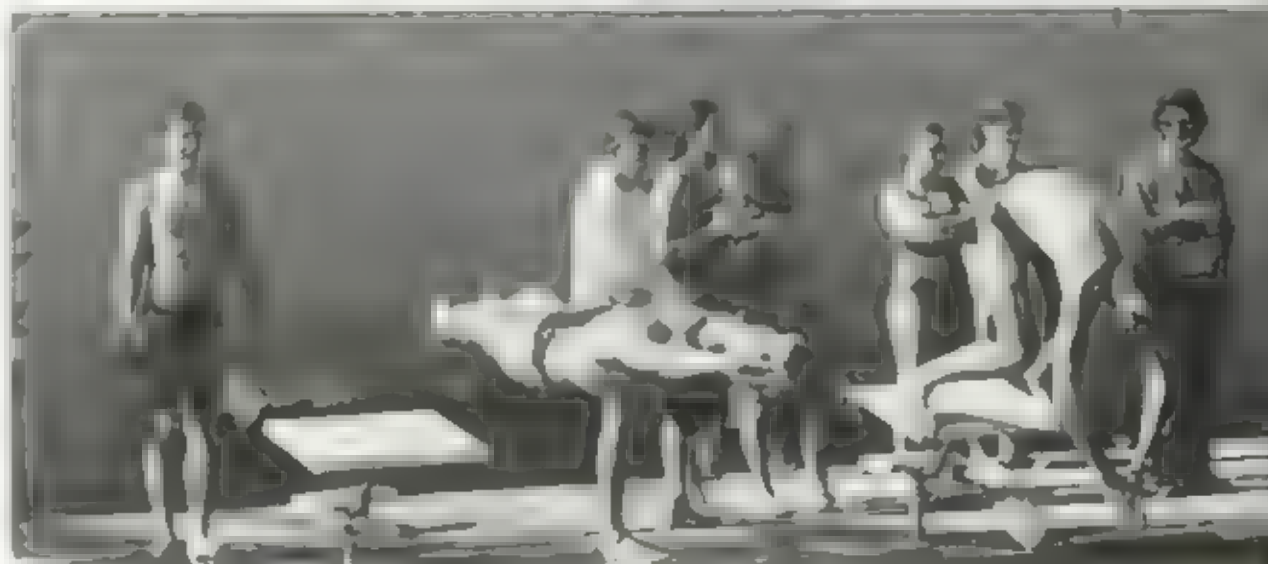

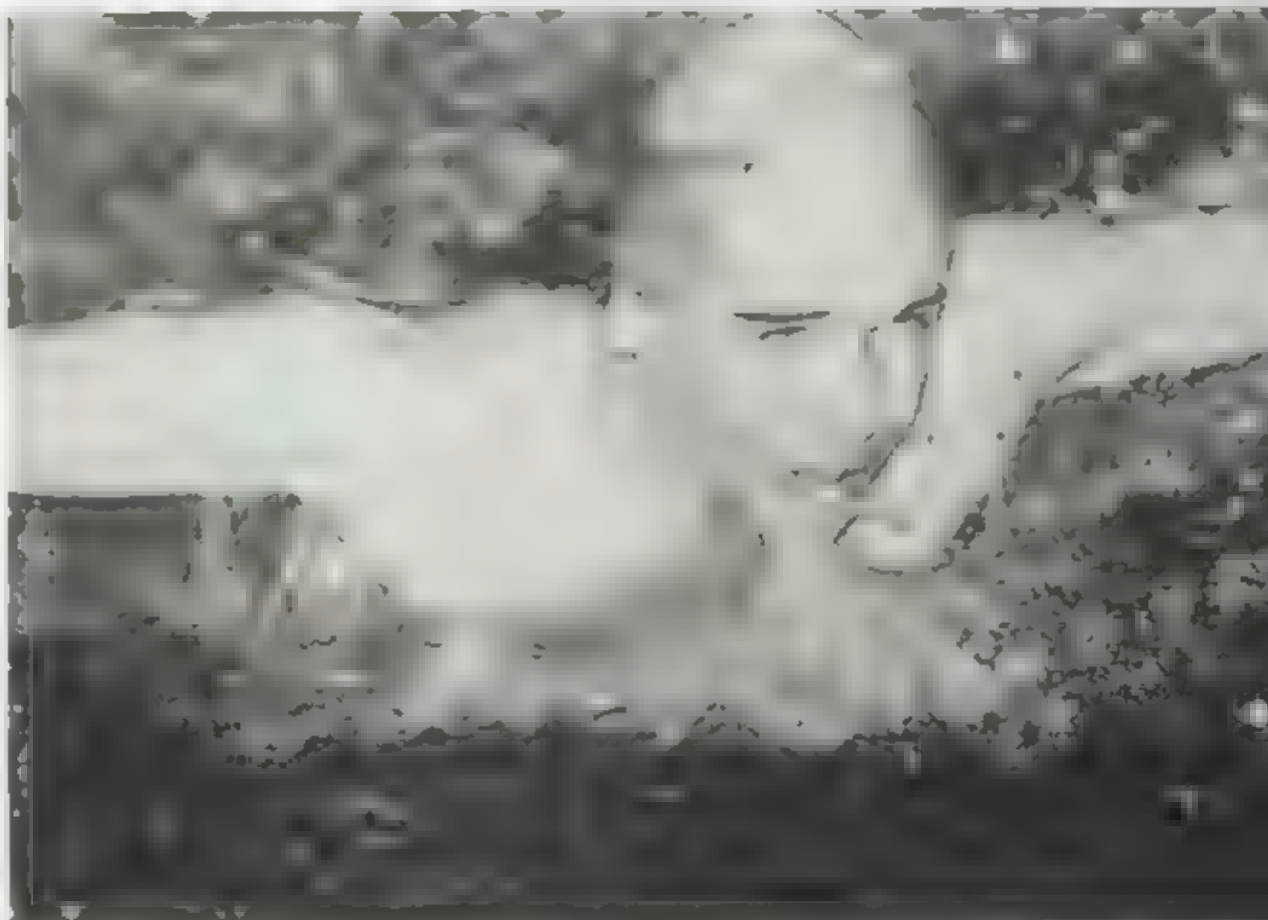

Outstanding CIF qualifiers Phillip Clinton and sophomore-newcomer Jerry Wilson backed up by Team Captain Chad Woodrick, helped to rack up points against such teams as Santiago, Brea and Loara.

Coach Smith concluded, "I can honestly say that this is the best boys' swim team we've had at Savanna."

CLINTON, CIF FINALIST

For the last four years, there has been an excellent swimmer and waterpolo player. This of course is Phillip Clinton.

He has been swimming since he was two, and swimming for Savanna since his freshman year.

Phillip placed 1st in CIF. In fact, at the first swim meet, he had already qualified for the 50 and 100 yard freestyle in CIF.

Phillip has made a lasting impression here at Savanna and looks forward to several scholarship offers.

DROWNING THE COMPETITION

J.V. GIRLS' AND FROSH-SOPH BOYS' SWIM

By Helen Cho

Think of yourself coming to school at 5:30 in the morning every day. Savanna's J.V. Girls' and Boys' Frosh/Soph Swim team did just that. In addition to early mornings, they worked out after school frequently until 5 o'clock.

Both the girls and boys had an outstanding season, thanks to the help of Coach Smith and Coach Dobkins.

Among the girls' J.V. team, were point leaders and twins, Alice and Keri Slaughter. With the help of Robert Norwood and Alex Luna the Frosh/Soph boys also swam a great season.

Both teams were victorious in their meets against Whitney and Loara and kept up the winning spirit throughout the season.

GIRLS' VARSITY SWIMMING DOES IT WITH

STYLE

By Melissa Vickers

1987 Girls' Varsity Savanna Swim was the largest and most successful the school has ever had. The coaches, Mrs. Smith and Mr. Dobkins, demanded 100% from those 27 girls at all times.

Speed, strokes, race pace, and conditioning were most concentrated on in the practices; the hardest being, continuing to work even when tired.

Although the event that the girls had to work the most on was the butterfly, they excelled in the sprint, freestyle, and the individual medley — which is 2 laps of each stroke. The most demanding events were the 100 butterfly and the 500 freestyle.

Trying to focus only on their races was the most difficult part of competition. The toughest competitors were Valencia and Brea.

The outstanding swimmers were Jodi Reynolds, Nina Hayes, Jenny Beck, and Stacy Sutton. The team captain was Stacy Sutton. Unfortunately, there weren't many girls who turned out to be CIF caliber this year.

Mrs. Smith stated, "This was the best season yet at Savanna. Finishing near the top was very rewarding."

REBEL PRIDE HITS A HOMER

By Lynette Young

Rebel pride hit a homer this year with Boys' Varsity Baseball. The team boasted eleven Seniors and three Juniors.

This year's team was selected by past playing experience on lower level teams and by tryouts to select new players. During tryouts the coaches looked for dedication, enthusiasm, desire, and the ability to work with others in a team effort.

To stay on the Varsity team, players needed to keep at least a 2.00 GPA and not be failing any classes.

Coach Quigley, assisted by former alumni Adam Hopkins, expected hard work which came with hours of intense practice. The team ran grass laps and practiced hitting off the pitching machine.

The baseball program sold Christmas gift items, M&M's, ad space in the baseball program, and sponsored a Hit a Thon in order to raise money for new equipment.

The Varsity team had a quality season due to having players that were strong and ready for some serious baseball. They enjoyed outstanding pitching by Robert Lee, Kenny Tolbert, and Bobby Chapman, in addition to the power hitting of Jimmy Young, Jason Paulus, and Brian Nelson.

This was definitely a year for Rebel Pride!"

BOYS' J.V. BASEBALL STRIKES IT BIG

By Tracy Jenkins

This year's Junior Varsity baseball team had a fresh start with only five returning players which included David Marlowe, David Wood, Jeff Parker, Kevin Thomas, and Luis Perez. The team also had a bright, young, new coach, Greg Marchant.

During practices and try-outs, there were 25 boys. But in the end, only 16 of them made the team.

When asked who the most difficult teams would be, Coach Marchant correctly predicted them to be Magnolia and Western.

GET A CLUE, BLUE!

By Janine Schumann

Are you wondering what the saying "Get A Clue, Blue" means? Well, to Girls' Varsity Softball, it is very familiar. The team players were very energetic at games and directed the phrase to umpires that make a questionable call.

The softball team was headed by a new coach this past year, Mr. John Kaylor. He showed a relaxed style that tended to put his players at-ease during the daily, after school practices.

With six starting players the varsity team consisted of a total of fifteen girls including, returning pitcher Nadine Ditto who began her varsity career as a freshman. This year she was backed-up by Mariann Marting, a strong utility player.

As Rosie Ferrante, a returning Varsity player noted "This year with the help of our new coach and team captains, we had a satisfying season."

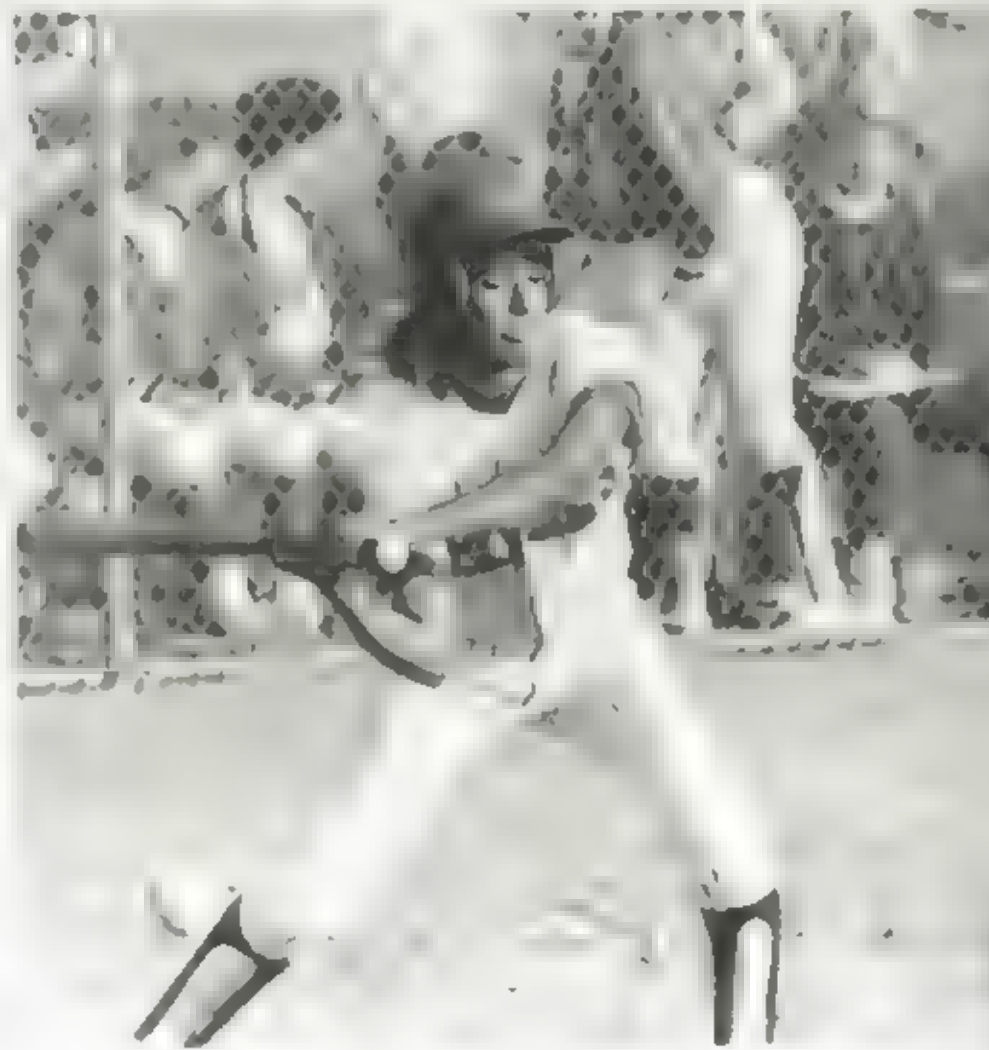

If you ever go to a softball game and you think the umpire has made an error be sure to yell with the rest of the team, "Get a Clue, Blue" or "Get a Clue on Reality!"

GIRLS' JV SOFTBALL STARTS STRONG

By Eugene Roman

"It's a tough, competitive sport and sometimes you get hurt," noted JV player Lisa Martinez as she pulled up her pant revealing several cuts and bruises.

The JV Girls' Softball Team, after losing their first two games, made a turn around and scored 6 wins, most notably against Sonora, with a score of 16-0.

First year coach, Bob Egan, stressed consistent hitting, which was an initial weakness.

"As long as we don't give up any runs and the girls keep their heads in the game, we'll continue to be very competitive," noted Coach Egan.

The team was fortunate to have an outstanding pitcher, freshman Carrie Swartz, who averaged 7 strike-outs per game. Leading the team in hitting was Paulette Sakly, with an average of .538.

"I'm hoping to get these girls ready to play varsity softball!" concluded Coach Egan.

BOYS' FROSH/SOPH BASEBALL

MAKES A HIT

By Lynette Young

The Frosh and Frosh/Soph baseball season began with a series of tryouts. Coach Hofentza and Coach Dickies were looking for speed, the ability to connect with the ball and a strong desire to play the game.

The teams began the season with some difficult competition, but the daily, three-hour practice improved the players' hitting ability and speed.

Coach Hofentza continued to stress confidence to the new freshmen, who at times tended to become somewhat nervous during the closing innings of a game.

"A big disadvantage to the Frosh team," noted Zach Hofentza, "is having to play most games against more experienced Frosh/Soph teams."

Throughout the season, players still were required to have as much drive and confidence as they did while in tryouts.

GIRLS' GYMNASTICS

By Donna Barth

The gymnastics team was coached by a first year team of brothers, Mark and Dave Butler

These coaches got down to basics when it came time to practice. They helped the new girls on easy moves such as splits and rolls. Once improved, they were able to move onto more advanced skills such as, round-offs, handsprings, and aernals

THE WILD MEN OF POWDER PUFF

By Nikki Neville

Never has any school activity produced such a rowdy, spirited audience as the powder puff assembly. The crowd had a good time swaying and singing along to the music while the performers kept everyone laughing. The entertainment consisted of original routines by Junior and Senior powder puff cheerleaders and the powder puff drill team.

The powder puff routines were put to popular music which had a strong, rhythmic beat. The guys were freaking, snaking, and shaking their hips and shoulders.

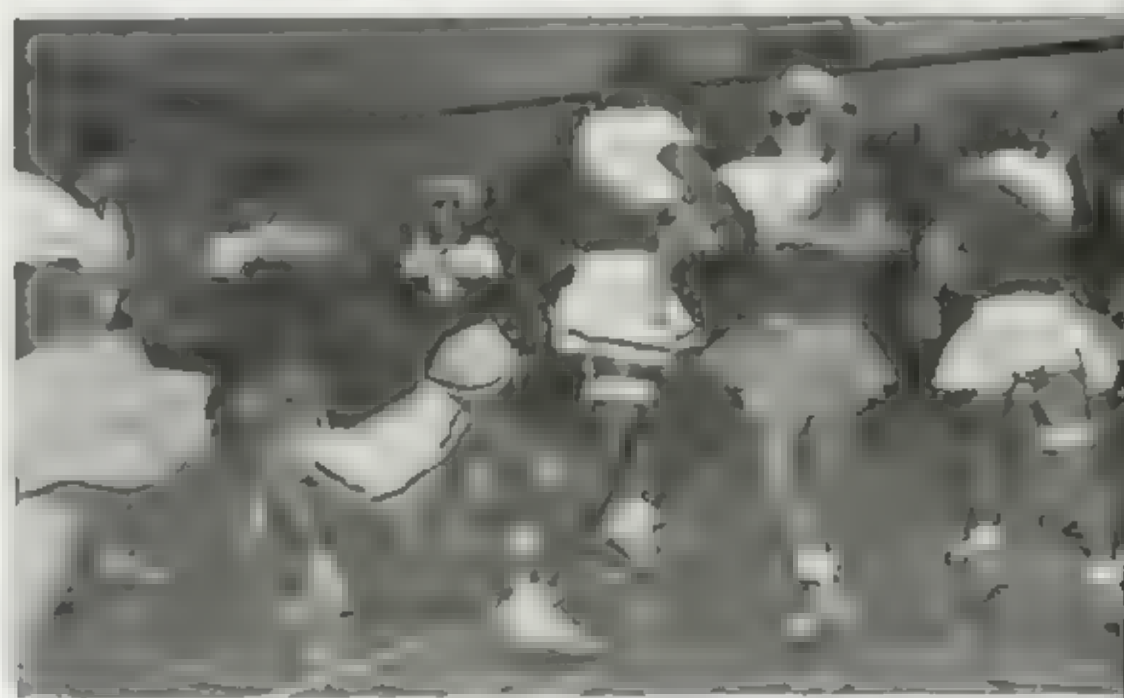

Even though the practices were rather relaxed, where most of the time was spent laughing, the guys turned out to be great performers.

WE ARE THE CHAMPIONS

Seniors Claim Victory

By Eugene Roman

What's going on when the girls dress up as football players and the guys disguise themselves as cheerleaders? It's Powder Puff! This year was the 19th annual game with the Seniors crushing the Juniors 6-0.

It was a tough match with Monique Beatty scoring the winning touchdown along with the help of her teammates.

Before the game, both Mr. Dahlem and Mr. Parish warned the players about not using foul language or risk being kicked out of the event. Fortunately, their advice was for the most part taken to heart, although the male cheerleaders, which doubled as coaches, at times got carried away with their female impersonations.

As senior Melinda Ramirez exclaimed, "I knew we were going to win! It was just a matter of time!"

Congratulations to the class of 1987!

BOYS' VARSITY TRACK KEEPING TRACK OF . . .

By Joan Chang

Track isn't what many students assume it to be. It involves the 100, 200, 400, 800 meters, 1 mile, and the 2 mile. Discus and shot require strength while the pole vault and high jump are just the opposite.

"To learn to pole vault," observed Coach Garson, "the requirement is to be completely nuts. It takes a lot of courage to be hanging in mid-air!"

High jump involved not only jumping ability but also what's known as the "Fosbury Flop," where one must arch backwards to go over the pole.

Practices were usually every day from 2:00 until 3:30 p.m. and sometimes even on weekends. This fortunately paid off as the team won its first game against Fullerton. The team learned to work together, encourage each other and carry on as a team.

Outstanding athletes were Russ Follmer in the hurdles, Artis Williams in both sprints and jumps, Robert Torbert and Daryl Hicks in the 440 and Tom Osendorf in the shot and discus.

"This was the best group of young track athletes in the last 5 years at Savanna!" quipped Coach Garson.

"BEST IN THE 80's" BOYS' FROSH-SOPH TRACK

By Melinda Ramirez

One of the more exhausting sports offered at Savanna this year was track. The Boys' Frosh-Soph Track team was led by Coach Glen Garson who has been coaching track at Savanna for 5 years.

The many events included running, hurdling, pole vaulting, high jump, long jump, triple jump, shot put, and the discus throw. Everyone practiced everyday after school from 2.00 to 3:30 on the track.

Some of the returning athletes were Mike Gutierrez and Dave Phelps who were chosen as the most valuable players of the season. The team captains of the Boys' Frosh-Soph squad were Russell Follmer and Daryl Hicks.

Coach Garson had a lot of confidence in his team and said that they were potentially the best Frosh Soph team in the 80's. "They are a hard-working disciplined bunch," he concluded

GIRLS' TRACK SPEEDS UP

"Our success in league this year depends on how we compare in strength to our competition, primarily Valencia, which has had a long tradition of winning," observed Doug Hastings, Girls' Track Coach.

This year's runners began the season undefeated and boasted seven returning league finalists from last year's runner-up team.

Excelling in long distance were Melanie Arriaga and Tracy Barrios, with Erika Lovett standing out in the mid distances. Lisa Rios continued to be strong in the jumps, while Heide Cox and Karena Lee made their mark in the shotput and discus. Dominating the sprints was Emmy Bier along with two rookies, Staci Calhoun and Elizabeth Pena, who were strong in the long jump and distance respectively.

With this group made up of mostly juniors, next year's team should be even stronger and more experienced.

THE GOLF TEAM HITS IT WITH THEIR BEST SHOT

By Sherrie Thomas

Being located right next door to "Dad Miller's Golf Course" has proven to be an advantage for those students seeking to improve their golf game.

During 6th period students practiced Monday-Thursday and as members of the Orange League, played tournaments at Mile Square, Willowick, Alta Vista, Los Coyotes, and Imperial golf courses. The high schools have a contract with the city of Anaheim for the use of golf courses and the fee is divided evenly among all the schools.

To letter in golf, players had to participate in at least half of the matches and play a consistent game. This meant averaging in the low 40's for 9 holes. In addition, each player was required to have his own set of golf clubs.

The leading contenders for the #1 spot on the team were Jeff Rodriguez and Scott Paul. Other returning lettermen were Roger Domen and Steve Frias.

Thanks to Coach Cross, who has been coaching golf for 21 years, the team has enjoyed a season of consistent leadership.

RUSSELL FOLLMER

By Melinda Ramirez

Who is the most spirited boy on campus? Yes, he's our 1987 Mr. Rebel of Savanna, Russell Follmer.

Serving as Co-Commissioner of Pep, Russell was very active in school activities. Just a few of his responsibilities included organizing Homecoming Assembly '85. He also contributed greatly throughout his years at Savanna by helping set up Rebel Show '86, and assisting with Pride Day '84-'86.

Some activities in which Russ participated were Powder Puff Cheer, Inter-Club Council, and NHS for 2 years. Russell was also a daring member of Girls' League for one year. Russ was not only elected as Junior Class President, but was also active in Sophomore, Junior, and Senior House

Being a member of Pep Club, Varsity Club, Student Congress, and Student Council for 3 years was a hard task, but Russell managed to succeed.

Another activity in which Russell was very active was sports. He lettered one year in Varsity Wrestling, and 4 years in Varsity Cross-Country. He also earned 7 medals in Track Relays and became the most valuable runner in '85-'86. Along with his team, Russell went to C.I.F. in '83 and set two school records for 300m intermediate hurdles. Then went to C.I.F. in '86 for hurdles.

If anyone should be recognized for being Mr. Rebel, it should be someone with a lot of school spirit. Russell Follmer fits the description perfectly.

PAMELA WHITTAKER

By Melinda Ramirez

1987's Ms. Rebel of Savanna was presented to Pamela Whittaker.

As A.S.B. Vice President, Pam has been actively involved not only in school activities but community and church projects as well. Some of Pam's duties as A.S.B. Vice President included the morning announcements, changing the center marquee, Teacher and Staff Appreciation and Teachers of the Quarter awards. Other involvement at Savanna included Student Congress President in which she held meetings to inform the Student Body of upcoming events. She was also an active member of Pep Club, Girls' League, and CSF. In addition, she held the position of Treasurer of NHS and was a student representative on G.A.T.E. Committee.

In the athletic field, she participated as a Varsity Cheerleader, and an active player on the Junior and Senior Powder Puff Football team, and still had time to be a JV Volleyball team member.

One of the most outstanding accomplishments was when Pam represented Savanna's Student Body at the "Just Say No To Drugs And Alcohol"

Convention. Pam was also a regular volunteer at Republican Headquarters and American Red Cross in Anaheim.

In Pam's church involvement she served as Church President of Class of Young Women. She was also elected Vice President of the Junior-Senior Class in Seminary and was selected by church adult leaders to serve as Co-Chairperson for Youth Conference.

Voted by students to be most likely to be President, Pamela Whittaker is well on her way

As I leave Savanna, I would not like to be remembered as much as these words. God loves you and created you to have a personal relationship with him. Jesus Christ came to earth, lived a sinless life and through his death paid the perfect price for all man's sins. All you must do to have an eternal relationship with God is believe in his son, ask for his forgiveness, and let him live in you. Chad and Kathy Thanks, you both are the best. Thanks for sticking with me MOM and DAD Swimmers, you guys are awesome Appelle

Peace in my mind I'm so happy to find, that things fall in place when you just have faith, naive and wise with no sense of time, as I set my clock to a heart beat tic-toc, violent and mild common sense says I wild, with this mixed up fury and crazy beauty, it is healthy to find all these feelings inside, as I get on my track with a head start back to truth Hey, Hey, Hey^m

Hugo Rico Jr.

Time Will Tell

By K. M. Adam

On November 21st at 12:10 Principal Dave Steinie and President Stacey Grennie unlocked the secrets stored in the capsule. Inside they discovered newspaper articles and essays written by the students on what Earth would be like in 1986.

The capsule was originally planned as part of "Earth Day," during an era when ecology and preservation concerned many people.

To continue the tradition, a 1986 time capsule was buried. In it lie memories from the 1986-87 school year. We look forward to the opening in the year 2001.

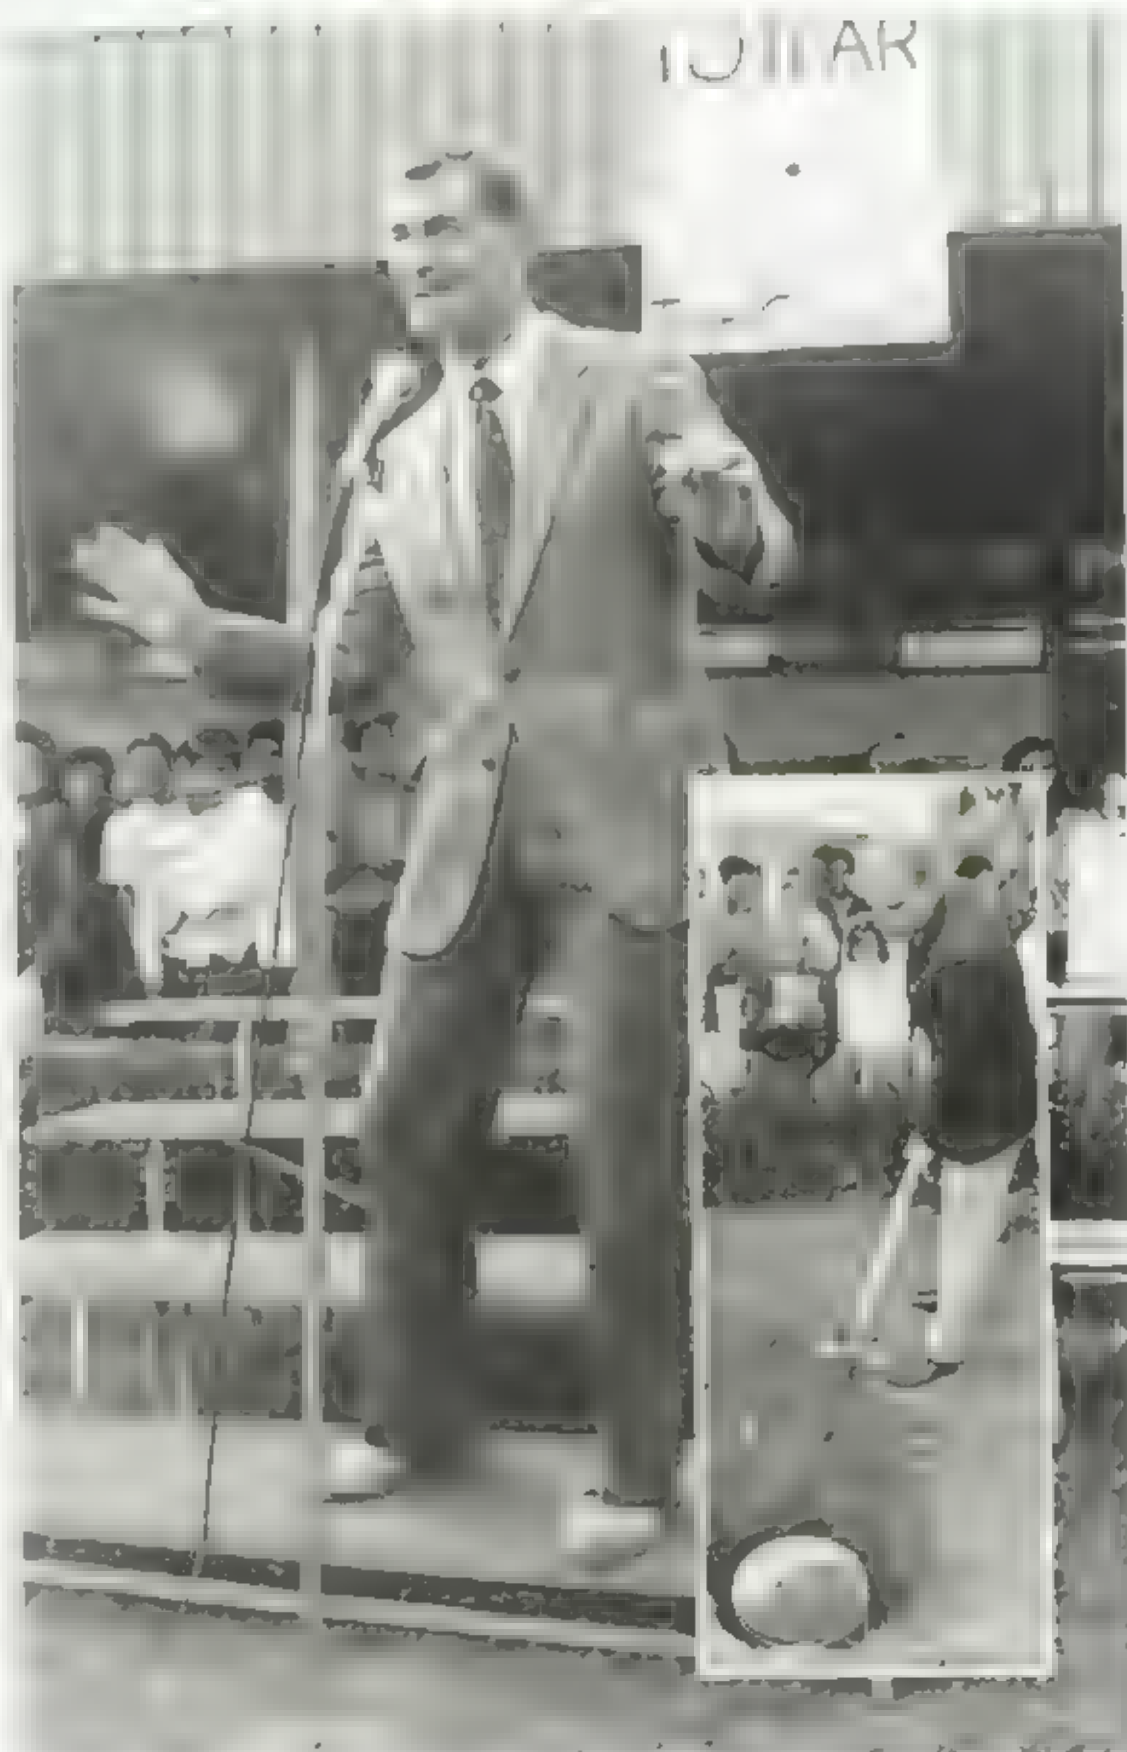

Vice Principal John Dahlem and custodian George Nakayama use the pictures from the 1971 annual of the original burial to locate the capsule. ▲

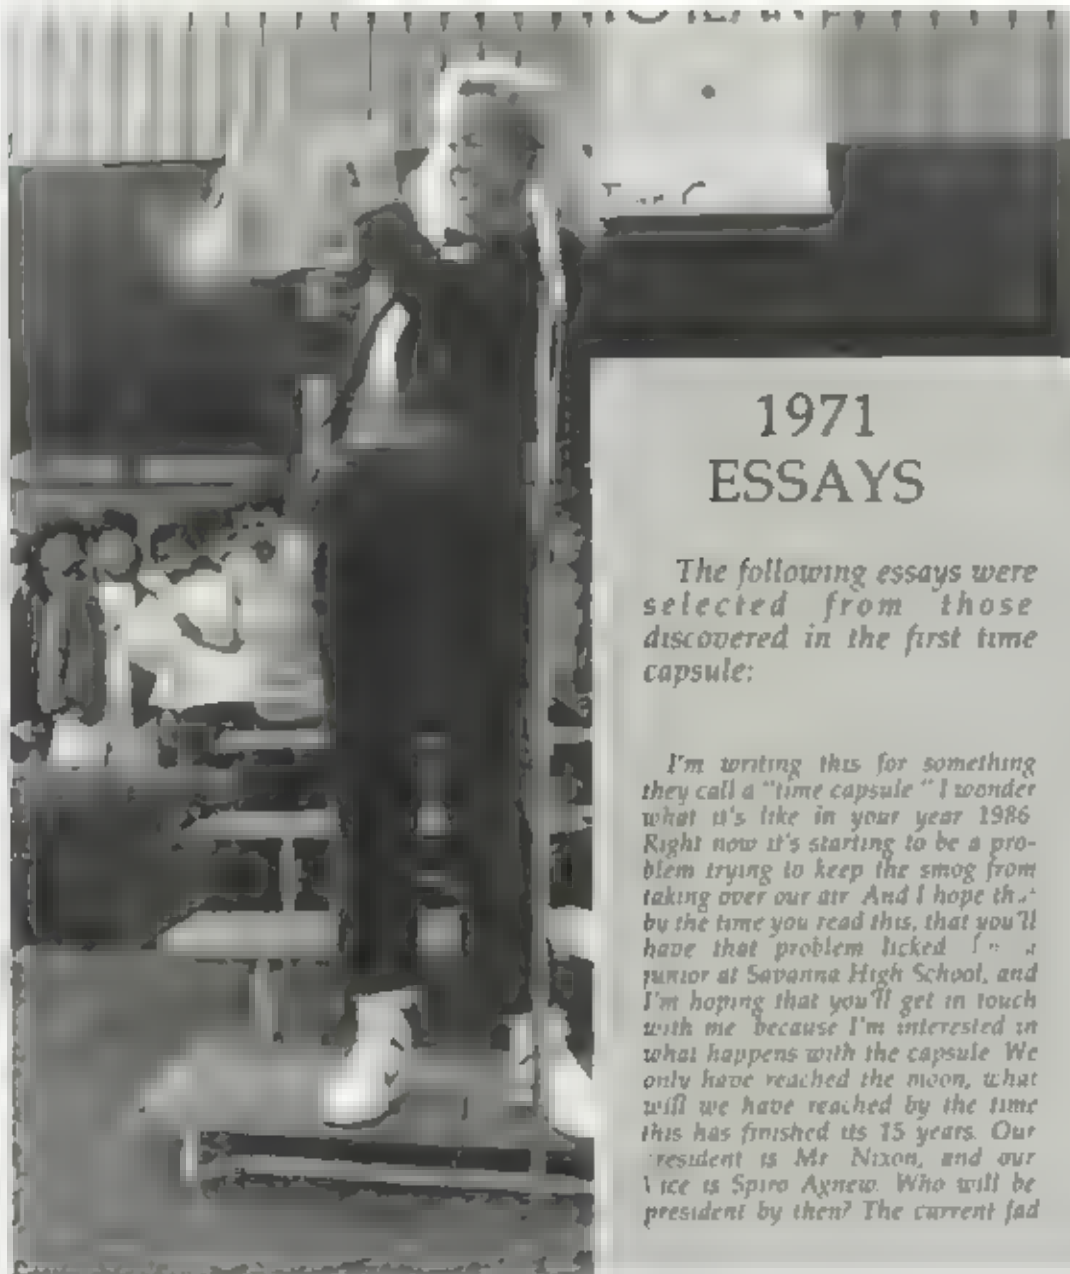

Principal of Savanna in 1971, Bob Ross was able to attend the Unearthing Ceremonies. Inset: 1986 Principal Dave Steinie buried the new capsule which will be rediscovered in 15 years. ►

Have you ever wondered what the future holds in store for us, our school, our world? The student body in 1971 considered this and on May 6th they preserved their ideas in a "Time Capsule" to be opened 15 years later.

Mr. Silvey watches as George Nakayama continues the frustrating search for the capsule. It took two days before the capsule was discovered.

Leading the ceremonies Michelle McCay displays the treasures found in the first time capsule

1971 ESSAYS

The following essays were selected from those discovered in the first time capsule:

I'm writing this for something they call a "time capsule." I wonder what it's like in your year 1986. Right now it's starting to be a problem trying to keep the smog from taking over our air. And I hope that by the time you read this, that you'll have that problem licked. I'm a junior at Savanna High School, and I'm hoping that you'll get in touch with me because I'm interested in what happens with the capsule. We only have reached the moon, what will we have reached by the time this has finished its 15 years. Our president is Mr. Nixon, and our vice is Spiro Agnew. Who will be president by then? The current fad is wearing Levi's and desert boots, and hair is long down to our shoulders (this is the boy). The girl has mini skirts.

— Mike Bryant, 1971

Beautiful America 15 years from now. Oh (beautiful), for smoggy skies, with ugly waves of trash with brown, dead mountains majestic above the fruitless plains. America, America, God shed his grace on thee (and we will need it) and crown thy good with brass-nuckles, from sea to polluted sea.

— De Sandra Ewing, 5/6/71

You will be choking on the air. I will be dead and the girl next to me will be married and have five kids. This school will be burned down. All the teachers will be computers. The rebel statue will be yellow or green again. It will have guards around it.

Mary Ann Kumerow

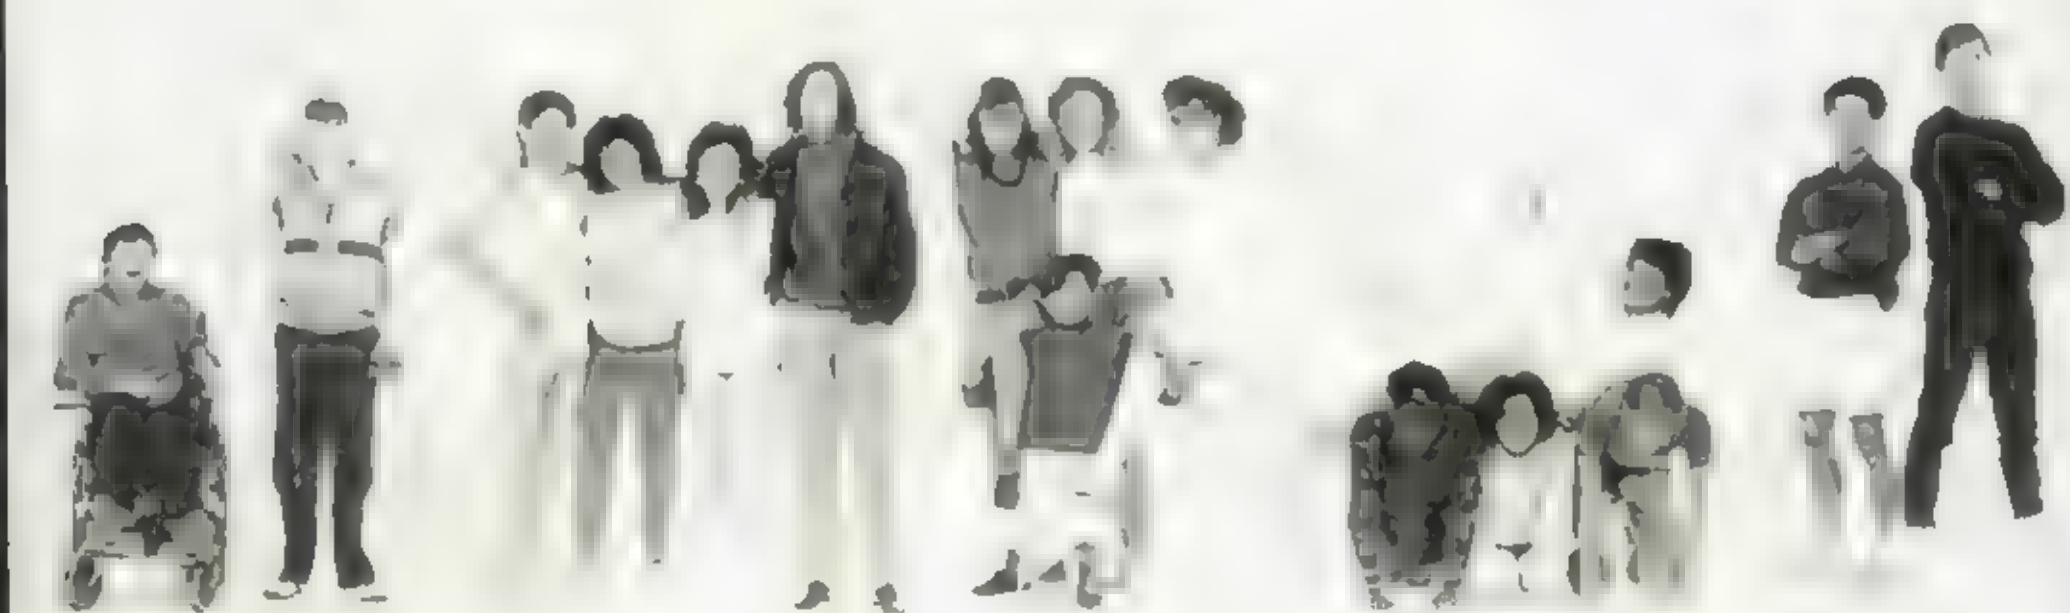

In charge of organizing the Unearthing Ceremonies, Mrs. Pansy Vande Steeg sorts out the various historical essays and periodicals.

Mary,
It was great
having you in cooking
Thank you all the answers. You are a real sweet person and I hope we can always be friends. Have a fun summer. I'm sure
I will see you.

Love,
Lynn

Mary,

It was great knowing
you. You are a very funny person. Have fun over the summer. Have fun with Tony.

Mary,

Hi! Arent you glad school's almost out and we'll come back next year as juniors! Good luck
in the future
and have a great summer.

Love Cristina

Mary,

It was cool having you in my cooking class. I know we started off on bad terms, but now it's cool. You are a really sweet and funny person, stay that way. Have a killer summer, and don't dream on to many guys. Ho.I. To aa. -78a1
